Spatial Policy In A Divided Nation:

Spatial Policy in a Divided Nation Richard T. Harrison, Mark Hart, 2002-09 This re evaluation of the role of regional policy in the UK has been accompanied by a much closer identification of regional policy with national economic policymaking This book drawing upon the contributions of a large number of experts in the field in the UK sets the debate on the future of spatial policy explicitly within the context of the economics and politics of the North South divide Recent policy debates in the United Kingdom have highlighted two major issues which will shape future policy developments and their impact in the 1990s the persistence of pronounced regional economic and social imbalances and the shift away from traditional perceptions of the role of regional policy with a new emphasis on inner city as opposed to regional problems In this collection by leading researchers in the field the role of regional policy in the UK is re evaluated against a background of renewed debate on the economic disparities inherent in the north south divide and an assessment of the implications for future policy

The Coherence of EU Regional Policy John Bachtler, Ivan Turok, 2013-12-16 This book brings together a rich selection of up to date practical experience of EU regional policy from across Europe It provides different perspectives on the design and operation of regional development strategies under the Structural Funds from people closely involved in studying managing or advising on the process at EU national and regional levels It therefore offers a more comprehensive and detailed understanding of the structural policies than has been available hitherto This will prove particularly useful to researchers practitioners and students interested in European regional policies and processes

Institutions, Discourse, and Regional Development Henrik Halkier, 2006 Why are some regional development strategies adopted and others rejected Only limited systematic attention has been paid to the politics of regional policy including the role of institutions discourse and political debate in shaping this major area of public policy The book develops an institutionalist approach to the study of regional policy capable of spanning major European development paradigms and accounting for the dynamic relationship between organisations policies and political discourse This conceptual framework is then applied to the Scottish Development Agency a development body famed across Europe for its innovative policies but surrounded by political controversy in Scotland A detailed study of corporate strategies policy implementation and the wider British environment questions existing interpretations of the organisation which tend to vilify anti interventionist Thatcherites or glorify shrewd development professionals Instead the author proposes an alternative synthesis which highlights the interplay between institutions discourse and regional development in the politics of regional policy

Territorial Policy and Governance Iain Deas, Stephen Hincks, 2017-02-24 In response to both policy and conceptual debates alternative narratives have begun to emerge about territorial governance and policymaking As local and regional policy actors strive to respond to the geographically uneven effects of the economic crises of the early twenty first century a crucial question emerges what are the opportunities and challenges presented by alternative forms of territorially based governance and policy The aim of this edited volume therefore is critically to explore the opportunities and challenges presented by different forms of territorial policy and governance Drawing on conceptual debates and empirical research from the United Kingdom and other international contexts the contributors engage with issues around the politics and governance of territorial development economic development planning and regeneration and the environment Territorial Policy and Governance addresses the question of how alternative forms of territorial governance and policy can help to shape patterns of urban and regional development highlighting the related opportunities constraints and challenges that confront their operationalisation This book will be essential reading for international audiences with an interest in territorial development governance politics human geography and planning and regeneration

Regional Development in the 1990s Ron Martin, Peter Townroe, 2013-10-18 This book documents the changing nature and challenge of regional development in Britain and Ireland in the final decade of this century In the first half of this book region by region profiles review the experience of the eighties and reflect on the present climate assessing problems and opportunities The second half provides 25 commentaries on changes influencing the development of regions from questions of industry technology and employment to the impact of national policy and 1992 and the prospects and capacity for regional policy and development

Small Firm Formation and Regional Economic Development Mike Danson, 2002-09-26 Drawing on studies and expertise from around the world this book describes the transition from research to policy and covers the pre requisites to successful new firm formation policies At a time when a new firm formation is promoted by central and local government business development agencies and the private sector this book questions the economic dependence on small firms and explores the relevance of networking information and advice

Controversies in Local Economic Development Martin Perry, 2010-07-02 This book will discuss seven controversies in local economic development including knowledge and learning the provision of resources to nurture entrepreneurial talent innovation clusters of enterprise and inward investment

