The Map of Enough Molly Caro May, 2014-03-18 Molly Caro May grew up as part of a nomadic family one proud of their international sensibilities a tribe that never settled in one place for very long Growing up moving from foreign country to foreign country just like her father and grandfather she became attached to her identity as a global woman from nowhere But on the verge of turning thirty years old everything changed Molly and her fiancé Chris suddenly move to 107 acres in Montana land her family owns but rarely visits with the idea of staying for only a year Surrounded by tall grass deep woods and the presence of predators the young couple starts the challenging and often messy process of building a traditional Mongolian yurt from scratch They finally finish just on the cusp of winter in a below zero degree snowstorm For Molly it is her first real home yet a nomadic one this one concession meant to be disassembled and moved at will Yurt life gives her rare exposure to nature to the elements to the wildlife all around them It also feels contrary to the modern world and this triggers in Molly an exploration of what home means to the emergent generation In today's age has globalization and technology taught us that something better the next best thing is always out there How does any young adult establish roots and how do we decide what kind of life we want to lead How much ever is enough
