Wild Basketry Ruby Taylor, 2025-05-08 A makers guide to sourcing and harvesting foraged plants to make natural cordage and baskets Making with our hands is a fundamental human activity connection with the natural world and the feeling of belonging to place are basic human needs A counterbalance to our digitalised lives is the wish to connect with the simple joy and satisfaction of creating beautiful and useful objects tapping into ancestral skills and wisdom and taking care of our world by reducing our ecological impact Wild Basketry brings all this together in a rich combination of reflection and practical guide Beautiful photographs take you through a seasonal year of seven basketry and cordage projects suitable for beginners as well as for those wishing to expand their basketmaking skills Ruby Taylor guides you through each step following a range of techniques with suggestions for further exploration to give you a thorough grounding in the fundamentals of the craft Guidance on the principles of harvesting and processing plant fibres and contextual information about the evolution of basketry are covered throughout the book along with spotlights on several inspiring international artists

Technology as Human Social Tradition Peter Jordan, 2014-11-06 This book examines three interlocking topics that are central to all archaeological and anthropological inquiry the role of technology in human existence the reproduction of social traditions the factors that generate cultural diversity and change The overall aim is to outline a new kind of approach for researching variability and transformation in human material culture and the main argument is that these technological traditions exhibit heritable continuity they consist of information stored in human brains and then passed onto others through social learning Technological traditions can therefore be understood as manifestations of a complex transmission system and applying this new perspective to human material culture builds on but also largely transcends much of the earlier work conducted by archaeologists and anthropologists into the significance function and social meanings
