Heaven in Ordinary David Jasper, 2018-11-29 Heaven in Ordinary is like a love affair with poetry that engages with religious questions for good or ill concerned with five poets who are haunted by God Poets in times of great faith and times of doubt have expressed for us their sense of both the presence and the absence of God in language that is sometimes almost sacramental in its weight of beauty love fear anger or despair The poets considered here all relate in some way to the traditions of Anglicanism through the centuries reflecting both a common humanity and a wide breadth of human experience as it struggles with God Heaven in Ordinary is deliberately autobiographical in approach as it is grounded in David Jasper's own lifetime experience of reading poetry since his school years and over four decades as a priest The poets he so beautifully discusses have related both positively and negatively to the Christian faith and the Anglican tradition Some are deeply religious others are haunted by God and the divine mystery Reading Spiritualities Dawn Llewellyn, 2016-04-01 The phenomenon of sacred text has undergone radical deconstruction in recent times reflecting how religion has broken out of its traditional definitions and practices and how current literary theories have influenced texts inside the religious domain and beyond Reading Spiritualities presents both commentary and vivid examples of this evolution engaging with a variety of reading practices that work with traditional texts and those that extend the notion of text itself The contributors draw on a range of textual sites such as an interview Caribbean literature drama and jazz women's writings emerging church blogs Neopagan websites the reading practices of Buddhist nuns empirical studies on the reading experiences of Gujarati Christian and post Christian women Chicana short stories the mosque cinema modern art and literature These examples open up understandings of where and how sacred texts are emerging and being reassessed within contemporary religious and spiritual contexts and make room for readings where the spiritual resides not only in the textual but in other unexpected places Reading Spiritualities includes contributions from Graham Holderness Ursula King Michael N Jagessar David Jasper Anthony G Reddie Michelle Roberts and Heather Walton to reflect and encourage the interdisciplinary study of sacred text in the broad arena of the arts and social sciences It offers a unique and well focused snapshot of the textual constructions and representations of the sacred within the contemporary religious climate accessible to the general reader as well as more specialist interests of students and researchers working in the crossover fields of religious theological cultural and literary studies Middle English Marian Lyrics Karen Saupe, 1999-01-01 Through its contextualizing introduction notes and

The Secularization of Early Modern England C. John Sommerville, 1992-04-09 This study overcomes the ambiguity and daunting scale of the subject of secularization by using the insights of anthropology and sociology and by examining an earlier period than usually considered Concentrating not only on a decline of religious belief which is the last aspect of secularization this study shows that a transformation of England's cultural grammar had to precede that loosening of belief and that this was largely accomplished between 1500 and 1700 Only when definitions of space and time changed and language and technology were transformed as well as art and play could a secular world view be sustained As aspects of daily life became divorced from religious values and controls religious culture was supplanted by religious faith a reasoned rather than an unquestioned belief in the supernatural Sommerville shows that this process was more political and theological than economic or social
