The Anglo Saxon Cemeteries Of Caistor By Norwich And Markshall Norfolk:

The Anglo-Saxon Cemeteries of Caistor-by-Norwich and Markshall, Norfolk John Nowell Linton Myres, Barbara Green, 1973 Report on the largely cremation cemetery excavated in the 1930s full illustration of pots and other items Discussion of pottery by Myres and interesting comments on other objects by Barbara Green Early Anglo-Saxon cemeteries Duncan Sayer, 2020-12-03 This electronic version has been made available under a Creative Commons BY open access license This book is available as an open access ebook under a CC BY licence Early Anglo Saxon cemeteries are known for their grave goods but this abundance obscures their interest as the creations of pluralistic multi generational communities This book explores over one hundred early Anglo Saxon and Merovingian cemeteries using a multi dimensional methodology to move beyond artefacts It offers an alternative way to explore the horizontal organisation of cemeteries from a holistically focused perspective The physical communication of digging a grave and laying out a body was used to negotiate the arrangement of a cemetery and to construct family and community stories This approach foregrounds community because people used and reused cemetery spaces to emphasise different characteristics of the deceased based on their own attitudes lifeways and live experiences This book will appeal to scholars of Anglo Saxon studies and will be of value to archaeologists interested in mortuary spaces communities and social archaeology The Archaeology of the East Anglian Conversion Richard Hoggett, 2010 The huge changes in the landscape as a result of the Christian conversion of East Anglia are examined in this multi disciplinary study The conversion to Christianity of the Anglo Saxon kingdom of East Anglia left huge marks on the area both metaphorical and literal Drawing on both the surviving documentary sources and on the eastern region s rich archaeological record this book presents the first multi disciplinary synthesis of the process It begins with an analysis of the historical framework followed by an examination of the archaeological evidence for the establishment of missionary stations within the region s ruinous Roman forts and earthwork enclosures It argues that the effectiveness of the Christian mission is clearly visible in the region s burial record which exhibits a number of significant changes including the cessation of cremation The conversion can also be seen in the dramatic upheavals which occurred in the East Anglian landscape including changes in the relationship between settlements and cemeteries and the foundation of a number of different types of Christian cemetery Ultimately it shows that far from being the preserve of kings the East Anglian conversion was widespread at a grassroots level changing the nature of the Anglo Saxon landscape forever Dr RICHARD HOGGETT is currently Coastal Heritage Officer with Norfolk County Council A Life in Norfolk's Archaeology: 1950-2016 Peter Wade-Martins, 2017-11-03 A personal history of Peter Wade Martins archaeological endeavour in Norfolk set within a national context It covers the writer s early experiences as a volunteer the rise of field archaeology as a profession and efforts to conserve archaeological heritage The Roman Cemetery at Lankhills Giles Clarke, 2021-12-16 This book considers the cemetery uncovered outside the north gate of Venta Belgarum Roman Winchester and analyses in detail both

Poet of the Medieval Modern Francesca Brooks, 2021 The early Middle Ages provided twentieth century poets with the material to re imagine and rework local religious and national identities in their writing Poet of the Medieval Modern focuses on a key figure within this tradition the Anglo Welsh poet and artist David Jones 1895 1974 representing the first extended study of the influence of early medieval English culture and history on Jones and his novel length late modernist poem The Anathemata 1952 Jones s second major poetic project after In Parenthesis 1937 The Anathemata fuses Jones s visual and verbal arts to write a Catholic history of Britain as told through the history of man as artist Drawing on unpublished archival material including manuscripts sketches correspondence and most significantly the marginalia from David Jones s Library this volume reads with Jones in order to trouble the distinction between poetry and scholarship Placing this underappreciated figure firmly at the centre of new developments in Modernist and Medieval Studies Poet of the Medieval Modern brings the two fields into dialogue and argues that Jones uses the textual and material culture of the early Middle Ages including Old English prose and poetry Anglo Latin hagiography early medieval stone sculpture manuscripts and historiography to re envision British Catholic identity in the twentieth century long poem Jones returned to the English record to seek out those moments where the histories of the Welsh had been elided or erased At a time when the Middle Ages are increasingly weaponised in far right and nationalist political discourse the book offers a timely discussion of how the early medieval past has been resourced to both shore up and challenge English hegemonies across modern British culture

An Archaeology of the Early Anglo-Saxon Kingdoms C. J. Arnold, 2005-08-18 An Archaeology of the Early Anglo Saxon Kingdoms is a volume which offers an unparalleled view of the archaeological remains of the period Using the development of the kingdoms as a framework this study closely examines the wealth of material evidence and analyzes its significance to our understanding of the society that created it From our understanding of the migrations of the Germanic peoples into the British Isles the subsequent patterns of settlement land use trade through to social hierarchy and cultural identity within the kingdoms this fully revised edition illuminates one of the most obscure and misunderstood periods in European history Ethnic Identity and the Archaeology of the aduentus Saxonum James M. Harland, 2025-10-01 For centuries archaeologists have excavated the soils of Britain to uncover finds from the early medieval past. These finds have been used to reconstruct the alleged communities' migration patterns and expressions of identity of coherent groups who can be regarded as ethnic Anglo Saxons. Even in the modern day when social constructionism has been largely accepted by scholars, this paradigm still persists. This book challenges the ethnic paradigm. As the first historiographical study of approaches to ethnic identity in modern Anglo Saxon archaeology, it reveals these approaches to be incompatible with current scholarly understandings of ethnicity. Drawing upon post structuralist approaches to self and community, it highlights the empirical difficulties the archaeology of ethnicity in early medieval Britain faces and proposes steps toward an alternative understanding of the role played by the communities of lowland Britain both migrants from across the North Sea and those already present in transforming the Roman world.

Wordsmiths and Warriors David Crystal, 2013-09-26 Wordsmiths and Warriors explores the heritage of English through the places in Britain that shaped it. It unites the warriors whose invasions transformed the language with the poets, scholars, reformers, and others who helped create its character. The book relates a real journey. David and Hilary Crystal drove thousands of miles to produce this fascinating combination of English language history and travelogue from locations in south east Kent to the Scottish lowlands and from south west Wales to the East Anglian coast. David provides the descriptions and linguistic associations. Hilary the full colour photographs. They include a guide for anyone wanting to follow in their footsteps but arrange the book to reflect the chronology of the language. This starts with the Anglo Saxon arrivals in Kent and in the places that show the earliest evidence of English. It ends in London with the latest apps for grammar. In between are intimate encounters with the places associated with such writers as Chaucer, Shakespeare, and Wordsworth, the biblical Wycliffe and Tyndale, the dictionary compilers Cawdrey, Johnson, and Murray, dialect writers, elocutionists, and grammarians, and a host of other personalities. Among the book's many joys are the diverse places that allow warriors such as Byrhtnoth and King Alfred to share pages with wordsmiths like Robert Burns and Tim Bobbin, and the unexpected discoveries that enliven every stage of the authors' epic journey.

The Lost Beliefs of Northern Europe Dr Hilda Ellis Davidson, Hilda Ellis Davidson, 2002-11 The author illustrates how pagan beliefs have been represented and misinterpreted by the Christian tradition and throws light on the nature of pre-Christian beliefs and how they have been preserved.
