deconstruction The existential grotesque confirms the protomodernist character of classic American fiction Meindl traces its course through a number of well known texts by Melville James Gilman Anderson Faulkner and O Connor among others To convey life conceived as motion these writers had to capture that is immobilize it in their art an essentially distortive and therefore grotesque device Melville's Bartleby dealing with a mort vivant is the seminal text in this mode of indirectness As opposed to the existential grotesque which grants access to a preverbal realm the linguistic grotesque of postmodern fiction works on the assumption that all reality is referable to language in a textual universe American Fiction and the Metaphysics of the Grotesque will significantly alter our understanding of certain traditions in American literature

Hollywood and Anti-Semitism Steven Alan Carr, 2001 This book examines the role of American Jews in the entertainment industry from the turn of the century to the outbreak of World War II Eastern European Jewish immigrants are often credited with building a film industry during the first decade of the twentieth century that they dominated by the 1920s In this study Steven Carr reconceptualizes Jewish involvement in Hollywood by examining prevalent attitudes towards Jews among American audiences Analogous to the Jewish Question of the nineteenth century which was concerned with the full participation of Jews within public life the Hollywood Question of the 1920s 30s and 40s addressed the Jewish population within mass media This study reveals the powerful set of assumptions concerning ethnicity and media influence as related to the role of the Jew in the motion picture industry

The Comedy of Entropy Patrick O'Neill, 1990-12-15 Entropic comedy is the phrase coined by Patrick O'Neill in this study to identify a particular mode of twentieth century narrative that is not generally recognized He describes it as the narrative expression of forms of decentred humour or what might more loosely be called black humour O'Neill begins his investigation by examining the rise of an essentially new form of humour over the last three hundred years or so in the context of a rapid decay of confidence in traditional authoritative value systems O'Neill analyses the resulting reorganization of the spectrum of humour and examines the implications of this for the ways in which we read texts and the world we live in He then turns from intellectual history to narratology and considers the relationship in theoretical terms of humour play and narrative as systems of discourse and the role of the reader as a textualizing agent Finally he considers some dozen twentieth century narratives in French German and English with occasional reference to other literatures in the context of those historical and theoretical concerns Authors of the texts analysed include Celine Camus Sartre and Robbe Grillet in French Heller Beckett Pynchon Nabokov and Joyce in English Grass Kafka and Handke in German The analyses proceed along lines suggested by structuralist semiotic and post structuralist narrative and literary theory From his analyses of these works O'Neill concludes they illustrate in narrative terms a mode of modern writing definable as entropic comedy and he develops a taxonomy of the mode

Mapping Reality Geoff King, 1996-04-12 An original and wide ranging study of the mappings used to impose meaning on the world Mapping Reality argues that maps create rather than merely represent the ground on which they rest Distinctions between map and territory questioned by some theorists of the postmodern have always been arbitrary From the history of cartography to the mappings of culture sexuality and nation Geoff King draws on an extensive range of materials including mappings imposed in the colonial settlement of America the Cold War Vietnam and the events since the collapse of the Soviet bloc He argues for a deconstruction of the opposition between map and territory to allow dominant mappings to be challenged their contours redrawn and new grids imposed Camera-cut-composition Aaron Sultanik,1995 According to author Aaron Sultanik the viewer s response to a film derives from three visually ascertained dramatically realized cognitive elements 1 the multiple points of view of a camera s placement angle and mobility 2 the dynamic spatiotemporal assemblage of a film s editing 3 and the final meaning of a film through the story s pictorial stylization
