Woodrow McCree, 2021-06-24 Washington Irving's Critique of American Culture Sketching a Vision of World Citizenship challenges long standing views of Washington Irving He has been portrayed as writing in the 18th century style of Addison and Goldsmith without having much substance of his own Irving has also been accused of being insufficiently American and adrift in an identity crisis The author argues that Irving addressed the American cultural context very extensively he was a writer of substance who articulated an ethic of world citizenship that was found in the philosophy of ancient Greek cynics and stoics This ethic was united with a love of picturesque travel which emphasized variety and texture in experience resulting in an extraordinary affirmation of the value of cultural diversity in the new Republic Irving was in fact a liminal figure straddling Romantic and neoclassical modes of writing and acting The author draws attention to Irving's success as a writer in the pictorial mode Irving also expressed a critique of cultural loss and environmental destruction like that articulated by the artist Thomas Cole The work embraces an interdisciplinary approach where insights from philosophy religion art history and social history shed light on an underestimated writer Yellowstone and the Great West Marlene Deahl Merrill, 2003-09-01 Here for the first time in paperback is a fascinating daily record of Ferdinand Hayden's historic 1871 scientific expedition through Utah, Idaho, and Montana Territories to the Yellowstone Basin. The expedition's findings quickly led Congress to establish Yellowstone as the world's first national park. In addition to its scientific discoveries, the expedition is famous for producing the earliest on-site images of Yellowstone by its photographer William Henry Jackson and its guest artist Thomas Moran. Marlene Deahl Merrill has woven together a compelling daily narrative from the field writings of three expedition members: unpublished journals kept by mineralogist Albert Peale and geologist George Allen; periodic reports by Peale to his hometown newspaper; and letters from Hayden to his friend and mentor Spencer Baird at the Smithsonian Institution. Enriching this narrative are Jackson's photographs of camp scenes and landscapes; rare panoramic drawings by the party's topographical artist Henry Elliott; maps; an introduction; and extensive annotations.

Looking Close and Seeing Far: Samuel Seymour, Titian Ramsay Peale, and the Art of the Long Expedition, 1818-1823, The Peale Family M.H. de Young Memorial Museum, 1997 Citizen Spectator Wendy Bellion, 2012-12-01 In this richly illustrated study, the first book-length exploration of illusionistic art in the early United States, Wendy Bellion investigates Americans' experiences with material forms of visual deception and argues that encounters with illusory art shaped their understanding of knowledge, representation, and subjectivity between 1790 and 1825. Focusing on the work of the well-known Peale family and their Philadelphia Museum, as well as other Philadelphians, Bellion explores the range of illusions encountered in public spaces, from trompe l'oeil paintings and drawings at art exhibitions to ephemeral displays of phantasmagoria. Invisible Ladies and other spectacles of deception. Bellion reconstructs the elite and vernacular sites where such art and objects appeared and argues that early national exhibitions doubled as spaces of citizen formation. Within a post-Revolutionary culture troubled by the social and political consequences of deception, keen perception signified able citizenship. Setting illusions into dialogue with Enlightenment cultures of science, print politics, and the senses, Citizen Spectator demonstrates that pictorial and optical illusions functioned to cultivate but also to confound discernment. Bellion reveals the equivocal nature of illusion during the early republic, mapping its changing forms and functions and uncovers surprising links between early American art culture and citizenship.

web we shall describe sections of the holomorphic line bundles  $\mathcal{O}(k)$  on  $\mathbb{P}^n$  and show that the canonical bundle  $\mathcal{K}$  of the projective space  $\mathbb{P}^n$  is isomorphic to the line bundle  $\mathcal{O}(-n-1)$  it will turn out that everything can be expressed in polynomials which turns complex geometry for  $\mathbb{P}^n$  into complex algebraic geometry
