

The MISSIONARY and the DIVINER

MICHAEL C. KIRWEN

The Missionary And The Diviner Contending Theologies Of Christian And African Religions

Ernst M Conradie, Charl E Fredericks

The Missionary And The Diviner Contending Theologies Of Christian And African Religions:

The Missionary and the Diviner Michael C. Kirwen, 1987 In a series of conversations a Christian missionary and an African diviner challenge and compare one another's views on fundamental theological questions What is the meaning of God of family and community Of sickness and healing death and the afterlife good and evil These discussions tellingly reveal both the vitality of traditional African religions and Christianity's ethnocentrism when faced with basic issues of African life The Missionary and the Diviner demonstrates how and why a culturally informed approach to evangelization is essential to the indigenization of Christianity

Theologies of the 21st Century David L. Smith, 2014-10-02 What theologies are popular and formative of Christian thinking in the present day How should they be assessed by those Christians who want to be in the world without being of the world Theologies of the 21st Century begins with an overview of the historical roots from which current theological thinking has developed and then moves on to a detailed evaluation of the chief doctrinal and practical emphases taking an evangelical biblical perspective that seeks to be at once both critical and irenic

Mapping Systematic Theology in Africa Ernst M Conradie, Charl E Fredericks, 2004-08-01 The emergence of an indigenous African theology especially since the 1960s is well documented A wealth of literature has been published in the context of African theology especially over the last two or three decades This indexed bibliography contains a number of publications in and for the African context specifically relevant to the fields of systematic theology and ethics

Akan Christology Charles Sarpong Aye-Addo, 2013-07-12 As Christianity expands and grows in Africa there is deep new interest in African theology in general and the way in which some African theologians are interpreting the significance of Christ within African culture in particular This volume explores the Christology of two of the foremost African thinkers against the background of the West African Akan culture The result is a rare and fascinating look at some of the key cultural symbols of African culture the struggle to reinterpret the white blond blue eyed Christ presented by pioneering missionaries to Africa and the pitfalls and promises that attend the exercise The selected theologians John Samuel Pobee and Kwame Bediako are put into a critical conversation with Karl Barth in order to initiate a dialogue between Western theology and African theology that brings to the fore some of the pertinent issues about the particularity and universality of Christ The volume while seeking to make Christ relevant for Africa moves away from romanticizing African culture and insists on being faithful to the biblical witness to Christ The result is an attempt to present an engaging piece of work that makes a significant contribution to contemporary debates on Christology and indigenous theology

Who Do the Ngimurok Say That They Are? Kevin P. Lines, 2018-04-12 How do missiologists describe the cosmologies of those that Christianity encounters around the world Our descriptions often end up filtered through our own Western religious categories Furthermore indigenous Christians adopt these Western religious categories This presents the problem of local Christianities described by Kwame Bediako as those that have not known how to relate to their traditional culture in terms other than those of denunciation or of separateness Kevin Lines's phenomenological study of local religious specialists in Turkana Kenya not only challenges our Western categories by revealing a more authentic complexity of the issues for local Christians and Western missionaries but also provides a model for continued use of phenomenology as a valued research method in larger missiological studies. Additionally, this study points to the ways that local Christians and traditional religious practitioners interpret Western missionaries through local religious categories. Clearly, missionaries, missiologists, anthropologists, and religious studies scholars need to do a much more careful job of studying and describing the contextually specific phenomena of traditional religious specialists before relying on meta-categories that come out of our Western theology or older overly simplified ethnographies. The research from this current study of Turkana religious specialists begins that process in the Turkana context and offers a model for future studies in contexts where traditional religion and Christianity intersect.

The Doctrine of God in African Christian Thought James Henry Owino Kombo, 2007. Noting the relationship between philosophy and the doctrine of the Trinity, this book offers the African pre-Christian understanding of God and the Ntu metaphysics as theoretical gateways for African reflections on the doctrine of the Trinity.

Engaging Religions and Worldviews in Africa Yusufu Turaki, 2020-04-30. In a world of increasing globalization, we live amidst a clash of cultures, religions, and worldviews, each battling for the human heart and mind. In this in-depth study, Yusufu Turaki offers a theological framework for engaging this clash of perspectives in Africa, where traditional African religions, colonialism, and exposure to Christianity have each had a lasting impact on contemporary African worldviews. Professor Turaki undertakes a systematic analysis of the nature of African Traditional Religion, its complex history with Christianity, and the need for African Christian theology to address its cultural and historical roots effectively. He provides both a conceptual framework and practical guide for engaging African cultures and religions with compassion, understanding, and a firm foundation rooted in scriptural truth. This book is an excellent resource for students of religion and theology, as well as those interested in Africa's traditional heritage or drawn to the important work of cross-cultural and inter-religious dialogue.

Towards an African Narrative Theology Joseph Healey, 1996. Reflects what traditional proverbs used in Christian catechetical, liturgical, and ritual contexts reveal about Tanzanian appropriations of and interpretations of Christianity.

African Religion Laurenti Magesa, 2014-07-30. Describes the moral teachings, values, norms, and principles to follow so that life might be abundant for all of the African religion as it relates to individuals and community.

The Making of an African Christian Ethics Wilson Muoha Maina, 2016-07-13. An exploration of the development of a contextualized Roman Catholic moral theology in an African context is warranted in our day. This book is a study of the work of Benzet Bujo, an African moral theologian. An analysis of Bujo's work shows the various aspects of an African Catholic moral theology. Bujo's work is viewed here as critically bridging African moral theology and the development of moral theology in the Catholic Church, especially in the West. An African moral theology in this work builds on the elements of the renewal of moral theology after the Second Vatican Council. The renewal elements reflected in Bujo's work and other African

Catholic theologians include among others the use of Scripture the relevance of history the debate on moral norms the relevance of social sciences to moral discourse the theory of natural moral law and the relation between the theologian and the magisterium This work therefore locates the theology of Bujo in the development of moral theology after the Second Vatican Council The author establishes a relation between African traditional religions African history Christology natural moral law moral autonomy debate the encyclical Veritatis Splendor and political liberation theological ethics