Place-making and Urban Development Pier Carlo Palermo, Davide Ponzini, 2014-12-05 The regeneration of critical urban areas through the redesign of public space with the intense involvement of local communities seems to be the central focus of place making according to some widespread practices in academic and professional circles Recently new expertise maintains that place making could be an innovative and potentially autonomous field competing with more traditional disciplines like urban planning urban design architecture and others This book affirms that the question of making better places for people should be understood in a broader sense as a symptom of the non contingent limitations of the urban and spatial disciplines It maintains that research should not be oriented only towards new technical or merely formal solutions but rather towards the profound rethinking of disciplinary paradigms In the fields of urban planning urban design and policy making the challenge of place making provides scholars and practitioners a great opportunity for a much needed critical review Only the substantial reappraisal of long standing technical cultural institutional and social premises and perspectives can truly improve place making practices

The pressing need for place making implies trespassing undue disciplinary boundaries and experimenting a place based approach that can innovate and integrate planning regulations strategic spatial visioning and urban development projects Moreover the place making challenge compels urban experts and policy makers to critically reflect upon the physical and social contexts of their interventions In this sense facing place making today is a way to renew the civic and social role of urban planning and urban design

Governance, Institutional Change and Regional Development

Mike Danson, Henrick Halkier, Greta Cameron, 2024-11-01 This title was first published in 2000 This volume addresses the prominent role given to institution building institutional change and governance in the regional development strategies and policies The establishment of the Scottish Parliament Welsh and Northern Ireland Assemblies and the arrival of regional development agencies in England highlighted the need to put the initiatives into some context drawing on experience from across Europe on the critical factors in the determination of the potential and success of regions Central to the discussions presented here by a group of European experts are the question of governance how does an ongoing process of institution building affect the ways in which regions and localities are governed including questions of democracy participation regional self determination public private partnerships networks and accountability and the consequences of new modes of governance and institutional change for regional development strategies and policies particularly in the context of large scale industrial restructuring and city region and urban regeneration

Community-based Entrepreneurship and Rural Development

Matthias Fink, Stephan Loidl, Richard Lang, 2012-08-21 How can municipalities in Central Europe create favourable conditions for local business What and how can municipalities learn from each other How can each individual in the local area contribute And what requirements have to be met before know how can successfully be transferred on a communal level To answer all these questions the authors of this book draw on results from a six year research programme and comprehensively discuss the manifold opportunities restrictions and prerequisites of establishing favourable conditions for small and medium enterprises in rural municipalities in Central Europe

The Value of Arts and Culture for Regional Development

Lisbeth Lindeborg, Lars Lindkvist, 2013-08-21 In this new volume 28 Scandinavian researchers and others who are active in arts and culture seek to answer the questions What has been the effect of regional and local investment in arts and culture And what positive and negative experiences have there been This book describes and analyzes the extent to which cultural investments at local and regional levels have stimulated development and led to essential processes of change for the community in general Of special interest is how different places manage to turn the tide What do their development processes involve Which ways and means do they use to go forward in order to change their paths and start anew These are just a few of the important questions addressed in this book One of the most important findings is that while you can never transfer the successful renewal of one place to another like a blueprint certain common patterns in the cultural processes are discernible The contributors to this book show the breadth of theoretical tools that can be used to increase awareness of the significance of culture for regional development Throughout the book readers will find a multitude of theoretical concepts from entrepreneurship theory organizational institutionalism and cultural economy to cultural planning and art management This book will appeal to scholars and practitioners of urban and regional studies and cultural and creative economics

The London Olympics and Urban Development Gavin Poynter, Valerie Viehoff, Yang Li, 2015-07-24 As London sought to use the Olympics to achieve an ambitious programme of urban renewal in the relatively socially deprived East London it attracted global attention and sparked debate This book provides an in depth study of the transformation of East London as a result of the 2012 Summer Olympic and Paralympic Games Government and event organisers use legacies of urban renewal to justify hosting the world's leading sports mega event this book examines and evaluates those legacies The London Olympics and Urban Development the mega event city is composed of new research conducted by academics and policy makers It combines case study analysis with conceptual insight into the role of a sports mega events in transforming the city It critically assesses the narrative of legacy as a framework for legitimizing urban changes and examines the use of this framework as a means of evaluating the outcomes achieved This book is about that process of renewal with a focus on the period following the 2012 Games and the diverse social political and cultural implications of London's use of the narrative of legacy

