Parenting Sayyed Ali Samadi, 2022-05-04 Parenting is a lifelong task and parents are always remaining as a parent Parenting in the present situation faces many challenges which need to be reviewed and understood with profuse equanimity and alacrity This book tries to consider the process of parenting in different conditions such as during COVID 19 lockdown in the refugee camps and in different cultural structures and economic conditions Situations that families face due to changing conditions such as global changes which cause lifestyles immigration patterns social conflicts and raising children with developmental disabilities have been discussed Topics such as professional concern with child care and education gender roles and caregiving and father s involvement in parenting have been covered in different chapters of the book Parental Influence on Child Social and Emotional Functioning Xiaoqin Zhu, Diya Dou, Thanos Karatzias, Tan Tang, 2024-03-20 Social and emotional functioning interpersonal interactions social adjustment emotional well being and mental health among children and adolescents has drawn growing attention from academics practitioners parents educators and policymakers Worldwide it is agreed that social and emotional development is a result of individual context interactions Particularly socialization perspectives regard parenting as the primary factor that shapes child and adolescent development to a large extent. Meanwhile the ecological perspective highlights the bi directional nature of interactions between children and parents by which they affect each other. Parenting can be parents active socialization actions that influence their children's development i.e. parent effect; it can also be parents reactions to their children's social and emotional functioning i.e. child effect.

Innovative Approaches to Supporting Families of Young Children Cheri J. Shapiro, Charlyn Harper Browne, 2016-08-02 This invaluable reference introduces successful strengths based programs for aiding families of young children in critical social contexts: family, school, community and policy. The wide range of systems contextual approaches described here are based in current understanding of children's development, stress and resilience in families, cultural competence and the two generational approach to intervention. Research based examples across early care and early learning platforms illustrate the links between parental protective factors and children's academic and social outcomes and between family stability and larger social goals. By supporting parents and children equally the contributors assert these interventions more fully address developmental and family issues than programs that mainly serve one generation or the other. Included in the coverage: Parent and community focused approaches to supporting parents of young children; the Family Networks Project; honoring parenting values, expectations and approaches across cultures; Building young children's executive functions at home and in early care and education settings; Promoting early childhood development in the pediatric medical home; Neighborhood approaches to supporting families of young children; Public policy strategies to promote the well being of families with young children.

Innovative Approaches for Supporting Parents of Young Children benefits professionals and practitioners working to support families of young children particularly those interested in social work, psychology, public policy and public health.
