

SCHOONER AMISTAD.

MESSAGE

FROM

THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

TRANSMITTED

Sundry letters between the Department of State and the Chevalier d'Argaiz, on the subject of the schooner "Amistad."

FEBRUARY 28, 1842.

Referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

To the House of Representatives:

I transmit to Congress sundry letters which have passed between the Department of State and the Chevalier d'Argaiz, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of Spain near the Government of the United States, on the subject of the schooner "Amistad," since the last communication of papers connected with that case. This correspondence will show the general grounds on which the Spanish minister expresses dissatisfaction with the decision of the Supreme Court in that case, and the answers which have been made to his complaints by the Department of State.

In laying these papers before Congress, I think it proper to observe that the allowance of salvage, on the cargo, does not appear to have been a subject of discussion in the Supreme Court. Salvage had been denied in the court below, and from that part of the decree no appeal had been claimed.

The 9th article of the treaty between the United States and Spain provides that "all ships and merchandise, of what nature soever, which shall be rescued out of the hands of any pirates or robbers on the high seas, shall be brought into some port of either State, and shall be delivered to the custody of the officers of that port, in order to be taken care of, and restored entire to the true proprietor, as soon as due and sufficient proof shall be made concerning the property thereof." The case of the "Amistad," as was decided by the court, was not a case of piracy, and therefore not within the terms of the treaty. Yet it was a case, in which the authority of the master, officers, and crew, of the vessel, had been divested by force, and in that condition the vessel, having been found on
