JOHN HAWKES

Set in an imaginary European city, this novel is one of the masterpieces of contemporary fiction. It tells us how the dissolute, unscrupulous Lord of the Manor, Lord Ainslie, aged without regret of his own dark passions. Lord is grieving for his dead wife, devoted to his schoolgirl daughter, and obsessed with the memory and tale of his mother, who is an inmate in the city's prison. When he discovers that his daughter has become a prostitute and learns that the women prisoners are in such a state, Lord Ainslie embarks on a journey, which is violent and erotic, to rescue her.

The Passion Artist explores the awakening of sexual feelings in childhood, the tenderness of the will in adult acts, the nature of love, the power of man, the relationship between man and the creative imagination, the body of passion and the borders of mind. It has been a brilliant poem, and strongly comic, from the heart of the dissolute mind.
