The Pacific Northwest Geographical Perspectives Preliminary Edition:

An Environmental History of the Willamette Valley Elizabeth Orr, William Orr, 2019-03-25 Western Oregon's Willamette Basin once a vast wilderness became a thriving community almost overnight. When Oregon territory was opened for homesteading in the early 1800s, most of the intrepid pioneers settled in the valley, spurring rapid changes in the landscape. Heralded as fertile with a mild climate and an abundance of natural resources, the valley enticed farmers, miners, and loggers who were quickly followed by the construction of rail lines and roads. Dams were built to harness the once free-flowing Willamette River and provide power to the growing population. As cities rose, people like Portland architect Edward Bennett and conservationist governor Tom McCall worked to contain urban sprawl. Authors Elizabeth and William Orr bring to life the changes that sculpted Oregon's beloved Willamette Valley.

Subject Guide to Books in Print, 1996 Climates and Societies - A Climatological Perspective M. Yoshino, Manfred Domrös, Annick Douguédroit, J. Paszynski, L.C.

Nkemdirim, 2013-06-29 The impact of climate on human activities and the effect of humans on climate are two of the most important areas of inquiry in climatology. These interactions conducted through physical, chemical, and biological processes were described as early as Roman and Greek times. Marcus Vitruvius 75-25 B.C., a famous Roman engineer and architect, made the following observation about the climatic conditions necessary for founding a city: "Land ideal for the health is slightly elevated and there should be neither fog nor frost. The direction of the slope and the distance to the swamps, lakes, and beaches must also be considered. The prevailing wind directions observed by a wind tower at the center of the city, like the Horologium at Athens, should be taken into consideration in city planning. The main and narrow streets should be placed in the middle angle of the two prevailing wind directions. Then the location of the Pantheons and squares should be decided. The influence of humans on climate was a major subject for discussion in the 19th century, inspired in part by the rapid industrial growth and expanding deforestation of the time. D.L. Howard wrote brilliant pieces on the climate of London in the 1830s, while G.P. Marsh discussed the effects of forests on precipitation in the U.S.A. in the second half of the 19th century.
