The Archaeology Of Taunton Excavations And Fieldwork To 1980:

The Archaeology of Taunton Peter E. Leach, 1984 Living Opposite to the Hospital of St John: Excavations in Medieval Northampton 2014 Jim Brown, 2021-06-10 This volume presents the results of archaeological investigations undertaken at a building site in Northampton in 2014 The location was of interest as it lay opposite the former medieval hospital of St John which influenced the development of this area of the town The Shapwick Project, Somerset Christopher Gerrard, 2017-10-24 This book provides an introduction to the Shapwick Project's objectives geographical background and previous work in the Somerset It deals with excavations in the outlying parish and focuses on work in the village at Shapwick House A Medieval Manor House Rediscovered Simon Flaherty, Phil Andrews, Matt Leivers, 2016-12-31 Excavations in advance of housing development at Longforth Farm Wellington revealed limited evidence for late prehistoric settlement but the principal discovery was the remains of a previously unknown high status medieval building complex This is thought to have been a manor house and though heavily robbed key elements identified include a hall solar with garderobe and service wing A forecourt lay to the north and a service yard with at least one ancillary building and a possible detached kitchen to the south To the east was a complex of pits enclosure and field ditches and a pond ere was a restricted range and number of medieval finds but together these suggest that occupation spanned the late 11th or 12th century to probably the 14th century There was a notable group of medieval floor tiles and roof furniture but documentary research has failed to identify the owners and any records relating specifically to this important building One possibility is that it belonged to the Provost of Wells cathedral and was perhaps abandoned in the 14th century when the Bishops may have established their court within the nearby and then relatively new market town of Wellington The Archaeology of Churches Warwick Rodwell, 2012-05-15 The definitive work on church archaeology Reconstructing the Development of Somerset's Early Medieval Church Carole Lomas, 2024-05-09 This book uses Somerset as a case study to contribute to a broader understanding of how the Church developed across the British Isles during the transition from the post Roman Church to the 11th century It collates and cross references all earlier research and offers the most up to date study of Somerset's post Roman churches The Fields of Britannia Stephen Rippon, Chris Smart (Archaeologist), Ben Pears, 2015 The Fields of Britannia is the first book to explore how far the countryside of Roman Britain has survived in use through to the present day shaping the character of our modern countryside Radiocarbon Dates, 2014-06-30 This volume holds a datelist of radiocarbon determinations carried out between 1970 and 1982 on behalf of the Ancient Monuments Laboratory now part of English Heritage It also contains supporting information about the samples and the sites producing them a comprehensive bibliography and three indexes for reference and analysis The datelist has been collated to give access to a large body of information which although mostly published elsewhere has never before been accessible in a consistent form When these dates were produced high precision calibration was not possible now that this is available all dates have been converted thus giving archaeologists and others using radiocarbon dates the opportunity to review their dating results in the light of this calibration and with hindsight The indexes order the complex information contained in the datelist by HAR numbers and by true calendar dates

Advances in Quaternary Entomology Scott A. Elias,2009-08-18 Advances in Quaternary Entomology addresses the science of fossil insects by demonstrating their immense contribution to our knowledge of the paleoenvironmental and climatological record of the past 2.6 million years In this comprehensive survey of the field Scott A. Elias recounts development of scholarship reviews the fossil insect record from Quaternary deposits throughout the world and points to rewarding areas for future research The study of Quaternary entomology is becoming an important tool in understanding past environmental changes Most insects are quite specific as to habitat requirements and those in non island environments have undergone almost no evolutionary change in the Quaternary period We therefore can use their modern ecological requirements as a basis for interpreting what past environments must have been like Describes and identifies principal characteristics of fossil insect groups of the Quaternary period Ties Quaternary insect studies to the larger field of paleoecology Offers global coverage of the subject with specific regional examples Illustrates specific methods and procedures for conducting research in Quaternary Entomology Offers unique insight into overlying trends and broader implications of Quaternary climate change based on insect life of the period

Making Sense of an Historic Landscape Stephen Rippon,2012-07-12 This volume explores how the archaeologist or historian can understand variations in landscapes Making use of a wide range of sources and techniques including archaeological material documentary sources and maps Rippon illustrates how local and regional variations in the historic landscape can be understood

