Louis H. Sullivan and a 19th-Century Poetics of Naturalized Architecture Lauren S. Weingarden, 2017-07-05 For most of the twentieth century modernist viewers dismissed the architectural ornament of Louis H Sullivan 1856-1924 and the majority of his theoretical writings as emotional outbursts of an outmoded romanticism In this study Lauren Weingarden reveals Sullivan's eloquent articulation of nineteenth century romantic practices literary linguistic aesthetic spiritual and nationalistic and thus rescues Sullivan and his legacy from the narrow role imposed on him as a pioneer of twentieth century modernism Using three interpretive models discourse theory poststructural semiotic analysis and a pragmatic concept of sign functions she restores the integrity of Sullivan's artistic choices and his historical position as a culminating figure within nineteenth century romanticism By giving equal weight to Louis Sullivan's writings and designs Weingarden shows how he translated both Ruskin's tenets of Gothic naturalism and Whitman's poetry of the American landscape into elemental structural forms and organic ornamentation Viewed as a site where various romantic discourses converged Sullivan's oeuvre demands a cross disciplinary exploration of each discursive practice and its rules of accumulation exclusion reactivation The overarching theme of this study is the interrogation and restitution of those Foucauldian rules that enabled Sullivan to articulate architecture as a pictorial mode of landscape art which he considered co equal with the spiritual and didactic functions of landscape poetry Chicago's Dream, a World's Treasure Neil Harris, Art Institute of Chicago, 1993

Albert Sperath, Margaret R. Vendryes, Steven H. Jones, Eva King, 2000 Art in Chicago Maggie Taft, Robert Cozzolino, 2018-10-10

For decades now the story of art in America has been dominated by New York. It gets the majority of attention: the stories of its schools and movements and masterpieces, the stuff of pop culture legend. Chicago, on the other hand, well, people here just get on with the work of making art. Now that art is getting its due, Art in Chicago is a magisterial account of the long history of Chicago art, from the rupture of the Great Fire in 1871 to the present. Manierre Dawson, Lszl Moholy Nagy, and Ivan Albright to Chris Ware, Anne Wilson, and Theaster Gates. The first single volume history of art and artists in Chicago, the book, in recognition of the complexity of the story it tells, doesn't follow a single continuous trajectory. Rather, it presents an overlapping sequence of interrelated narratives that together tell a full and nuanced yet wholly accessible history of visual art in the city. From the temptingly blank canvas left by the Fire, we loop back to the 1830s and on up through the 1860s, tracing the beginnings of the city's institutional and professional art world and community. From there, we travel in chronological order through the decades to the present. Familiar developments, such as the founding of the Art Institute, the Armory Show, and the arrival of the Bauhaus, are given a fresh look, while less well-known aspects of the story, like the contributions of African American artists dating back to the 1860s or the long history of activist art, finally get suitable recognition. The six chapters, each written by an expert in the period, brilliantly mix narrative and image, weaving in oral histories from artists and critics reflecting on their work in the city and setting new movements and key works in historical context. The final chapter, comprised of interviews and conversations with contemporary artists, brings the story up to the present, offering a look at the vibrant art being created in the city now and addressing ongoing debates about what it means to identify as or resist identifying as a Chicago artist today. The result is an unprecedentedly inclusive and rich tapestry, one that reveals Chicago art in all its variety and vigor and one that will surprise and enlighten even the most dedicated fan of the city's artistic heritage. Part of the Terra Foundation for American Art's year-long Art Design Chicago initiative, which will bring major arts events to venues throughout Chicago in 2018, Art in Chicago is a landmark publication, a book that will be the standard account of Chicago art for decades to come. No art fan, regardless of their city, will want to miss it.

Designing for Empathy Elif M. Gokcigdem, 2019-05-24

As museums are currently shaping their tools for fostering empathy as an intentional outcome of museum experiences, the idea of empathy building is reshaping them as socially relevant institutions that increasingly value diversity, accessibility, and equality. This is a non-linear, multi-layered and multi-dimensional transformation that requires multidisciplinary, cross-industry and cross-sector alliances for its sustainability. The potential of this collective transformation effort includes the invention of unconventional, evidence-based and sustainable solutions that can be scaled up beyond the walls of traditional museums to all kinds of informal learning platforms to help eliminate the empathy deficit in our world. Designing for Empathy expands our understanding of empathy and its potential for fostering compassionate worldviews and actions through a multidisciplinary exploration in three parts: The Object of Our

Empathy explores how we define and perceive the Other The Alchemy of Empathy introduces thirteen design elements of empathy that might lead to transformative learning experiences and The Scope and the Spectrum of Empathy highlights the importance of positioning empathy as a cross industrial shared value for the benefit of people and the planet Designing for Empathy will inspire and empower those who are interested in intentionally designing for empathy to cultivate compassionate worldviews and actions that celebrate and preserve the oneness of all people the environment and our planet
