quantitative qualitative and mixed methods for experimental lab studies and ethnographic field work The Collected Works of D.W. Winnicott Donald Woods Winnicott, 2016-12-31 Donald Woods Winnicott 1896 1971 was one of Britain's leading psychoanalysts and pediatricians. The author of some of the most enduring theories of the child and of child analysis, he coined terms such as the good enough mother and the transitional object, known to most as the security blanket. Winnicott's work is still used today by child and family therapists, social workers, teachers, and psychologists, and his papers and clinical observations are routinely studied by trainees in psychiatry and clinical psychology. Beyond the expected audiences of psychoanalysts and psychoanalytic psychotherapists, Winnicott also wrote for parents, teachers, social workers, childcare specialists, pediatricians, psychologists, art and play therapists, and others in the field of child development. Now for the first time, virtually all of Winnicott's writings are presented chronologically in 12 volumes, edited and annotated by leading Winnicott scholars. The Collected Works of D.W. Winnicott brings together letters, clinical case reports, child consultations, psychoanalytic articles, and papers, including previously unpublished works on topics of continuing interest to contemporary readers, such as delinquency, antisocial behavior, corporal punishment, and child care. The Collected Works begins with an authoritative General Introduction by editors Lesley Caldwell and Helen Taylor Robinson, while each of the volumes features an original introduction examining that volume's major themes and written by an international Winnicott scholar and psychoanalyst. Throughout The Collected Works, editorial annotations provide historical context and background information of scholarly and clinical value. The final volume contains new and illuminating appendices, comprehensive bibliographies of Winnicott's publications and letters, documentation of his lectures and broadcasts, and a selection of his drawings. This extraordinary publication will be an essential resource for Winnicott admirers, the world over, and those interested in the history and origins of the fields of child development and psychoanalysis. , Psychology and History Cristian Tileagă, Jovan Byford, 2014-02-20 As disciplines, psychology and history share a primary concern with the human condition. Yet historically, the relationship between the two fields has been uneasy, marked by a long-standing climate of mutual suspicion. This book engages with the history of this relationship and possibilities for its future intellectual and empirical development. Bringing together internationally renowned psychologists and historians, it explores the ways in which the two disciplines could benefit from a closer dialogue. Thirteen chapters span a broad range of topics, including social memory, prejudice, stereotyping, affect, and emotion, cognition, personality, gender, and the self. Contributors draw on examples from different cultural contexts, from eighteenth-century Britain to apartheid South Africa to conflict-torn Yugoslavia, to offer fresh impetus to interdisciplinary scholarship. Generating new ideas, research questions, and problems, this book encourages researchers to engage in genuine dialogue and place their own explorations in new intellectual contexts. The Revolutionary Ascetic Bruce Mazlish, 2017-07-05 Why have the great revolutionary leaders of modern times from Robespierre to Lenin and Mao Tse-tung so often been ascetics, austere puritans with few emotional ties? What functions, political as well as personal, do these ascetic traits perform for the modern revolutionary leader and for his followers? Noted historian and author Bruce Mazlish is convinced that beginning in the nineteenth century the needs of modernizing revolutions have produced a distinct new type of political leader: the revolutionary ascetic. This individual's denial of personal pleasures and commitments both enables him to perform politically necessary if personally repulsive revolutionary acts and to command the allegiance of his more worldly followers. Starting with Cromwell and the religious ascetics of the Puritan Revolution, Mazlish shows in a series of fascinating personality sketches how this asceticism first became secularized with the French Revolution and then in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries was put to the service of a new kind of total modernizing revolution in Russia, China, and elsewhere. In two remarkably vivid portraits of Lenin and Mao Tse-tung, Mazlish shows us precisely how two of the century's best-known revolutionaries consciously and unconsciously used their personal asceticism to induce revolutionary change.

Constitutionalism in Asia Wen-Chen Chang, Li-ann Thio, Kevin YL Tan, Jiunn-rong Yeh, 2014-02-19 This book of text cases and materials from Asia is designed for scholars and students of constitutional law and comparative constitutional law. The book is divided into 11 chapters arranged thematically around key ideas and controversies, enabling the reader to work through the major facets of constitutionalism in the region. The book begins with a lengthy introduction that critically examines the study of constitutional orders in Asia, highlighting the histories, colonial influences, and cultural particularities extant in the region. This chapter serves both as a provisional orientation towards the major constitutional developments seen in Asia, both unique and shared with other regions, and as a guide to the controversies encountered in the study of constitutional law in Asia. Each of the following chapters is framed by an introductory essay setting out the issues and succinctly highlighting critical perspectives and themes. The approach is one of challenge and response, whereby questions of constitutional importance are posed and the reader is then led by engaging with primary and secondary materials through the way the various Asian states respond to these questions and challenges. Chapter segments are accompanied by notes, comments, and questions to facilitate critical and comparative analysis, as well as recommendations for further reading. The book presents a representative range of Asian materials from jurisdictions including Bangladesh, China, Hong Kong, India, Japan, Mongolia, Nepal, Pakistan, South Korea, Sri Lanka, Taiwan, Timor-Leste, and the 10 ASEAN states.

Introducing Anthropological Economics Sujay Rao Mandavilli, This paper attempts to merge the concepts and theoretical frameworks of the disciplines of Anthropology and Economics and attempts to create a new sub field in Economics called Anthropological Economics which is mired in Anthropological concepts and principles and seeks to maximize not only human welfare and happiness but also wealth maximization across cultures while considering both the psychic unity of man universal human needs and culture specific factors Thus Anthropological Economics is expected to be inter related to other disciplines of Economics but remain complementary to them i e it is not expected that it will intrude into other sub fields of economics replace them or override their principles in any way It will therefore draw upon other aspects of economic theory and enrich them suitably It is therefore expected that all aspects of Economic theory will be taken into consideration for policy formulation and decision making including those of Anthropological economics and independent context specific judgment will always be applied The new proposed field of Anthropological Economics proposes to take the idea of Human Welfare to its logical conclusion by extending the work already carried out in various sub disciplines of economics and integrating it more tightly with various concepts in Anthropology Many new tools and techniques are therefore proposed as a part of this paper and we believe these will suitably enrich the field of Economics as well While many attempts have been made in the past to integrate the fields of Anthropology and Economics we hope this endeavour will take this exercise to a much higher level by creating a new generation of Anthroeconomists We also hope it will eventually help move mainstream economics away from Neo classical approaches to Anthropological and human centric approaches
