The Moon Seen As A Slice Of Pineapple:

The Moon Seen as a Slice of Pineapple Conrad Hilberry, 1984 The Downstream Extremity of the Isle of Swans Mary Jo Bang, 2001 This compelling book takes its title from Samuel Beckett's Ohio Impromptu. In Beckett's play a grieving beloved seeks relief from the haunting presence of a departed lover in a place where from its single window he could see the downstream extremity of the Isle of Swans. With a bow to Beckett's style and linguistic playfulness, Mary Jo Bang's collection of poems deals compassionately and gracefully with the tangible world. Bang's savvy alliterative insistence sweeps the reader along as her poems collectively offer a world delicately structured from memorable fragments of experience, emotion, things, and places inside and outside the human psyche.

The Violence of the Morning Calvin Bedient, 2002 Groundbreaking new poetry evokes a wide range of influences from Kant to the Upanishads while making deep exploratory journeys into the complexities of sexual relationships, disease, heartbreak, and death. Winner of the Contemporary Poetry Series Competition Original.

Poems from the Same Ghost Jack Ridl, 1993-10 The Book of Motion Tung-Hui Hu, 2003 This debut collection explores memory, cities, motion. Tung Hui Hu's tone has some of the swampy wit that recalls Calvino or Michaux. A man swaps bodies with his lover; a mapmaker holds captive a city which needs his crystal telescope to navigate through streets unreadable as palm lines; a car pushed off a cliff in a fit of anger becomes home for a school of fish. Anchored by the sequence Elegies for self, Hu's poetry brings a quiet sophistication to syntax, diction, and form.

Dwelling Song Sally Keith, 2004 As a hummingbird beats its wings so that it might be still to feed on a flower, the poet concludes: The equation keeps balancing out and I'm drawn to how it does not settle. Aware of the difficulty of loving the world while feeding upon it, the poems of Dwelling Song hope vision is levity as they press language to make sight and song. This writing is a form of mimicry yet an act of dangerous flight. Whether from the voice of a hunter, shepherd, farmer, or bugle blowing boy on a city street, the song recognizes that moving forward necessitates turning one's back.

Vital Signs Ronald Wallace, 1989 This anthology includes 179 poets published by university presses in recent years. It seeks to provide a rich overview of the best contemporary American poetry, irrespective of publisher, age of poet, aesthetic program, or current status in the literary canon, to celebrate the work of university presses in discovering and supporting that poetry and to suggest some questions about American poetry: its democratization, canonization, aesthetics, politics, and sociology. The volume includes brief histories of poetry publishing at each press, their poetry lists, and an essay on the American poetry scene of the last 20 years. It features poems by such established poets as John Ashbery, Marge Piercy, Adrienne Rich, and James Wright. ISBN 0 299 12160 7 29 95.

The Very Thought of You Andy Robbins, 2010-01-01 Andy Robbins concludes in Au bout de l'anglais that Art and life are not the same. Never. He challenges the nature of both with this volume of highly personal, sensual, searching poetry that treats life as a work in progress with love in all its aspects as its driving force. Creating poems as technically skilled as they are emotionally powerful, Robbins uses a variety of formal and idiomatic dictions. Though the individual works are as unique in subject as in structure the book is unified by a discomfort with emotional and intellectual stagnancy with ancient mythology religious doctrines and popular culture The book radiates the immediate energy of mind in action question and reflection challenging the very thought of writer and reader Index of American Periodical Verse 1980 Rafael Català, Sander W. Zulauf, James D.
