Frank E. Owens

Soldiers Such As We:

Soldiers Such as We Frank E. Owens, 2003-10-22 This book is a fictional account of the experiences of four diverse service men during the Vietnam War portrayed against a historically accurate background It describes how they cope with the challenges that arise for each of them at the peak of the war 1967 1968 The book emulates a class of books written on World War II such as John P Marquands So Little Time Nicholas Montsarrats The Cruel Sea Evelyn Waugh's Officers and Gentlemen and James Jones's trilogy Military Review ,1994 Army Appropriation Bill United States. Congress. House. Appropriations, 1921 Professional Journal of the United States Army ,1994 Congressional Record United States. Congress, 1997 The Philosophy of Plato Rupert C. Lodge, 2013-11-05 First Published in 2000 This is Volume VI of ten in the International Library of Philosophy in a series on Ancient Philosophy Written around 1956 this book looks at Plato and his works on the biological social physical and intellectual background as well as his ethics aesthetics and philosophy of religion and education in comparison to his predecessors How We Are Changed by War D.C. Gill, 2010-04-30 How We Are Changed by War examines the changes to Americans during wartime through the medium of their diaries and correspondence beginning with the colonial period of the early seventeenth century and ending with diaries and letters from Iraq War veterans The book clearly discusses and describes the universal themes of war such as reintegration to society and the horrors of war through private writings regardless of the narrator's historical era This allows the writers to speak to each other across time to reveal a profound commonality of cultural experience How We Are Changed by War is a fascinating look at the writings of individuals who served their military in different eras and a great example of how history is shaped by both memory and experience Jacket Expedition of Sir John Norris and Sir Francis Drake to Spain and Portugal, 1589 R.B. Wernham, 2020-11-26 Actions against the Spanish Armada and campaigns in the Netherlands left the Queen's coffers empty For this reason proposals to capture the Spanish treasure fleet were given royal support The treasure fleet homeward bound from the Americas would be intercepted in the Azores A diversion at Santander to damage the Spanish fleet would prevent protection of the treasure fleet and more importantly prevent further actions against England or Ireland However the project was diverted further with backers wanting to reinstate Don Antonio as King of Portugal with ideas of gaining lucrative Portuguese trade rights At sea a further diversion was taken with news of shipping at Corunna and the prospect of capturing merchantmen Profit was already challenging strategy This diversion gave their enemies more time to prepare The failure at Lisbon was partly from a lack of coordination between the navy and army but also from the lack of promised support from Don Antonio's supporters The decision to sail for the Azores to intercept the Spanish treasure fleet was at last made only for Drake to be driven back to England by a storm Short of supplies and with sick crews the ships were in no condition to continue with the Queen's demands so there was no great treasure and the Spanish fleet was still in being The sale of prizes and their contents failed to cover the cost of the expedition and so the expedition was considered a financial and strategic failure Soldier and Society in Roman Egypt Richard Alston, 2002-09-11 The province of Egypt provides unique archaeological and documentary evidence for the study of the Roman army In this fascinating social history Richard Alston examines the economic cultural social and legal aspects of a military career illuminating the life and role of the individual soldier in the army Soldier and Society in Roman Egypt provides a complete reassessment of the impact of the Roman army on local societies and convincingly challenges the orthodox picture The soldiers are seen not as an isolated elite living in fear of the local populations but as relatively well integrated into local communities The unsuspected scale of the army's involvement in these communities offers a new insight into both Roman rule in Egypt and Roman imperialism more generally The Armed Forces Covenant in action? Part 1: Military casualties Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Defence Committee, 2011-12-15 The Government must show how the excellent medical care being delivered to injured service personnel will continue long after the memory of the Afghan Operation fades This report which gives praise to the first class medical treatment provided for the Armed Forces questions whether the support for injured personnel will be sustainable over the long term In particular the committee is concerned about the number of people who may go on to develop severe and life limiting physical mental health alcohol or neurological problems There is still a question mark over whether the Government as a whole fully understands the likely future demands and related costs
