Forgetting the Art World Pamela M. Lee, 2012-10-12 The work of art

s mattering and materialization in a globalized world with close readings of works by Takahashi Murakami Andreas Gursky Thomas Hirschhorn and others It may be time to forget the art world or at least to recognize that a certain historical notion of the art world is in eclipse Today the art world spins on its axis so quickly that its maps can no longer be read its borders blur In Forgetting the Art World Pamela Lee connects the current state of this world to globalization and its attendant controversies Contemporary art has responded to globalization with images of movement and migration borders and multitudes but Lee looks beyond iconography to view globalization as a world process Rather than think about the global art world as a socioeconomic phenomenon or in terms of the imagery it stages and sponsors Lee considers the work of art s world as a medium through which globalization takes place She argues that the work of art is itself both object and agent of globalization Lee explores the ways that art actualizes iterates or enables the processes of globalization offering close readings of works by artists who have come to prominence in the last two decades She examines the just in time managerial ethos of Takahashi Murakami the production of ethereal spaces in Andreas Gursky s images of contemporary markets and manufacture the logic of immanent cause dramatized in Thomas Hirschhorn s mixed media displays and the pseudo collectivism in the contemporary practice of the Atlas Group the Raqs Media Collective and others To speak of the work of art s world Lee says is to point to both the work of art s mattering and its materialization to understand the activity performed by the object as utterly continuous with the world it at once inhabits and creates

The Art of the Project Johnnie Gratton, Michael Sheringham, 2005-10-01 The idea of the project crosses generic disciplinary and cultural frontiers At a time when writers and artists are increasingly describing their practices as projects remarkably little critical attention has been paid to the actual idea of the project This collection of essays responds to an urgent need by suggesting a framework for evaluating the notion of the project in the light of various modernist and postmodernist cultural practices drawn mainly but not exclusively from the French speaking domain The overview offered by this volume promises to make an original and thought provoking contribution to contemporary literary artistic and cultural criticism

The Art of Love Roy Gibson, Steven Green, Alison Sharrock, 2007-01-04 The Art of Love celebrates the bi millennium of Ovid s cycle of sophisticated and subversive didactic poems on love traditionally assumed to have been brought to completion around AD 2 Ars Amatoria The Art of Love and Remedia Amoris Cures for Love which purport to teach young Roman men and women how to be good lovers were partly responsible for the poet s exile from Rome under the emperor Augustus None the less they exerted great influence over ancient and later love poetry This is the first collection in English devoted to the poems and brings together many of the leading figures in the field of Latin literature and Ovidian studies from the British Isles Germany Italy and the United States It offers a range of perspectives on the poetics politics and erotics of the poems beginning with a critical survey of recent research and concluding with papers on the ancient medieval and modern reception of the poems

The Art of Reading and Speaking James Fleming, 1904 Bible Review , 1915 The Cambrian , 1905 Reforming Memory

Robert Vosloo,2017-10-02 Although we should acknowledge the fragility of memory we should nevertheless affirm the remarkable ability of memory to reform and transform our identity Our memories and ways of remembering are however often marked by trauma and violence Memory therefore not merely reforms it too is in need of reformation redemption and transformation With this emphasis in mind Reforming Memory grapples with the question what a responsible engagement with the past entails also for Christians and churches associated with the Reformed tradition The history of Reformed churches in South Africa is one can argue a deeply divided and ambivalent one The same figures are heroes to some and villains to others historic events are deeply ambiguous and conflicting views surround different discourses Yet the histories and perhaps futures of these churches and traditions are inextricably interwoven Reforming Memory fundamentally combines an interest in the notion of memory with an interest in South African Reformed theology and history Central is the question how should we remember and represent the past responsibly The essays collected in this book engage in different ways with this question attending in the process to some episodes in the history of the Dutch Reformed Church some influential Reformed theologians and some important Reformed practices and confessional documents
