Lam-McArthur, Lise Fontaine, 2018-05-14 The Oxford Companion to the English Language provides an authoritative single volume source of information about the English language. It is intended both for reference and for browsing. The first edition of this landmark Companion published in 1998 adopted a strong international perspective covering topics from Cockney to Creole, Aboriginal English to Caribbean English, and a historical range from Chaucer to Chomsky, Latin to the World Wide Web. It succinctly described and discussed the English language at the end of the twentieth century, including its distribution and varieties, its cultural, political, and educational impact worldwide, its nature, origins, and prospects, and its pronunciation, grammar, vocabulary, word formation, and usage. This new edition notably focuses on World Englishes, English language teaching, English as an international language, and the effect of technological advances on the English language. More than 130 new entries include African American English, British Sign Language, China English, digital literacy, multimodality, social networking, superdiversity, and text messaging, among many others. It also includes new biographical entries on key individuals who have had an impact on the English language in recent decades, including Beryl Sue Atkins, Adam Kilgarriff, and John Sinclair. It is an invaluable reference for English Language students and fascinating reading for any general reader with an interest in language.

Routledge Revivals: Essays on Style and Language (1966) Roger Fowler, 2017-11-22 First published in 1966, this book is contributed to by authors who share an interest in the literary uses of language. The book gives a close analysis of the language of literature contributed to by critics and linguists examining linguistic theory and poetry, and as part of this, the rhythm and metre of English poetry is deconstructed. Language and its emotive structure is analysed, while the middle chapters of the book address the interaction of linguistic dimensions. Two medievalist scholars conclude the volume, giving a well-rounded examination to the broad and complex study of literary style in the English language. This book is suitable for students and scholars concerned with English literature and linguistics.

Maryam Borjian, 2017 Questions for Discussion Author Profile References Index Decolonizing Epistemologies and Worldviews in Education

Michael Kariwo, Chouaib El Bouhali, 2025-06-20 This edited volume examines the decolonization of worldviews and ways of knowing in education and educational policy. It critically challenges the Western interpretation of epistemology and ontology, providing a platform for contributors to demonstrate how concepts of decolonization, knowledge, and worldviews are understood, as well as the impact of these understandings in the creation of policies and practices in education and pedagogy. It also offers insight into related themes on student resilience, English language, the internationalization of western knowledge, indigenous paradigms, and curriculum transformation. Chapter authors present new understandings of decolonizing knowledge and diversity, analysis of non-Western and indigenous epistemologies and worldviews, and examples of implementation of equity in policy and education through case studies. Creating and initiating a platform for wider debate, it will ultimately appeal to scholars, researchers, policy makers, and educational leaders concerned.

The Critical Turn in Language and Intercultural Communication Pedagogy Maria Dasli, Adriana Raquel Díaz, 2016-09-13 This edited research volume explores the development of what can be described as the critical turn in intercultural communication pedagogy with a particular focus on modern foreign language education The main aim is to trace the realisations of this critical turn against a background of unequal power relations and to illuminate the role that radical culture educators can play in the making of a more democratic and egalitarian social order The volume takes as a starting point the idea that criticality draws on a number of intellectual traditions which do not always focus on social and political critique and argues that because ideological hegemony impacts on the meanings that people create and share intercultural communication pedagogy ought to locate itself within wider socio political contexts With reference points drawn from critical and transnational social theory critical pedagogy and intercultural theory contributors to this volume provide readers with powerful ways that show how this can be achieved and together assess the impact that their understanding of criticality can make on modern foreign language education The volume is divided into three major parts namely theorising critically researching critically and teaching critically

The Pound Biennial Anderson Araujo, Ron Bush, 2025-04-11 The Ezra Pound Studies Biennial claims a place as the flagship journal entirely devoted to Pound's work at a time when Pound studies represents one of the most active fields in modernist scholarship Elaborating on the life work and international reception of one of the prime movers of the modernist revolution in the arts and letters this inaugural volume joins an ever increasing number of studies examining Pound's letters prose poetry translations companions and international reception and taking the form among other things of critical essays and editions digital projects and monographs Building on this work the current volume features twelve high caliber contributions written by a diverse group of established and emerging Pound scholars Their subjects include the genesis of Pound's Pisan Cantos the poet's political and economic preoccupations his association with modernist women writers his fascination with typography and with the Italian Renaissance and his translations of Noh plays and French poetry

Saussure's Philosophy of Language as Phenomenology Beata Stawarska, 2015 This book draws on recent developments in research on Ferdinand de Saussure's general linguistics to challenge the structuralist doctrine associated with the posthumous Course in General Linguistics 1916 and to develop a new philosophical interpretation of Saussure's conception of language based solely on authentic source materials This project follows two new editorial paradigms 1 a critical re examination of the 1916 Course in light of the relevant sources and 2 a reclamation of the historically authentic materials from Saussure's Nachlass some of them recently discovered In Stawarska's book this editorial paradigm shift serves to expose the difficulties surrounding the official Saussurean doctrine with its sets of oppositional pairings the signifier and the signified la langue and la parole synchrony and diachrony The book therefore puts pressure not only on the validity of the posthumous editorial redaction of

Saussure's course in general linguistics in the Course but also on its structuralist and post structuralist legacy within the works of Levi Strauss Lacan and Derrida Its constructive contribution consists in reclaiming the writings from Saussure's Nachlass in the service of a linguistic phenomenology which intersects individual expression in the present with historically sedimented social conventions Stawarska develops such a conception of language by engaging Saussure's own reflections with relevant writings by Hegel Husserl Roman Jakobson and Merleau Ponty Finally she enriches her philosophical critique with a detailed historical account of the material and institutional processes that led to the ghostwriting and legitimizing the Course as official Saussurean doctrine

Speaking the Earth's Languages Stuart Cooke, 2013 Speaking the Earth's Languages brings together for the first time critical discussions of postcolonial poetics from Australia and Chile The book crosses multiple Languages landscapes and disciplines and draws on a wide range of both oral and written poetries in order to make strong claims about the importance of a nomad poetics not only for understanding Aboriginal or Mapuche writing practices but more widely for the problems confronting contemporary literature and politics in colonized landscapes The book begins by critiquing canonical examples of non indigenous postcolonial poetics Incisive readings of two icons of Australian and Chilean poetry Judith Wright 1915 2000 and Pablo Neruda 1904 1973 provide rich insights into non indigenous responses to colonization in the wake of modernity The second half of the book establishes compositional links between Aboriginal and Mapuche poetics and between such oral and written poetics more generally The book's final part develops an emerging synthesis of contemporary Aboriginal and Mapuche poetics with reference to the work of two of the most important avant garde Aboriginal and Mapuche poets of recent times Lionel Fogarty 1958 and Paulo Huirimilla 1973 Speaking the Earth's Languages uses these fascinating links between Aboriginal and Mapuche poetics as the basis of a deliberately nomadic open ended theory for an Australian Chilean postcolonial poetics The central argument of this book the author writes is that a nomadic poetics is essential for a genuinely postcolonial form of habitation or a habitation of colonized landscapes that doesn't continue to replicate colonialist ideologies involving indigenous dispossession and environmental exploitation
