Kantha Danielle Mason,2009 This first book-length study on kanthas published outside of South Asia focuses on two premier collections: one assembled by the legendary historian of Indian art Dr. Stella Kramrisch, the other by Jill and Sheldon Bonovitz, leading proponents of self-taught art. Created from worn-out garments imaginatively embroidered by women with motifs and tales drawn from a rich regional repertoire, kanthas traditionally were stitched as gifts for births, weddings, and other family occasions. Innovative essays by leading scholars explore the domestic ritual and historical contexts of the fascinating quilts in these collections, made between the mid-19th and mid-20th century in what is today Bangladesh and West Bengal, India, and trace their reinterpretation as emblems of national identity and works of art.

An Empire of Touch Poulomi Saha,2019-04-16 In today's world of unequal globalization, Bangladesh has drawn international attention for the spate of factory disasters that have taken the lives of numerous garment workers, mostly young women. The contemporary garment industry and the labor organizing pushing back draws on a long history of gendered labor division and exploitation in East Bengal, the historical antecedent of Bangladesh. Yet despite the centrality of women's labor to anticolonial protest and postcolonial state building, historiography has struggled with what appears to be its absence from the archive. Poulomi Saha offers an innovative account of women's political labor in East Bengal over more than a century, one that suggests new ways to think about textiles and the gendered labors of their making An Empire of Touch argues that women have articulated in writing in political action in stitching their own desires in their own terms They produce narratives beyond women s empowerment and independence as global and national projects they refuse critical pronouncements of their own subjugation Saha follows the historical traces of how women have claimed their own labor contending that their political commitments are captured in the material objects of their manufacture Her analysis of the production of historical memory through and by the bodies of women spans British colonialism and American empire anticolonial nationalism to neoliberal globalization depicting East Bengal between development economics and postcolonial studies Through a material account of text and textile An Empire of Touch crafts a new narrative of gendered political labor under empire Folk Mask of Bengal: Tradition, Evolution and Contemporary Adaptation Dr. Alope Das,2025-05-28 Folk Mask of Bengal Tradition Evolution and Contemporary Adaptation by Dr Alope Das This richly illustrated and deeply researched book explores the vibrant world of Bengal s folk masks Blending tradition with modern relevance Dr Alope Das delves into the origins evolution and contemporary interpretations of this timeless art form A perfect blend of cultural history and visual storytelling the book is a tribute to Bengal s artistic heritage making it essential reading for art lovers scholars and anyone interested in Indian folklore and visual culture Inscribing South Asian Muslim Women Tahera Aftab,2007-11-30 With its trans historic and comprehensive annotated sources this volume serves as a kaleidoscope through which the reader glimpses the shifting patterns of the private and the public lives of South Asian Muslim women and guides for further research and exploration
