The People of Providence Tony Parker,1983

The People of Providence Tony Parker,Clare Vaughan,2013-10-17

During a period of 5 years Parker listened to the inhabitants of an apparently unremarkable housing estate in South London and discovered a richness and diversity of life which would otherwise have gone unrecorded Community Health

Practitioners and Child Sexual Abuse in the Family, 1970s-2010s Ruth Beecher,2025-05-12 This open access book is an innovative history of community health practitioners responses to the seemingly intractable problem of men and on rare occasions women sexually abusing children within the private family home It is situated within a social history of the development of British community based health professions in the last decades of the twentieth century Drawing on archival research and newly gathered in depth oral history interviews the monograph argues that expectations placed upon community based doctors nurses and mental health staff since the 1980s in relation to predicting and preventing the sexual abuse of children by men they know are incongruous Beneath a surface acquiescence to the need to protect children from such abuse or to intervene early lie cultural social and structural barriers that prevent its fulfilment The book is a first in specifically interrogating the recent history of the role of community health practitioners within the modern child protection workforce and contributes to growing scholarship on the history of emotions in the medical professions Researching

Families and Communities Rosalind Edwards,2008-04-29 Recent years have seen a concern with how family and community relationships have changed across the generations whether for better or worse and particularly how they have been affected by social and economic developments But how can we think about and research the nature of the present in relation to the past and vice versa Researching Families and Communities Social and Generational Change explores the concepts and perspectives that guide research and the methods used to explore change during the last half of the twentieth century and into the new millennium It highlights the complexities of continuities alongside change the importance of the perspectives that shape investigation and the need to engage with situated data This edited text includes contributions from experts in their field who address these overarching trends explore the possibilities and practice of secondary analysis or replication studies as well as longitudinal large scale data sets discuss varied aspects of family and community life including sexuality ethnicity parenting resources older people intergenerational family life solo living and many others This book will appeal to academics and students interested in family and community across a range of social science disciplines and to those in the social research field Oxford Dictionary of National Biography 2005-2008 Lawrence

Goldman,2013-03-07 Who made modern Britain This book drawn from the award winning Oxford Dictionary of National Biography tells the story of our recent past through the lives of those who shaped national life Following on from the Oxford DNB s first supplement volume noteworthy people who died between 2001 and 2004 this new volume offers biographies of more than 850 men and women who left their mark on twentieth and twenty first century Britain and who died in the years

2005 to 2008 Here are the people responsible for major developments in national life from politics the arts business technology and law to military service sport education science and medicine Many are closely connected to specific periods in Britain's recent history From the 1950s the young Harold Pinter or the Yorkshire cricketer Fred Trueman for example From the Sixties the footballer George Best photographer Patrick Lichfield and the Pink Floyd musician Syd Barrett It's hard to look back to the 1970s without thinking of Edward Heath and James Callaghan who led the country for seven years in that turbulent decade or similarly Freddie Laker pioneer of budget air travel and the comedians Ronnie Barker and Dave Allen who entertained with their sketch shows and sit coms A decade later you probably browsed in Anita Roddick's Body Shop or danced to the music of Factory Records established by the Manchester entrepreneur Tony Wilson In the 1990s you may have hoped that Things can only get better with a New Labour government which included Robin Cook and Mo Mowlam Many in this volume are remembered for lives dedicated to a profession or cause Bill Deedes or Conor Cruise O'Brien in journalism Ned Sherrin in broadcasting or indeed Ted Heath whose political career spanned more than 50 years Others were responsible for discoveries or innovations of lasting legacy and benefit among them the epidemiologist Richard Doll who made the link between smoking and lung cancer Cicely Saunders creator of the hospice movement and Chad Varah founder of the Samaritans With John Profumo who gave his name to a scandal policeman Malcolm Fewtrell who investigated the Great Train Robbery or the Russian dissident Aleksandr Litvinenko who was killed in London in 2006 we have individuals best known for specific moments in our recent past Others are synonymous with popular objects and experiences evocative of recent decades Mastermind with Magnus Magnusson the PG Tips chimpanzees trained by Molly Badham John DeLorean's gull wing car or the new British Library designed by Colin St John Wilson though as rounded and balanced accounts Oxford DNB biographies also set these events in the wider context of a person's life story Authoritative and accessible the biographies in this volume are written by specialist authors many of them leading figures in their field Here you will find Michael Billington on Harold Pinter Michael Crick on George Best Richard Davenport Hines on Anita Roddick Brenda Hale on Rose Heilbron Roy Hattersley on James Callaghan Simon Heffer on John Profumo Douglas Hurd on Edward Heath Alex Jennings on Paul Scofield Hermione Lee on Pat Kavanagh Geoffrey Wheatcroft on Conor Cruise O'Brien and Peregrine Worsthorne on Bill Deedes Many in this volume are naturally household names But a good number are also remembered for lives away from the headlines What in the 1980s became Thatcherism owed much to behind the scenes advice from Ralph Harris and Alfred Sherman children who learned to read with Ladybird Books must thank their creator Douglas Keen while without its first producer Verity Lambert there would have been no Doctor Who Others are ordinary people capable of remarkable acts Take for instance Arthur Bywater who over two days in 1944 cleared thousands of bombs from a Liverpool munitions factory following an explosion only to do the same months later in another factory Awarded the George Cross and the George Medal Bywater remains the only non-combatant to have received Britain's two highest awards for civilian

