Gorshkov, 2013-10-22 Admiral Gorshkov has transformed the Soviet fleet into a world sea power for the first time in Russian history He is Russia's most brilliant naval strategist of all time He has created the modern Soviet navy His book examines the main components of sea power among which attention is focused on the naval fleet of the present day capable of conducting operations and solving strategic tasks in different regions of the world's oceans together with other branches of the armed forces and independently Russian Sea Power David Fairhall, 1971 Seapower Geoffrey Till, 1994 This volume explains the evolution of maritime strategy through the twentieth century and concludes with some speculations about its future in the next century The forms and practices of navies and maritime strategy are analysed through the development of eight historical and contemporary topics drawn from the First and Second World Wars the Cold War and post Cold War period

Soviet Sea Power David Rees, 1977 2 sider 1 sblad Sea Power E.B. Bagley, 1977

Seapower and strategic and critical materials subcommittee United States. Congress. House. Committee on Armed Services, 1978 One Hundred Years of Sea Power George W. Baer, 1996-07-01 A navy is a state's main instrument of maritime force What it should do what doctrine it holds what ships it deploys and how it fights are determined by practical political and military choices in relation to national needs Choices are made according to the state's goals perceived threat maritime opportunity technological capabilities practical experience and not the least the way the sea service defines itself and its way of war This book is a history of the modern U S Navy It explains how the Navy in the century after 1890 was formed and reformed in the interaction of purpose experience and doctrine Seapower in the Nuclear Age Joel J. Sokolsky, 2021-01-26 This book first published in 1991 provides a major analysis of the prelude to the US's Cold War maritime strategy showing how NATO's maritime forces were organised in the period It examines how the United States Navy and allied navies particularly the Royal Navy were incorporated into the Alliance's nuclear and conventional deterrent forces It looks at the structure of the main naval commands the growth of Soviet maritime forces and the impact of the flexible response strategy on NATO's naval posture in the 1970s Drawing upon many declassified documents this account fills an important gap in postwar literature on American seapower and its relation to European security It also addresses important aspects of NATO strategy and organisation

Architects of Continental Seapower Jeremy Stocker, 2020-10-01 This book describes and analyses two iconic figures in twentieth century naval history the German Admiral Alfred von Tirpitz and the Russian Admiral Sergei Gorshkov It examines the men what they thought and wrote about seapower the fleets they created and the strategic consequences of what they did More broadly it draws on the respective histories of the post 1897 Imperial German Navy and the post 1956 Soviet Navy to examine the continental bid for large scale seapower The work argues that both individuals built navies that did not and could not fulfil the objectives for which they were created Drawing on the legacies of both men the book also develops some wider ideas about the creation of large navies by continental states with cautionary lessons for today s emerging powers India and China Both admirals have received book length biographies but this is the first attempt at a comparative study and the first to draw broader strategic lessons from their respective attempts as continental navalists to challenge maritime states This book will be of much interest to students of naval history strategic studies and International Relations
