The Constitution Of The Human Being:

Man Primeval, Or, The Constitution and Primitive Condition of the Human Being John Harris, 1849 The Constitution in the Courts Michael J. Perry, 1996 This work covering the constitution of the courts in the US should be suitable for legal and political science scholars especially those interested in constitutional adjudication The Constitution of the Human Being Max Scheler, 2008 Max Scheler 1874-1928 was one of the major philosophers of the 20th Century He was one of the three original phenomenologists along with Husserl and Heidegger who set the scene for phenomenological existential and life philosophy which dominated Continental European philosophy in that era Of those three he is the least well known partly because he died relatively young partly because he was half Jewish and foretold the National Socialist regime in Germany and therefore his books were banned for fifteen years and partly because his writings were ahead of his time This translation taken from his posthumous writings carefully conserved by his widow is of inestimable significance It brings together most of what he wrote on metaphysics and human anthropology the two topics which he was preoccupied with at the time of his death and which he had promised would be full length books Anyone with any interest in the nature of the human being and anyone with a sense that the current dispute between scientists and theologians is missing the point should pounce on this book as providing a feast of inspiration An Essay on Human Being and Existence Karl Verstrynge, 2022-04-04 Anyone who ponders on existence touches upon the whole of life But how to ponder on that which has befallen us even before we have uttered a first word And how do we get a grip on that which must elude us in spite of all our protest or regret The trilogy What Obligates Us raises the question about the ethical foundation of the human condition This first part discusses the exceptional nature of human beings In their broken relationship to themselves and their surroundings humans learn of an indebtedness From this simple truth they cannot hide without alienating themselves from their own being Ownership of the Human Body H.A. Ten Have, J.W. Welie, 2013-11-11 This is the first book in healthcare ethics addressing the moral issues regarding ownership of the human body Modern medicine increasingly transforms the body and makes use of body parts for diagnostic therapeutic and preventive purposes The book analyzes the concept of body ownership It also reviews the ownership issues arising in clinical care for example donation policies autopsy and biomedical research Societies and legal systems also have to deal with issues of body ownership A comparison is made between specific legal arrangements in The Netherlands and France as examples of legal approaches In the final section of the book different theoretical perspectives on the human body are analyzed libertarian personalist deontological and utilitarian theories of body ownership Animals and the Constitution John Olusegun Adenitire, Raffael Fasel, 2025-03-23 Constitutionalism the idea that constitutions should limit and direct government power has emerged as the global standard for the exercise of public authority Its appeal lies in the simple idea that constitutions should secure governance in the interests of the governed Yet its popularity has obscured a significant problem constitutions are centred on the interests of rational human beings neglecting those who lack such capacities most notably non human animals Animals and the Constitution breaks new ground by challenging the human centredness of current constitutional theory and practices It pioneers a more capacious account of constitutionalism sentience based constitutionalism which is grounded in respect for the interests of all governed sentient beings The book demonstrates how this account can be implemented in modern constitutions by rethinking four key principles of constitutionalism fundamental rights proportionality rule of law and democracy To illustrate how these principles can be reimagined to protect the interests of both humans and animals the book draws on and examines numerous real world examples ranging from judicial recognitions of wild animal rights in Ecuador to direct democratic votes on primate rights in Switzerland to entire proposed bills of rights for animals in Finland A unique combination of constitutional theory animal ethics and comparative constitutional law this book offers a practical blueprint for constitutions to address the moral and legal status of sentient beings

A Society Fit for Human Beings Elie Maynard Adams,1997-10-31 Argues for a humanistic cultural reformation to counter our materialistic values and science dominated intellectual life and shows how this would affect our lives and transform our society A Society Fit for Human Beings contends that there is a profound incoherence in the foundations of modern Western civilization and that we are on a self destructive course With the quest for wealth and power our dominant concern we find ourselves with a flourishing economy and a supreme military force based on science and technology but with our moral civic and religious culture undermined by our way of comprehending the world Our human identity is problematic the wells of meaning that nourish the human spirit are polluted or drying up and the social order is in disarray This situation E M Adams argues requires nothing less than a historic cultural revolution based on a shift in priorities from wealth and power to humanistic values those grounded in selfhood and lived experience that are essential for human growth meaningful lives and a healthy society Such a shift in our governing values would require a restructuring of our intellectual vision of humankind and the world in terms of humanistic categories This book shows the import of such a humanistic cultural revolution for our human identity morality the social order and our major institutions including the family and community education the economy the government the military and religion It outlines how we can work toward such a cultural revolution and develop a constructive postmodern civilization with a society fit for human beings

Government - A System And Human Beings Osho Prashant,2020-08-11 The main theme of writing this article was to show the condition living status of human beings under the influence functioning of the Government made by them How a Government made by the citizens exploited crushed and willfully cheated in an organized way by professionals hired by the elected Government but in a sophisticated way They confuse public for remaining in power for longer time For this attractive slogans are made by the hired expert persons who bring dilemma to the fellow human beings to the citizens Every human being is human be a citizen a member of any part of organization of the government Member of Parliament executive or judiciary Any job big or small is manned by human beings Every human being suffers for longingness Infinite desires anger greed infatuation undue attachment jealousy violence fighting tendency We are not sensitively open to it We are not conscious of it So we don't think to save ourselves from these six enemies of human beings Be a father brother highly educated uneducated CEO of companies or highly placed in the governments a human being is individual Human beings are rational They think consult discuss and try to make one opinion welfare oriented in all dimensions only for the human beings Let us think over this and start inner journey It seems some basic thing has gone wrong We have to see to it Pause a little relax and think over it Problem is very vast complicating and deep rooted Solution is very simple Give a trial to it Only individual can solve it Not a political party or a system formed out of the present day disturbed confused tense unclear imprudent and weak human beings Simplicity lies in its doing not in thinking or discussing or in ideological conjecture Seeing and realizing the Government or a system and all human beings we can conclude That something is abnormal or something what has to happen is not happening But first of all you should fall in love with yourself and the surrounding beautiful worthy world creatures animals plants and human beings Thus we need to look inside research inside explore inside Human beings live with little Awareness We need to grow ever growing Awareness and then live with this stable established awareness There are many techniques to grow awareness and get it established stabilized inside you Then you can live with your stable Awareness
