A New Europe, 1918-1923 Bartosz Dziewanowski-Stefańczyk, Jay Winter, 2022-03-03 This set of essays introduces readers to new historical research on the creation of the new order in East Central Europe in the period immediately following 1918 The book offers insights into the political diplomatic military economic and cultural conditions out of which the New Europe was born Experts from various countries take into account three perspectives They give equal attention to both the Western and Eastern fronts they recognise that on 11 November 1918 the War ended only on the Western front and violence continued in multiple forms over the next five years and they show how state building after 1918 in Central and Eastern Europe was marked by a mixture of innovation and instability Thus the volume focuses on three kinds of narratives those related to conflicts and violence those related to the recasting of civil life in new structures and institutions and those related to remembrance and representations of these years in the public sphere Taking a step towards writing a fully European history of the Great War and its aftermath the volume offers an original approach to this decisive period in 20th century European history The Routledge History Handbook of Central and Eastern Europe in the Twentieth Century Włodzimierz Borodziej, Sabina Ferhadbegović, Joachim von Puttkamer, 2020-04-21 Statehood examines the extending lines of development of nation state systems in Eastern Europe in particular considering why certain tendencies in state development found a different expression in this region compared to other parts of the continent This volume discusses the differences between the social developments political decisions and historical experience that have influenced processes of state building with a focus on the structural problems of the region and the different paths taken to overcome them The book addresses processes of building social orders and examines the contribution of state institutions to social and cultural integration and disintegration It analyses institutional and personnel continuities that have outlasted the great political changes of the twentieth century and addresses the expansion of state activity in shaping property relations in agriculture and industry as well as in social security and family politics Taking a comparative approach based on experiential history allowing individual experience to be detached from specific national references the volume delineates a transnational comparison of problems shared within the region as they have been passed down through history providing definition to the specificity of Eastern Europe and situating the historical experience of the region within a pan European context The second in a four volume set on Central and Eastern Europe in the twentieth century it is the go to resource for those interested in statehood and state building in this complex region Prostitution in Twentieth-Century Europe Sonja Dolinsek, Siobhán Hearne, 2023-05-08

This book places prostitution at the very centre of European history in the twentieth century With its wide geographical focus from Italy to the USSR via Sweden Germany occupied Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia as well as the international stage of the United Nations this book encourages comparative perspectives which have the potential to question deconstruct and re adjust distinctions between western eastern northern and southern European historical experiences This book moves beyond exploring state regulated prostitution which was the dominant approach to managing commercial sex across Europe in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries State regulation combined police surveillance the registration of women selling sex or suspected of doing so and compulsory medical examinations for registered women as well as various restrictions on personal movement and freedom The nine chapters shift focus onto the decades after the abolition of state regulated prostitution well into the second half of the twentieth century to examine the ruptures and continuities in state administrative and policing practices following the end of widespread legal toleration The varied chronology extends the parameters of existing historiography and explores how states grappled to understand or impose control over the commercial sex industry following the far reaching social economic and political upheaval of the Second World War The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of European Review of History Yugoslavia and Macedonia Before Tito Nada

Boskovska, 2017-04-27 Held together by apparatchiks and later Tito's charisma Yugoslavia never really incorporated separate Balkan nationalisms into the Pan Slavic ideal Macedonia frequently ignored by Belgrade had survived centuries of Turkish domination Bulgarian invasion and Serbian assimilation before it became part of the Yugoslav project in the aftermath of the First World War Drawing on an extensive analysis of archival material private correspondence and newspaper articles Nada Boskovska provides an arresting account of the Macedonian experience of the interwar years charting the growth of political consciousness and the often violent state driven attempts to curb autonomy Sketching the complex picture of nationalism within a multi ethnic but unitarist state through a comprehensive analysis of policy economy and education Yugoslavia and Macedonia before Tito is the first book to describe the uneasy and often turbulent relationship between a Serbian dominated government and an increasingly politically aware Macedonian people Concerned with the question of integration and political manipulation Boskovska gives credence to voices critical of Royal Yugoslavia and offers a fresh insight into domestic policy and the Macedonian question going beyond traditional high politics Broadening the spectrum of discussion and protest she reveals the voices of a people protesting constitutional and electoral fraud the neglect of local needs and state machinations designed to create a satellite province Making Yugoslavs Christian Axboe Nielsen, 2014-11-05 When

Yugoslavia was created in 1918 the new state was a patchwork of Serbs Croats Slovenes and other ethnic groups It still was in January 1929 when King Aleksandar suspended the Yugoslav constitution and began an ambitious program to impose a new Yugoslav national identity on his subjects By the time Aleksandar was killed by an assassin's bullet five years later he not only had failed to create a unified Yugoslav nation but his dictatorship had also contributed to an increase in interethnic tensions In Making Yugoslavs Christian Axboe Nielsen uses extensive archival research to explain the failure of the dictatorship s program of forced nationalization Focusing on how ordinary Yugoslavs responded to Aleksandar s nationalization project the book illuminates an often ignored era of Yugoslav history whose lessons remain relevant not just for the study of Balkan history but for many multiethnic societies today Ethnic Groups of Europe Jeffrey E.

