bringing to the fore the elements of agency which women exercise in their everyday lives in spite of their oppressive situations. The unconventional women of this book become possible role models for women who are voiceless, helpless and victimized to grow in assertion and affirmation of their bodies and identities. This book will facilitate women to deconstruct the age-old oppressive perceptions and construct their identity as women in relation to their bodies and to take hold of their bodies amidst dehumanization. The book will also facilitate a critical look at the present understanding of body in Christian theology and provide future directions for the reformulation of the Theology of Body and Sexuality. Memories of a Rolling Stone Vina Mazumdar, 2014-01-13. This endearing, witty, self-deprecating memoir documents the life of one of the leading feminists of the contemporary Indian women's movement. Vina Mazumdar, one of the key researchers and writers of the landmark report of the Committee on the Status of Women in India Towards Equality, here documents her early life, her gradual politicisation in a household of liberal-educated Bengalis and her involvement in women's issues and the women's movement. Brought up to be outspoken and frank, Vinadi as she is affectionately known, began by becoming involved in university-level politics in Calcutta. Marriage and a young family did not prevent her from pursuing her studies and her career in the teeth of considerable opposition from relatives but with constant support from her mother. On her return to India from Oxford, Vinadi first moved into the field of education and then with her involvement in the research and writing of Towards Equality was catapulted into the women's movement. An activist and institution builder, Vinadi set up the Centre for Women's Development Studies in Delhi, one of the leading research and outreach institutions for women in the country. In this rare memoir, Vinadi provides a rich history of the contemporary women's movement in India. Published by Zubaan. Rural Women and Development in India U. Kalpagam, Jaya Arunachalam, 2008. Transformations in rural India have ushered in water and fodder scarcity that have increased the drudgery of rural women's lives. Additionally, rural women face greater livelihood insecurity on account of market forces and liberalization policies. Food insecurity is a concern as well. Women of the poorest classes of marginalized Dalit and tribal communities bear much of the brunt of these insecurities even as they also face severe restrictions on mobility and myriad forms of violence. Due to greater participation of civil society organizations engaged in gender-transformative approaches and participatory development, some favorable outcomes have developed but these are hardly sufficient to address the scale and dimensions of the problem. It is against this backdrop that Rural Women and Development in India examines the concerns of livelihood and food insecurity, efficacy of micro credit and other kinds of interventions that challenge rural Indian women's lives. Hindi, 2002. Annual Report Centre for Women's Development Studies (New Delhi, India), 2002. Saris on Scooters Sheila McLeod Arnopoulos, 2010-04-12. Short-listed for the 2010 National Business Book Award. Renowned author and journalist Sheila McLeod Arnopoulos uses her talent for investigative reporting to take us deep into the poorest villages in India. Yet far from being passive victims of their circumstances, the women who live there have joined forces and are making astute use of microcredit to break the cycle of poverty. Microcredit

was made famous by Bangladeshi economist Muhammad Yunus and consists of very small loans made primarily to women for the production of essential commodities or to start small businesses Basing the book on a number of trips to India between 2001 and 2008 Arnopoulos shows her sense of solidarity and desire for authenticity by sharing the daily life of these villagers The first person account of her extensive travels focuses primarily on these women s inspiring success stories After witnessing many such situations first hand she believes that these villages have a potential strength equal to that of the modern high tech cities in India Gender Friendly Environment in the Workplace ,2005 Case study with reference to two places in Nepal Bir tnagar and Kathmandu Valley Asian Journal of Women's Studies ,2006 Annual Report Indian Council of Social Science Research,2000 Women Workers International Labour Office,1995 Produced from the LABORDOC database lists 953 English language publications technical reports working papers and other documents produced at ILO headquarters or in ILO field offices or prepared in connection with ILO programmes Women in Self Help Groups and Panchayti Raj Institutions Joy Deshmukh-Ranadive,2005 With reference to India
