Sartori,1999-07-30 The earliest known literary productions by women living in Europe were probably written by French writers As early as the 12th century women troubadours in the south of France were writing poems French women continued writing through the ages their number increasing as education became more available to women of all classes And yet of the great number of works by women writers who preceded the current feminist movement very few have survived A few writers such as Marie de France George Sand and Simone de Beauvoir became part of the canon But critics mostly male had judged the works of only a few women writers worthy of recognition As part of the feminist move to reclaim women writers and to rethink literary history scholars in French literature began to take a new look at women writers who had been popular during their lifetimes but who had not been admitted into the canon This reference book provides extensive information about French women writers and the world in which they lived Included are several hundred alphabetically arranged entries for authors literary genres such as the novel poetry and the short story literary movements such as classicism realism and surrealism life cycle events particular to women such as menstruation and menopause events and institutions which affected women differently than men such as revolutions wars and laws on marriage divorce and education The volume spans French literature from the Middle Ages to the present and covers those writers who lived and worked mainly in France The entries are written by expert contributors and each includes bibliographical information The entries focus on each writer s awareness of how her gender shaped her outlook and opportunities on how categorizations structures and terms used to describe literary works have been defined for women and the ways in which women writers have responded to these definitions The volume begins with a feminist history of French literature and concludes with a selected general bibliography and a chronology of women writers

The Facts on File Companion to the World Novel Michael Sollars, Arbolina Llamas Jennings, 2008

Gendered Resistance Valérie Baisnée, 2023-04-24 Four major women's autobiographies of the twentieth century are discussed together here for the first time Valérie Baisnée reinterprets the autobiographical writing of Simone De Beauvoir Maya Angelou Janet Frame and Marguerite Duras finding some striking similarities in these women's resistance to a conservative order Deploying a variety of theoretical approaches from linguistic to Marxist Baisnée endeavours to break the restrictive patterns of author-centred studies to go beyond simple oppositions between truth and fiction and to dispense with the facile interpretation of these texts as confessional For Valérie Baisnée Autobiography is meant to represent not the true but the official version of a life signed by the author herself and revered as hagiography by the public Instead of analysing women's autobiographies as confessional it is possible to see this mode of discourse as a means to counteract the effect of exposure of women's private lives By revealing their past however painful it may be the four autobiographers studied in this book also enhance their present strength and therefore underline the political nature of the autobiography
