Walt, 2013-08-10 The Origins of Alliances offers a different way of thinking about our security and thus about our diplomacy It ought to be read by anyone with a serious interest in understanding why our foreign policy is so often self defeating New Republic How are alliances made In this book Stephen M Walt makes a significant contribution to this topic surveying theories of the origins of international alliances and identifying the most important causes of security cooperation between states In addition he proposes a fundamental change in the present conceptions of alliance systems Contrary to traditional balance of power theories Walt shows that states form alliances not simply to balance power but in order to balance threats Walt begins by outlining five general hypotheses about the causes of alliances Drawing upon diplomatic history and a detailed study of alliance formation in the Middle East between 1955 and 1979 he demonstrates that states are more likely to join together against threats than they are to ally themselves with threatening powers Walt also examines the impact of ideology on alliance preferences and the role of foreign aid and transnational penetration His analysis show however that these motives for alignment are relatively less important In his conclusion he examines the implications of balance of threat for U S foreign policy Armor, 1982 The magazine of mobile warfare Studies in Communist Affairs United States. elements in the U S defense buildup their consequences have not been fully appreciated This book assesses the complex set of technological budgetary strategic diplomatic and political implications of this new weapon as a contribution to public understanding of its pervasive influence on diplomacy and military affairs Cruise missile technology and development programs are dealt with in chapters by John C Toomay Godron MacDonald Jack Ruina and Mark Balaschak Ron Huisken and John C Baker Military uses and arm control implications are discussed by Bruce Bennett and James Foster Roger H Palin Richard Burt Michael MccGwire George H Quester and William H Kinkade Diplomatic and national political questions are analyzed by Raymond L Garthoff Robert J Art and Stephen E Ockenden Gregory F Treverton Lawrence D Freedman and Catherine McArdle Kelleher      Quarterly Review of Military Literature ,1981      Hearings, Reports and Prints of the Senate Committee on the Budget United States.
