The seventeen chapters explore different framings of emotional life in terms of sentiments and affects and consider how emotions intersect with literary registers and movements such as melodrama and realism. They also examine how writers including some formerly enslaved people sought to activate the feelings of readers notably in the context of abolitionism. In addition to obvious psychological responses to slavery such as fear sorrow and anger they explore minor key affects such as shame, disgust and nostalgia and address the complexity of depicting love and intimacy in situations of domination.
