The Archaeological Journal Volume 144 For 1987:

The Archaeological Journal, 1875 Greater Medieval Houses of England and Wales, 1300-1500: Volume 1, Northern England Anthony Emery, 1996-11-13 The first of a three volume survey of greater houses in England and Wales of the 14th and 15th centuries first published in 1996 Glass of the Roman World Justine Bayley, Ian Freestone, Caroline Jackson, 2015-07-31 Glass of the Roman World illustrates the arrival of new cultural systems mechanisms of trade and an expanded economic base in the early 1st millennium AD which in combination allowed the further development of the existing glass industry Glass became something which encompassed more than simply a novel and highly decorative material Glass production grew and its consumption increased until it was assimilated into all levels of society used for display and luxury items but equally for utilitarian containers windows and even tools These 18 papers by renowned international scholars include studies of glass from Europe and the Near East The authors write on a variety of topics where their work is at the forefront of new approaches to the subject They both extend and consolidate aspects of our understanding of how glass was produced traded and used throughout the Empire and the wider world drawing on chronology typology patterns of distribution and other methodologies including the incorporation of new scientific methods Though focusing on a single material the papers are firmly based in its archaeological context in the wider economy of the Roman world and consider glass as part of a complex material culture controlled by the expansion and contraction of the Empire The volume is presented in honor of Jenny Price a foremost scholar of Roman glass The Early Roman Empire in the West T. F. C. Blagg, Martin Millett, 2016-12-31 Digital reprint of this important collection of papers which form the companion to Early Roman Empire in the East Oxbow 1997 Fourteen contributions examine the interaction of Roman and native peoples in the formative years of the Roman provinces in Italy Gaul Spain and Portugal Germany and Britain Contents Introduction Thomas Blagg and Martin Millett The creation of provincial landscape the Roman impact on Cisalpine Gaul Nicholas Purcell Romanization a point of view Richard Reece Romanization historical issues and archaeological interpretation Martin Millett The romanization of Belgic Gaul Colin Haselgrove Lower Germany proto urban settlement developments and the integration of native society J H F Bloemers Relations between Roman occupation and the Limesvorland in the province of Germania Inferior Jurgen Kunow Early Roman military installations and Ubian settlements in the Lower Rhine Michael Gechter Some observations on acculturation process at the edge of the Roman world S D Trow Processes in the development of the coastal communities of Hispania Citerior in the Republican period Simon Keay Romanization and urban development in Lusitania Jonathan Edmondson Urban munificence and the growth of urban consciousness in Roman Spain Nicola Mackie First century Roman houses in Gaul and Britain T F C Blagg Towards an assessment of the economic and social consequences of the Roman conquest of Gaul J F Drinkwater The emergence of Romano Celtic religion Anthony King Blood, Faith and Iron: A dynasty of Catholic industrialists in sixteenth- and seventeenth-century England Paul Belford, 2018-11-13 The Ironbridge Gorge is presented as the birthplace of the Industrial Revolution and so part of a national narrative of heroic Protestant individualism. However, this is not the full story. This book asserts that this industrial landscape was in fact created by an entrepreneurial Catholic dynasty over 200 years before the Iron Bridge was built. Archaeology, Economy and Society David A. Hinton, 2002-03-11. Many books have been written on particular aspects of medieval archaeology or on particular parts of the period, but synthesis across the whole spectrum has not been attempted before. The aim of this book is to examine the contribution that archaeology can make to an understanding of the social, economic, religious and other developments that took place in England from the migrations of the fifth and sixth centuries to the beginning of the Renaissance, showing how society and economy evolved in that time span. Drawing on the latest available material, the book takes a chronological approach to the archaeological material of the post-Roman period in order to emphasize the changes that can be observed in the physical evidence and some of the reasons for them that can be suggested. The environment in which people functioned and how they expressed themselves, for example in their houses and burial practices, their pottery and their clothes, show how they were constrained by social customs and economic pressures. Rural Settlement, Lifestyles and Social Change in the Later First Millennium AD Christopher Loveluck, 2007. Between 1989 and 1991 excavations in the parish of Flixborough, North Lincolnshire, unearthed remains of an Anglo-Saxon settlement associated with one of the largest collections of artefacts and animal bones yet found on such a site. In an unprecedented occupation sequence from an Anglo-Saxon rural settlement, six main periods of occupation have been identified, dating from the seventh to the early eleventh centuries, with a further period of activity between the twelfth and fifteenth centuries AD. The remains of approximately forty buildings and other structures were uncovered, and due to the survival of large refuse deposits, huge quantities of artefacts and faunal remains were encountered, compared with most other rural settlements of the period. The quality of the overall archaeological data contained within the settlement sequence is important for both the examination of site-specific issues and for the investigation of wider research themes and problems facing settlement studies in England between AD 600 and 1050. Volume 4 offers a series of thematic analyses integrating all the forms of evidence to reconstruct the lifestyles of the inhabitants. These comprise settlement-specific aspects and wider themes. The former include relations with the surrounding landscape and region, trade and exchange, and specialist artisan activity. Whereas the wider themes consider approaches to the interpretation of settlement character, the social spectrum of its inhabitants, changing relationships between rural and emerging urban centres, and the importance of the excavated remains within contemporary studies of early medieval settlement and society in western Europe. Ceramics in Transition: Production and Exchange of Late Byzantine-Early Islamic Pottery in Southern Transjordan and the Negev Elisabeth Holmqvist, 2019-07-31. This book focuses on the utilitarian ceramic traditions during the socio-political transition from the late Byzantine into the early Islamic Umayyad and Abbasid periods in southern Transjordan and the Negev. Production clusters manufacturing techniques distribution patterns and material links between communities are analysed Gold and Gilt, Pots and Pins David Alban Hinton, 2006 In this highly illustrated book David Hinton looks at what possessions meant to people at every level of society in Britain in the middle ages from elaborate gold jewellery to clay pots and provides a fascinating window into the society of the middle ages Gold and Gilt Pots and Pins is about things worn and used in Britain throughout the Middle Ages from the great treasure hoards that mark the end of the Roman Empire to the new expressions of ideas promoted by the Renaissance and Reformation The Oxford Handbook of Neolithic Europe Chris Fowler, Jan Harding, Daniela Hofmann, 2015-03-26 The Neolithic a period in which the first sedentary agrarian communities were established across much of Europe has been a key topic of archaeological research for over a century However the variety of evidence across Europe the range of languages in which research is carried out and the way research traditions in different countries have developed makes it very difficult for both students and specialists to gain an overview of continent wide trends The Oxford Handbook of Neolithic Europe provides the first comprehensive geographically extensive thematic overview of the European Neolithic from Iberia to Russia and from Norway to Malta offering both a general introduction and a clear exploration of key issues and current debates surrounding evidence and interpretation Chapters written by leading experts in the field examine topics such as the movement of plants animals ideas and people including recent trends in the application of genetics and isotope analyses cultural change from the first appearance of farming to the first metal artefacts domestic architecture subsistence material culture monuments and burial and other treatments of the dead In doing so the volume also considers the history of research and sets out agendas and themes for future work in the field American Journal of Archaeology, 1917 Landmark Cases in Intellectual Property Law Jose Bellido, 2017-09-07 This volume explores the nature of intellectual property law by looking at particular disputes All the cases gathered here aim to show the versatile and unstable character of a discipline still searching for landmarks Each contribution offers an opportunity to raise questions about the narratives that have shaped the discipline throughout its short but profound history The volume begins by revisiting patent litigation to consider the impact of the Statute of Monopolies 1624 It continues looking at different controversies to describe how the existence of an author's right in literary property was a plausible basis for legal argument even though no statute expressly mentioned authors rights before the Statute of Anne 1710 The collection also explores different moments of historical significance for intellectual property law the first trade mark injunctions the difficulties the law faced when protecting maps and the origins of originality in copyright law Similarly it considers the different ways of interpreting patent claims in the late nineteenth and twentieth century the impact of seminal cases on passing off and the law of confidentiality and more generally the construction of intellectual property law and its branches in their interaction with new technologies and marketing developments It is essential reading for anyone interested in the development of intellectual property law A Decent, Regular and Orderly State? Philippa M. Hoskin, 2010 The Anarchy Oliver