Globalizing Regional Development in East Asia Henry Wai-chung Yeung, 2013-09-13 Significant historical and geographical differences account for the many processes and trajectories of regional development in East Asia These historical and geographical specificities in East Asia have prompted serious re examination of existing theories in regional development and in particular the new regionalism approach associated with such ideas as the learning region institutional thickness relational assets and regional innovation system This book brings together a group of leading researchers specializing in local and regional development in East Asian economies Through in depth empirical studies of specific regions and localities these authors offer fresh and innovative perspectives on how regions evolve and develop over time in the world's most dynamic macro regional economy In particular their work points to the critical importance of local and trans local processes in shaping regional development trajectories The book is timely given that the debate on the nature and dynamics of regional development in both academic and policy circles has now moved on From the earlier focus on endogenous regional assets such as localized networks of association and trust scholars and policymakers are now analyzing the complex relationship between economic globalization and regional change This high calibre collection makes a significant contribution to the literature on local and regional development in Asia and provides an important resource for researchers students and policy makers interested in East Asia This book was published as a special issue of Regional Studies The UK Regional-National Economic Problem Philip McCann, 2016-03-10 In recent years the United Kingdom has become a more and more divided society with inequality between the regions as marked as it has ever been In a landmark analysis of the current state of Britain's regional development Philip McCann utilises current statistics examines historical trends and makes pertinent international comparisons to assess the state of the nation The UK Regional National Economic Problem brings attention to the highly centralised top down governance structure that the UK deploys and demonstrates that it is less than ideally placed to rectify these inequalities The North South divide in the UK has never been greater and the rising inequalities are evident in almost all aspects of the economy including productivity incomes employment status and wealth Whilst the traditional economic dominance of London and its hinterland has continued along with relative resilience in the South West of England and Scotland in contrast the Midlands the North of England Northern Ireland and Wales lag behind by most measures of prosperity This inequality is greatly limiting national economic performance and the fact that Britain has a below average standard of living by European and OECD terms has been ignored The UK's economic and governance inequality is unlikely to be fundamentally rebalanced by the current governance and connectivity trends although this definitive study suggests that some areas of improvement are possible if they are well implemented This pivotal analysis is essential reading for postgraduate students in economics and urban studies as well as researchers and policy makers in local and central government liberalism and the British state Levelling Up Left Behind Places Ron Martin, Ben Gardiner, Andy Pike, Peter Sunley, Peter Tyler, 2021-12-24 This book aims to understand the predicaments of left behind places and the scale of the policy challenge of levelling up their economic prosperity Drawing out lessons of wider international significance it examines how places cities towns and localities have grown apart over recent decades amidst deindustrialisation post industrial transition and the disruptive shocks of the global financial crisis and COVID 19 pandemic Using the UK case to illustrate its arguments the analysis identifies the different types of left behind places and their distinctive economic experiences The key features of urban and regional institutions and policies are reviewed to understand more about why despite some successes geographical inequalities remain an entrenched feature of the UK blighting the life chances and quality of life of its citizens and national economic progress as a whole The weaknesses of past policies are highlighted and the case is made for a new mission oriented policy model because only a radical shift in economic thinking governance and management is likely to achieve the levelling up that is now a prominent refrain in the political lexicon Innovation, Regional Development and the Life Sciences Kean Birch, 2016-10-14 The life sciences is an industrial sector that covers the development of biological products and the use of biological processes in the production of goods services and energy This sector is frequently presented as a major opportunity for policy makers to upgrade and renew regional economies leading to social and economic development through support for high tech innovation Innovation Regional Development and the Life Sciences analyses where innovation happens in the life sciences why it happens in those places and what this means for regional development policies and strategies Focusing on the UK and Europe its arguments are relevant to a variety of countries and regions pursuing high tech innovation and development policies The book s theoretical approach incorporates diverse geographies e g global national and regional and political economic forces e g discourses governance and finance in order to understand where innovation happens in the life sciences where and how value circulates in the life sciences and who captures the value produced in life sciences innovation This book will be of interest to researchers students and policy makers dealing with regional local economic development The Regional Imperative Urrall A.