Excavations in the Donyatt Potteries Richard Coleman-Smith,Terry Pearson,1988 Donyatt in Somerset has been the site of continuous pottery production from the 13th century Its products had a wide distribution throughout the west country to London and beyond This comprehensive account of the Donyatt industry includes a thorough study of the pots and their changing styles and decoration the development of their kilns the lives and working conditions of the potters and their migrations to and from other potteries It is based on the author's extensive excavations and on study of rich documentary sources and combines two sorts of information rarely so adequately available for any site or industry

Death and Burial in Medieval England 1066-1550 Christopher Daniell,2005-06-20 Bringing together knowledge accumulated from historical archaeological and literary sources Daniell paints a vivid picture of the entire phenomenon of medieval death and burial A big contribution to medieval and early modern studies

Eckweek, Peasedown St John, Somerset Andrew Young,2020-05-10 This volume presents the results of archaeological survey and excavation at Eckweek Somerset which yielded one of the most important medieval rural settlement sequences yet excavated from south west England At the centre of the narrative is a succession of well preserved buildings spanning the late 10th to the 14th centuries A D forming the nucleus of a Domesday manor and its Late Saxon precursor Detailed analysis of the structural sequence offers a new regional perspective on pre Conquest earthfast timber architecture and its subsequent 12th century replacement by masonry traditions Culminating in a richly preserved 14th century farmhouse including a very complete assemblage of structural and domestic objects the structural archaeology provides an unusually refined picture of the internal organisation of later medieval domestic space within a rural farming setting Detailed analytical attention is given to the abundant artefactual and environmental datasets recovered from the excavations including prolific assemblages of medieval pottery and palaeoenvironmental data with a nuanced appraisal of their interpretative implications Anyone with an interest in the dynamics and regional complexity of medieval rural communities will find this a stimulating and enlightening read

Papers contribute to a variety of ongoing debates including the study of ethnicity religion ideology and social memory from burial evidence The volume also contains two cemetery reports of early Anglo Saxon cemeteries from Cambridgeshire

The Bioarchaeology of Children Mary E. Lewis, 2007 Publisher Description The Archaeology of York: The medieval cemeteries. fasc. 1. St. Helen-on-the-Walls, Aldwark York Archaeological Trust, 1994 Wells Cathedral Warwick Rodwell, 2014-07-15 Archaeological excavation architectural survey and historical research carried out between 1978 and 1993 have elucidated the origins and early development of Wells Cathedral Study concentrated primarily on the cloister and its adjuncts and excavation took place in the adjoining Camery garden Here lay an ancient cemetery and the foundations of a succession of demolished buildings ranging in date from Roman to post medieval Collectively these enshrined a continuous development of religious and sepulchral activity probably from the fourth to the mid sixteenth century secular uses followed Adjacent to the Camery are the springs from which Wells takes its name The first mention of the holy well and minster church of St Andrew is in A D 766 Excavation yielded a complex stratigraphic sequence demonstrating how an anonymous late Roman mausoleum burial probably provided the raison d tre for the development of a Middle Saxon cemetery and chapel and hence for the origins of Wells Cathedral itself in 909 The establishment of this sequence is uniquely important in the history of English cathedral archaeology and sets Wells alongside developments in continental Europe Roman and Medieval Exeter and their Hinterlands Stephen Rippon, Neil Holbrook, 2021-04-30 This first volume presenting research carried out through the Exeter A Place in Time project provides a synthesis of the development of Exeter within its local regional national and international hinterlands Exeter began life in c AD 55 as one of the most important legionary bases within early Roman Britain and for two brief periods in the early and late 60s AD Exeter was a critical centre of Roman power within the new province When the legion moved to Wales the fortress was converted into the civitas capital for the Dumnonii Its development as a town was however relatively slow reflecting the gradual pace at which the region as a whole adapted to being part of the Roman world The only evidence we have for occupation within Exeter between the 5th and 8th centuries is for a church in what was later to become the Cathedral Close In the late 9th century however Exeter became a defended burh and this was followed by the revival of urban life Exeter s wealth was in part derived from its central role in the south west s tin industry and by the late 10th century Exeter was the fifth most productive mint in England Exeter s importance continued to grow as it became an episcopal and royal centre and excavations within Exeter have revealed important material culture assemblages that reflect its role as an international port
