An Analysis of Albert Hourani's A History of the Arab Peoples Brown, Bryan Gibson, 2017-07-05 Few works of history make as well structured a case for the importance of studying continuity rather than change than Albert Hourani's A History of the Arab Peoples Hourani's work had three major aims to refute the idea that Arab society stagnated between 1000 and 1800 to study the period through the lens of diverse Arab rather than Muslim history and to stress intellectual and cultural continuity All of these intentions were the product of the author's evaluation of a great mass of secondary sources many of them devoted to arguing for ideas that contradicted his and it demanded considerable skill to synthesize from them a coherent and well evidenced counter argument Hourani was able to do this largely because his grasp of the relevance and adequacy of his predecessors arguments was second to none his achievement lies in his ability to reject the reasoning of other historians while still making good use of their evidence In this task he was aided by an interpretative skill almost equal to his powers of evaluation A History of the Arab Peoples is also a monument to the importance of properly understanding the meaning of available evidence

Western Historiography in Asia Q. Edward Wang, Okamoto Michihiro, Longguo Li, 2022-02-21 This volume provides a unique and critical perspective on how Chinese Japanese and Korean scholars engage and critique the West in their historical thinking It showcases the dialogue between Asian experts and their Euro American counterparts and offers valuable insights on how to challenge and overcome Eurocentrism in historical writing in the Arab World Peter Sluglett, Victor Kattan, 2019-07-11 Violent non state actors have become almost endemic to political movements in the Middle East and the Horn of Africa This book examines why they play such a key role and the different ways in which they have developed Placing them in the context of the region separate chapters cover the organizations that are currently active including The Muslim Brotherhood The Islamic State in Iraq and Syria Jabhat al Nusra Hamas Hizbullah the PKK al Shabab and the Huthis The book shows that while these groups are a new phenomenon they also relate to other key factors including the unfinished business of the colonial and postcolonial eras and tacit encouragement of the Wahhabi Salafi jihadi da wa by some regional powers Their diversity means violent non state actors elude simple classification ranging from national and transnational to religious and political movements However by examining their origins their supporters and their motivations this book helps explain their ubiquity in the region

Violent Radical Movements
