Lee, Terry Tak-ling Woo, 2016-01-01 This collection of essays explores how women from a variety of religious and cultural communities have contributed to the richly textured pluralistic society of Canada Focusing on women s religiosity it examines the ways in which they have carried and conserved and brought forward and transformed their cultures old and new in modern Canada Each essay explores the ways in which the religiosities of women serve as locations for both the assertion and the refashioning of individual and communal identity in transcultural contexts Three shared assumptions guide these essays religion plays a dynamic role in the shaping and reshaping of social cultures women are active participants in their transmission and their transformation and a focus on women s activities within their religious traditions often informal and unofficial provides new perspectives on the intersection of religion gender and transnationalism Since the first European migrations Canada has been shaped by immigrant communities as they negotiated the tension between preserving their religious and cultural traditions and embracing the new opportunities in their adopted homeland Viewing those interactions through the lens of women s religiosity the essays in this collection model an innovative approach and provide new perspectives for students and researchers of Canadian Studies Religious Studies and Women s Studies

Racial Attitudes in English-Canadian Fiction, 1905-1980 Terrence Craig, 2010-10-30 Racial Attitudes in English Canadian Fiction is a critical overview of the appearances and consequences of racism in English Canadian fiction published between 1905 and 1980 Based on an analysis of traditional expressions in literature of group solidarity and resentment the study screens English Canadian novels for fictional representations of such feelings Beginning with the English Canadian reaction to the mass influx of immigrants into Western Canada after World War One it examines the fiction of novelists such as Ralph Connor and Nellie McClung The author then suggests that the cumulative effect of a number of individual voices such as Grove and Salverson constituted a counter reaction which has been made more positive by Laurence Lydenko Richler and Clarke The debate between these two sides carried on in fictional and non fictional writing is seen to be in part resolved in synthesis after World War Two as attitudes are forced by wartime alliances and intellectual pressures into a qualified liberalism The author shows how single novels by Graham Bodsworth and Callaghan demonstrated a new concern for the exposure and eradication of racial discrimination an attitude taken further by the works of Wiebe and Klein The book concentrates on single texts that best portray deliberately or not racist ideology or anti racist arguments and attempts to explain the arousal in Canada of such ideas

Multiculturalism and Immigration in Canada Elspeth Cameron, 2004 Multiculturalism in Canada offers a solid introduction to the history and development of the ideology of multiculturalism in Canada This ideology which has become the primary designator of Canadian society began in the early 1970s when vocal elements in the population who were neither English nor French strongly responded to the investigations of the Committee on Bilingualism and Biculturalism Given Canada's early racist tendencies the establishment of multiculturalism was a remarkable shift in public thinking Many issues associated with immigration have arisen in the public debates around multiculturalism Some people are convinced that it is a pernicious ideology that enforces the ghettoisation of those different from the mainstream Others see dangers in the way some aspects of multiculturalism are merely tokens of an all inclusive society Still others contend that the voices of ethnicities aside from those of the two charter groups English and French are scarcely heard and that worse those marginalised voices are appropriated by mainstream writers On the whole however Canadians especially younger Canadians welcome a liberal outlook that is inclusive of a wide variety of ethnicities For them and for many immigrants Canada is a society that is multiple and layered one rich in meaning They tend to see Canada as a microcosm of the larger world one that presents a useful model of tolerance for the world at large Increasingly marginalised new Canadians are excelling in the arts communities telling all Canadians what various aspects of the culture shock of transplantation feels like This book includes a representative sample of their works

The Literary Voices of Winnifred Eaton Jean Lee Cole, 2002 Winnifred Eaton better known under her Japanese pseudonym Onoto Watanna was of English and Chinese heritage but born and raised in Canada She published over a dozen novels and hundreds of short stories magazine articles and screenplays during the first half of the twentieth century Her romances featuring Japanese and Eurasian heroines sold widely However by the time of her death in 1954 most of her books were out of print Winnifred unlike her sister the better known writer Edith Eaton has been a troubling figure for Asian Americanists She attempted to disguise her ethnic heritage writing under a Japanese pen name and in legal documents she usually claimed a white racial identity Scholars have noted her use of Orientalist stereotypes in her novels and even though she depicted a broad range of non Asian characters such as Irish maids and cowboys her portrayals often relied on the accepted stereotypes of the day Rather than dismiss her characterizations as evasions of the topics that readers today wish she had explored Jean Lee Cole asks why Winnifred Eaton may have chosen the subjects she did Cole shows that the many voices Eaton adopted reveal her deep

Housing and Planning References, 1976      The Rebirth of Anthropological Theory Stanley R. Barrett, 1992-12-15

Innovative and often controversial Barrett's study ranges over the entire scope of anthropological theory It provides a fresh interpretation of the history of theory and mounts an alternative perspective built around dialectics that is eminently suitable to post colonial anthropology He argues that anthropological theory has failed to be cumulative It has been characterized by oscillation and repetition theoretical orientations have appeared and disappeared only to be discovered once again Addressing numerous conceptual contradictions which have never been resolved he introduces novel concepts such as salvage theory and backward theory and argues that in many respects anthropological theory resembles the structuralists interpretation of myth Social life he asserts is inherently contradictory although concealed by numerous mechanisms most of which reinforce the status quo Attacking the illusion of simplicity which has dominated positivistic approaches and the out
