

A woman with long brown hair, wearing a vibrant pink, off-the-shoulder, long-sleeved dress with ruffles and a full skirt, stands in the foreground. Behind her, a man with a mustache, wearing a black pinstriped suit with a white shirt and a dark vest, stands with his hands in his pockets. They are in a desert landscape with dry grass and a cloudy sky in the background.

The volume is divided into two sections the first features an interrogation of the literary and other textually transmitted spaces to uncover the critical grounds in which the Robin Hood legend has traditionally operated. The essays in Part Two take up issues related to performative and experiential space demonstrating the reciprocal relationship between page stage and lived experience.
