International Space Law and the United Nations is a comprehensive collection of writings by the author on this latest branch of international law The book covers a number of subjects highlighted by discussions of the United Nations Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space and its Legal Subcommittee The book also takes into account the influences that international organizations have had on the development of space law and includes several perspectives of developing countries on this subject This publication is an outstanding educational and reference tool as the author tackles this complex subject in an organized and rational manner The author a key participant at the United Nations in the development of international law relating to activities in space traces the history of that development giving clear insight into the workings of the Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space and establishes space law as a distinct legal discipline Subsequent chapters are devoted to the various issues that have given rise to the growth of this discipline including arms control economic and social development specific provisions contained in the outer space treaties and how they relate to practical matters such as dispute resolution private sector growth and commercialization in space activities international cooperative programmes particularly those developed under the auspices of the United Nations and recent developments and future issues facing the space faring community The book is an excellent source for further research in the field of space law It is a must for students and practitioners and those interested in international organizations

Reaching for the High Frontier Michael Michaud,1986-12-03 Reaching for the High Frontier tells the story of the pro space movement from the end of the moon landing program to the beginning of the space station program It describes the origins constituencies and goals of the various groups in the movement and reviews their tactics successes and the opportunities they may have missed

Space Enterprise Phillip Harris,2009-12-29 In Space Enterprise Living and Working Offworld Dr Philip Harris provides the vision and rationale as to why humanity is leaving its cradle Earth to use space resources as well as pursuing lunar industrialization and establishing offworld settlements As a management space psychologist Dr Harris presents a behavioral science perspective on space exploration and enterprise In this his 45th book Phil has completely revised and updated the two previous editions of this classic placing new emphasis on the need for more synergy and participation by the private sector He not only provides a critical review of what is happening in the global space community but offers specific strategies for lunar economic development The author analyzes the human factors in contemporary and future space developments especially relative to the deployment of people aloft This user friendly volume offers numerous photographs diagrams exhibits and case studies

The Commercial Development of Space David Jerry Norton,1987 Property Rights in Outer Space Matthew Johnson,2024-05-28 This book explores the role of private mining rights in the utopian imaginary of space colonisation It presents a transdisciplinary account of the new and evolving legislative frameworks that have been established in anticipation of commercial exploitation of the mineral resources of the off world frontier Written in an engaging style the book investigates a novel case study in the history of capitalism and the commons the emergence of a nascent space mining industry undergirded by a contentious legislative framework In 2015 the US passed laws that would recognise the claims of US corporations to own and sell space resources This unilateral act of pre emptive law making would appear to contravene the terms of the UN Outer Space Treaty 1967 which declared that the exploration and use of outer space should be for the benefit of all mankind and not subject to national appropriation Using this central dynamic between privately held mining rights and outer space as a global commons Matthew Johnson constructs an historical sociology of space mining from the deep historical roots of common and private property to the contemporary networks of neoliberalism that have engaged with the commercialisation of space activity The anticipatory expansion of private property claims beyond the Earth both resonates with and problematises the terrain of political history such as the tensions between states and markets public law and private power the commons and exclusive property The emerging cosmopolitics of off world private property mirrors and is often explicitly embedded within neoliberal geopolitics prompting urgent questions about how we can reaffirm principles of democracy and common heritage in the international laws of Earth and space This book is compelling reading for anyone interested in the social study of space law economics technology politics and property rights Living and Working in Space Philip Robert Harris,1996-09-11 This second edition discusses scientific accomplishments and behavioural space science research concerning near term exploration settlement and industrialization of the space environment The ten chapters on the human and cultural dimensions for creating a spacefaring civilization consider particular issues such as the deployment and performance of spacefarers management of large scale space enterprises and discuss the key industrial and technical challenges This edition has been thoroughly updated and revised and new chapters have been included on Macrothinking in Global Space Planning and Strategies for Lunar Industrialization and Port Planning