Hamilton Creighton, Duncan W. Wright, 2016 The first ever archaeologically based study of the turbulent period of English history often known as the Anarchy of King Stephen's reign in the mid twelfth century covering battlefields and conflict landscapes arms armour and material culture fortifications and the church Bignor Roman Villa Dr Miles Russell, David Rudling, 2015-05-04 Discovered in 1811 Bignor is one of the richest and most impressive villas in Britain its mosaics ranking among the finest in north western Europe Opened to the public for the first time in 1814 the site also represents one of Britain's earliest tourist attractions remaining in the hands of the same family the Tupperes to this day This book sets out to explain the villa who built it when how it would have been used and what it meant within the context of the Roman province of Britannia It also sets out to interpret the remains as they appear today explaining in detail the meaning of the fine mosaic pavements and describing how the villa was first found and explored and the conservation problems facing the site in the twenty first century Now after 200 years the remarkable story of Bignor Roman Villa is told in full in this beautifully illustrated book

The Derbyshire Archaeological Journal, 2004 Hadrian's Wall Matthew Symonds, 2020-12-10 Over its venerable history Hadrian's Wall has had an undeniable influence in shaping the British landscape both literally and figuratively Once thought to be a soft border recent research has implicated it in the collapse of a farming civilisation centuries in the making and in fuelling an insurgency characterised by violent upheaval Examining the everyday impact of the Wall over the three centuries it was in operation Matthew Symonds sheds new light on its underexplored human story by discussing how the evidence speaks of a hard border scything through a previously open landscape and bringing dramatic change in its wake The Roman soldiers posted to Hadrian's Wall were overwhelmingly recruits from the empire's occupied territories and for them the frontier could be a place of fear and magic where supernatural protection was invoked during spells of guard duty Since antiquity the Wall has been exploited by powers craving the legitimacy that came with being accepted as the heirs of Rome it helped forge notions of English and Scottish nationhood and even provided a model of selfless cultural collaboration when the British Empire needed reassurance It has also inspired creatives for centuries appearing in a more or less recognisable guise in works ranging from Rudyard Kipling's Puck of Pook's Hill to George R R Martin's A Game of Thrones Combining an archaeological analysis of the monument itself and an examination of its rich legacy and contemporary relevance this volume presents a reliable modern perspective on the Wall