Turkington, 2013-05-24 A comprehensive and in depth history of the 20th century English home how it has been created and how it works for people It focuses on the various influences bearing on the development of domestic space since 1914 and covers both design and housing policy Current debates from participation to co operative housing are examined and several themes not previously brought together are linked e g urban development house design technology at home women and home social meaning of home      Housing, Class and Gender in Modern British Writing, 1880-2012 Emily Cuming, 2016-08-24 Domestic interiors and housing environments have historically been portrayed as a framing device for the representation of individuals and social groups Drawing together a wide and eclectic collection of well known and less familiar works by writers including Charles Booth Octavia Hill James Joyce Pat O Mara Rose Macaulay Patrick Hamilton Sam Selvon Sarah Waters Lynsey Hanley and Andrea Levy the author reflects upon and challenges various myths and truisms of home through an analysis of four distinct British settings slums boarding houses working class childhood homes and housing estates Her exploration of works of social investigation fiction and life writing leads to an intricate stock of housing tales that are inherited shifting and always revealing about the culture of our times This book seeks to demonstrate how depictions of domestic space in literature history and other cultural forms tell powerful and unexpected stories of class gender social belonging and exclusion

Housing Management, Consumers and Citizens Liz Caincross, David Clapham, Robina Goodlad, 2013-02-01 Tenant participation has grown substantially over the last decade following government legislation advice from professional bodies and development agencies and promotion by all major political parties On few housing issues is there such consensus Yet in practice it is obvious that participation can mean very different things in different contexts This book explains why this is the case and examines the growth of participation in the context of changes in the role of local authorities and their relationship with their electorates These issues are examined in the first part of the book which sets the context for exploring the roles of housing managers councillors tenants and tenant s associations in the second part The book argues that the rise in arrangements for tenant participation masks considerable differences in the role played by tenants in different areas These differences raise questions about the nature of power in the tenant landlord relationship and more generally in the relationship between local government citizens and consumers These issues are examined in the final third part of the book

London in the Twentieth Century Jerry White,2009-11-10 Jerry White s London in the Twentieth Century Winner of the Wolfson Prize is a masterful account of the city s most tumultuous century by its leading expert In 1901 no other city matched London in size wealth and grandeur Yet it was also a city where poverty and disease were rife For its inhabitants such contradictions and diversity were the defining experience of the next century of dazzling change In the worlds of work and popular culture politics and crime through war immigration and sexual revolution Jerry White s richly detailed and captivating history shows how the city shaped their lives and how it in turn was shaped by them

The Dynamics of Local Housing Policy Keith Jacobs,2019-05-23 First published in 1999 this study features Keith Jacobs examining housing practice through a detailed analysis of processes that surround a large scale housing regeneration initiative in the London Borough of Hackney It forms part of a series incorporating a wide range of approaches to urban and regional studies with an emphasis on original research linking theory and practice The series is of interest to those working in planning geography economics sociology public administration and political science

People of the Streets Tony Parker,2013-08-13 People of the streets you become aware of them and wonder who and what they are what kind of lives they have and what living them means First published in 1968 People of the Streets was Tony Parker s sixth book for which he spent a year approaching and interviewing people in London who were living their daily lives on street corners along gutters or in subways With his usual skill he coaxed them out of their natural reticence born of solitude into an unfamiliar but hugely illuminating spontaneity In Parker s books the strength lies in the interpretive mind of the writer He is a sociologist studying single cases in some depth and shows qualities of imagination shared by the historian and the biographer a mixture of intelligence sympathy and empathy TLS

Social Housing in Performance Katie Beswick,2019-02-07 This book explores the ways that council estates have been represented in England across a range of performance forms Drawing on examples from mainstream site specific and resident led performance works it considers the political potential of contemporary performance practices concerned with the council estate Depictions of the council estate are brought into dialogue with global representations of what Chris Richardson and Hans Skott Myhre call the hood to tease out the specific features of the British context and situate the work globally Katie Beswick s study provides a timely contribution to the ongoing national and global interest in social housing As the housing market grows ever more insecure and estates are charged with political rhetoric theatre and socially engaged art set or taking place on estates takes on a new potency Mainstream theatre works examined include Rita Sue and Bob Too and

