Wilson, 2013-05-01 The expansion of the British Empire during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries created the greatest mass migration in human history in which the Irish and Scots played a central complex and controversial role The essays in this volume explore the diverse encounters Irish and Scottish migrants had with Indigenous peoples in North America and Australasia The Irish and Scots were among the most active and enthusiastic participants in what one contributor describes as the greatest single period of land theft cultural pillage and casual genocide in world history At the same time some settlers attempted to understand Indigenous society rather than destroy it while others incorporated a romanticized view of Natives into a radical critique of European society and others still empathized with Natives as fellow victims of imperialism These essays investigate the extent to which the condition of being Irish and Scottish affected settlers attitudes to Indigenous peoples and examine the political social religious cultural and economic dimensions of their interactions Presenting a variety of viewpoints the editors reach the provocative conclusion that the Scottish and Irish origins of settlers were less important in determining attitudes and behaviour than were the specific circumstances in which those settlers found themselves at different times and places in North America Australia and New Zealand Contributors include Donald Harman Akenson Queen's John Eastlake College Cork Marjory Harper Aberdeen Andrew Hinson Toronto Michele Holmgren Mount Royal Kevin Hutchings Northern British Columbia Anne Lederman Royal Conservatory of Music Patricia A McCormack Alberta Mark G McGowan Toronto Ann McGrath Australian National Cian T McMahon Nevada Graeme Morton Guelph Michael Newton Xavier P draig Siadhail Saint Mary s Brad Patterson Victoria University of Wellington Beverly Soloway Lakehead and David A Wilson Toronto Health and Wellness in the Renaissance and Enlightenment Joseph P. Bulb crops Root crops Tuber crops legume vegetables leafy salad vegetables Okra etc There is tremendous diversity within each group of vegetable crops This genetic diversity is from the point of view of landraces and varieties of vegetable crops species used for food processing nutraceuticals pharmaceuticals etc Vegetables being an integral part of human diet being rich source of diverse nutrients such as vitamins minerals and antioxidants they play an important role in balancing the diet and tackling malnutrition Besides due to their intensive cultivation they also play an important role in enhancing per unit area production and productivity cropping intensity enhancing thereby the farmers income especially that of small and marginal farmers and providing job opportunities. The genetic improvement of vegetable crops facilitate continued breeding of varieties with greater resilience to stresses and productivity is mainly dependent on overall genetic variation found in individuals belonging to the cultivated species and or ancestral species related to cultivated species of vegetable crops Since genes of interest can be tapped from plant sources for their introduction through controlled breeding processes for genetic improvement and incorporating of desirable external and internal quality traits therefore accessibility to the information about these plant genetic resources is key to the success of the breeding efforts Since there is a need of comprehensive information about the genetic resources therefore it is important to facilitate their conservation and long term sustainable use in research and improvement The comprehensive information on the availability of genetic diversity in each vegetable crop species in this volume would facilitate priority conservation in gene banks research and use in vegetable crop improvement Realizing the importance of genetic variability in the improvement of vegetable crops from the point of view of biotic and abiotic stress resistance enhanced micronutrient climate change enhanced shelf life nutraceuticals bioactive compounds especially national and international efforts further need to be stepped up for collection characterization evaluation and conservation of vegetable crops genetic resources to facilitate search for new genes research and their use in vegetable crops improvement During 21st century genomics and marker assisted tools have gained importance for hastening the crop improvement programmes by enhancing breeding efficiency Realizing that population in South Asia and Southeast Asia is facing acute problem of under and malnutrition the emphasis on dietary diversification with vegetables is therefore being stressed Besides to enhance farmers income much emphasis is being laid on development of varieties having diverse maturity growth habit resistance to diseases and insect pest to reduce the use pesticides enhanced nutrients and shelf life For these traits we have to look into landraces and wild relatives for the traits of interest Therefore it has been felt to bring out a vegetable volume with additional accessory and supplemental information analyses and specifically filtered information which can go a long way in promoting research search for new genes alleles revealing the opportunities available for exploitation of PGR in generation of cultivars to meet upcoming challenges of vegetable crop improvement and diversification and requirement of cultivars for processing nutraceutical and pharmaceutical industry which will promote contract farming This will also help identification of geographical and genetic diversity gaps for future search of new genes collections Plant Genetic Resouces PGR serve as treasures of genes of interest for developing improved future vegetable varieties hybrids besides being key to scientific efforts of developing gene pyramided varieties they are important for mitigating various challenges posed by increasing population climate change and health conscious society looking for nutraceuticals The proposed vegetable volume on agro biodiversity conservation and use of plant genetic resources with information on available genetic diversity among various groups of vegetable crops and component cultivated species with in a group of food and agriculture in all possible perspectives would be able to reflect the opportunity available for genetic engineering of vegetable crop species It will also go a long way in facilitating more predictive and productive genetic engineering programme to breed futuristic vegetable crops varieties hybrids Edible Memory Jennifer A.