Aldcroft,2016-04-29 Economic historians have perennially addressed the intriguing question of comparative development asking why some countries develop much faster and further than others Focusing primarily on Europe between 1914 and 1939 this present volume explores the development of thirteen countries that could be said to be categorised as economically backward during this period Albania Bulgaria Estonia Greece Hungary Latvia Lithuania Poland Portugal Romania Spain Turkey and Yugoslavia These countries are linked not only in being geographically on Europe s periphery but all shared high agrarian components and income levels much lower than those enjoyed in western European countries The study shows that by 1918 many of these countries had structural characteristics which either relegated them to a low level of development or reflected their economic backwardness characteristics that were not helped by the hostile economic climate of the interwar period It explores region by region how their progress was checked by war and depression and how the effects of political and social factors could also be a major impediment to sustained progress and modernisation For example in many cases political corruption and instability deficient administrations ethnic and religious diversity agrarian structures and backwardness population pressures as well as international friction were retarding factors In all this study offers a fascinating insight into many areas of Europe that are often ignored by economists and historians It demonstrates that these countries were by no means a lost cause and that their post war performances show the latent economic potential that most harboured By providing an insight into the development of Europe s periphery a much more rounded and complete picture of the continent as a whole is achieved Therapeutic Fascism Ana Antić, 2017 During World War Two death and violence permeated all aspects of the everyday lives of ordinary people in Eastern Europe Throughout the region the realities of mass murder and incarceration meant that people learnt to live with daily public hangings of civilian hostages and stumbled on corpses of their neighbors Entire populations were drawn into fierce and uncompromising political and ideological conflicts and many ended up being more than mere victims or observers they themselves became perpetrators or facilitators of violence often to protect their own lives but also to gain various benefits Yugoslavia in particular saw a gradual culmination of a complex and brutal civil war which ultimately killed more civilians than those killed by the foreign occupying armies Therapeutic Fascism tells a story of the tremendous impact of such pervasive and multi layered political violence and looks at ordinary citizens attempts to negotiate these extraordinary wartime political pressures It examines Yugoslav psychiatric documents as unique windows into this harrowing history and provides an original perspective on the effects of wartime violence and occupation through the history of psychiatry mental illness and personal experience Using previously unexplored resources such as patients case files state and institutional archives and the professional medical literature of the time this volume explores the socio cultural history of wartime through the eyes of mainly lower class psychiatric patients Ana Antić examines how the experiences of observing suffering and committing political violence affected the understanding of human psychology pathology and normality in wartime and post war Balkans and Europe Non-Aligned Psychiatry in the Cold War Ana Antić, 2022-01-18 This book explores the relationship between socialist psychiatry and political ideology during the Cold War tracing Yugoslav psy sciences as they experienced multiple internationalisations and globalisations in the post WWII period These unique transnational connections with West East and South remain at the centre of this book The author argues that the psy disciplines provide a window onto the complications of Cold War internationalism offering an opportunity to re think postwar Europe s internal dynamics She tells an alternative pan European narrative of the post 1945 period demonstrating that in the Cold War there existed sites of collaboration and vigorous exchange between the two ideologically opposed camps and places like Yugoslavia provided a meeting point where ideas frameworks and professional and cultural networks from both sides of the Iron Curtain could overlap and transform each other Moreover the book offers the first analysis of East European psychiatrists contacts with and contributions to the decolonizing world exploring their participation in broader political discussions about decolonization anti imperialism and non alignment The Yugoslav brand of East West psychoanalysis and psychotherapy bred a truly unique intellectual framework which enabled psychiatrists to think through a set of political and ideological dilemmas regarding the relationship between individuals and social structures This book offers a thorough reinterpretation of the notion of communist psychiatry as a tool used solely for political oppression and instead emphasises the political interventions of East European psychiatry and psychoanalysis This monograph has partly been funded by the European Research Council ERC under the European Union s Horizon 2020 research and

Transregional Connections in the History of East-Central Europe Katja Castryck-Naumann, 2021-10-25 Transregional connections play a fundamental role in the history of East Central Europe This volume explores this connectivity by showing how people from eastern and central parts of Europe have positioned themselves within global processes while in turn also shaping them The contributions examine different fields of action such as economy arts international regulations and law development aid and migration focusing on the period between the middle of the nineteenth century and the end of the Cold War The authors uncover spaces of interaction and emphasize that internal and external entanglements have established East Central Europe as a distinct region Understanding the connectedness of this subregion is stimulating for the historiography of East Central Europe as it is for the field of global history