A State Affair at the Soho Theatre Port at the National Theatre and DenMarked at the Battersea Arts Centre The book also explores the National Youth Theatre's Slick and Roger Hiorns Seizure as well as community based and resident led performances by Fourthland Jordan McKenzie Fugitive Images and Jane English The People Selina Todd, 2014-04-10 THE SUNDAY TIMES BESTSELLER There was nothing extraordinary about my childhood or background And yet I looked in vain for any aspect of my family's story when I went to university to read history and continued to search fruitlessly for it throughout the next decade Eventually I realised I would have to write this history myself What was it really like to live through the twentieth century In 1910 three quarters of the population were working class but their story has been ignored until now Based on the first person accounts of servants factory workers miners and housewives award winning historian Selina Todd reveals an unexpected Britain where cinema audiences shook their fists at footage of Winston Churchill communities supported strikers and where pools winners like Viv Nicholson refused to become respectable Charting the rise of the working class through two world wars to their fall in Thatcher's Britain and today Todd tells their story for the first time in their own words Uncovering a huge hidden swathe of Britain's past The People is the vivid history of a revolutionary century and the people who really made Britain great Class, Politics, and the Decline of Deference in England, 1968-2000 Florence Sutcliffe-Braithwaite, 2018-02-23 In late twentieth century England inequality was rocketing yet some have suggested that the politics of class was declining in significance while others argue that class identities lost little power Neither interpretation is satisfactory class remained important to ordinary people's narratives about social change and their own identities throughout the period 1968-2000 but in changing ways Using self narratives drawn from a wide range of sources the raw materials of sociological studies transcripts from oral history projects Mass Observation and autobiography the book examines class identities and narratives of social change between 1968 and 2000 showing that by the end of the period class was often seen as an historical identity related to background and heritage and that many felt strict class boundaries had blurred quite profoundly since 1945 Class snobberies went underground as many people from all backgrounds began to assert that what was important was authenticity individuality and ordinariness In fact Sutcliffe-Braithwaite argues that it is more useful to understand the cultural changes of these years through the lens of the decline of deference which transformed people's attitudes towards class and towards politics The study also examines the claim that Thatcher and New Labour wrote class out of politics arguing that this simple and highly political narrative misses important points Thatcher was driven by political ideology and necessity to try to dismiss the importance of class while the New Labour project was good at listening to voters particularly swing voters in marginal seats and echoing back what they were increasingly saying about the blurring of class lines and the importance of ordinariness But this did not add up to an abandonment of a majoritarian project as New Labour reoriented their political project to emphasize using the state to empower the individual Community Architecture (Routledge Revivals) Nick Wates, Charles Knevitt, 2013-09-05 First published in 1987 this title was one of the first to explore the emerging popular movement of Community Architecture championed by Prince Charles which gained momentum throughout Britain in the 1970s and 1980s The conceptual framework rests fundamentally on the principle that the built environment is most effective when those who live in a particular area are actively engaged with its creation and daily administration A work that has influenced policy makers and planning legislation Community Architecture remains one of the key reference works for student architects and planners

In No Man's Land Tony Parker, 2013-09-17 A man now well sure enough one of those you can forget but a child is forever Kate Byrne For No Man's Land first published in 1972 Tony Parker persuaded six young unmarried mothers to talk frankly about their lives their hopes and their problems As ever Parker didn't impose himself upon the text the women speak as and for themselves As such No Man's Land is a precious sociological portrait of a Britain in which many believed that motherhood and marriage were subject to an umbilical linkage Tony Parker is himself unique Britain's most expert interviewer mouthpiece of the inarticulate and counsel for the defence of those whom society has shunned or abandoned Anthony Storr Sunday Times

City, Street and Citizen Suzanne Hall, 2012-06-25 How can we learn from a multicultural society if we don't know how to recognise it The contemporary city is more than ever a space for the intense convergence of diverse individuals who shift in and out of its urban terrains The city street is perhaps the most prosaic of the city's public parts allowing us a view of the very ordinary practices of life and livelihoods By attending to the expressions of conviviality and contestation City Street and Citizen offers an alternative notion of multiculturalism away from the ideological frame of nation and away from the moral imperative of community This book offers to the reader an account of the lived realities of allegiance participation and belonging from the base of a multi ethnic street in south London City Street and Citizen focuses on the question of whether local life is significant for how individuals develop skills to live with urban change and cultural and ethnic diversity To animate this question Hall has turned to a city street and its dimensions of regularity and propinquity to explore interactions in the small shop spaces along the Walworth Road The city street constitutes exchange and as such it provides us with a useful space to consider the broader social and political significance of contact in the day to day life of multicultural cities Grounded in an ethnographic approach this book will be of interest to academics and students in the fields of sociology global urbanisation migration and ethnicity as well as being relevant to politicians policy makers urban designers and architects involved in cultural diversity public space and street based economies

London's Aylesbury Estate Michael Romyne, 2020-09-18 This book looks beyond the Aylesbury's public face by examining its rise and fall from the perspective of those who knew it based largely on the oral testimony and memoir of residents and former residents youth and community workers borough Councillors officials police officers and architects What emerges is not a simple story of definitive failures but one of texture and complexity struggle and accord family and friends and of rapidly changing circumstances The study spans the years 1967 to 2010 from the estate's ambitious inception until the first of its blocks were pulled down It is a period rarely dealt with by historians of council housing who have typically confined themselves to the years before or after the 1979 watershed As such it demonstrates how shifts in housing policy and broader political economic and social developments came to bear on a working class community for good and more especially for ill Oral History, 1993
