The Anthropologists Muse:

Social and Cultural Anthropology in Perspective Ioan M. Lewis, 2017-09-29 Social anthropology is in the classic definition dedicated to the study of distant civilizations in their traditional and contemporary forms But there is a larger aspiration the comparative study of all human societies in the light of those challengingly unfamiliar beliefs and customs that expose our own ethnocentric limitations and put us in our place within the wider gamut of the world's civilizations Thematically guided by social setting and cultural expression of identity Social and Cultural Anthropology in Perspective is a dynamic and highly acclaimed introduction to the field of social anthropology which also examines its links with cultural anthropology A challenging new introduction critically surveys the latest trends pointing to weaknesses as well as strengths Presented in a clear lively and entertaining fashion this volume offers a comprehensive and up to date guide to social anthropology for use by teachers and students Skillfully weaving together theory and ethnographic data author Ioan M Lewis advocates an eclectic approach to anthropology He combines the strengths of British structural functionalism with the leading ideas of Marx Freud and Levi Strauss while utilizing the methods of historians political scientists and psychologists One of Lewis' particular concerns is to reveal how insights from traditional cultures illuminate what we take for granted in contemporary industrial and post industrial society He also shows how in the pluralist world in which we live those who study other cultures ultimately learn about themselves Social anthropology is thus shown to be as relevant today as it has been in the past

The Anthropologist's Muse I. M. Lewis, 1973 Perspectives of Mutual Encounters in South Asian History 1760-1860 Jamal Malik, 2000-07-18 Relationships between colonialists and the colonised peoples are often ambivalent but always fascinating This edited volume explores the issues of cultural reciprocity between Europeans and South Asians during the crucial period from 1760 to 1860 In doing so prevailing assumptions about these complex relationships are examined Part I examines a variety of themes in reciprocal encounter such as class structures urban landscape Anglo Muslim cooperation and debates on indigenous values Part II deals with the persons important to the process of reciprocity and discursive interdependence such as orientalist missionaries Indian travellers The texts in the last section focus on the changing and shifting identities thereby revealing the complexity and hybridity of the imperial process The book is based on rich biographical and chronological accounts narrative material and archival data both in occidental and oriental languages

Mediality on Trial Ehler Voss, 2020-09-21 This volume addresses controversies connected to the testing of the capacities and potentials of mediums Today we commonly associate the term medium with the technical communication between transmitters and receivers Yet this term likewise applies to those who cooperate with agencies that exceed the presumed domain of the material world Insofar as one presumes a division between distinctly opposed categories of religion and the secular technical media tend to be associated with the secular and human trance mediums tend to be associated with religion after 1900 This volume concerns the ways in which the term medium still marks an overlapping of and thus problematizes the aforementioned division between religion and the secular the personal and the technological The term medium carries with it a seed of doubt that is itself inseparable from investment in the medium's power insofar as they communicate with an other realm mediums offer the hope and promise of new possibilities and improved efficiency and thus of a better life yet they have simultaneously been under suspicion of altering or even inventing the messages they communicate It is due to this combination of promise and suspicion that mediumism has tended to evoke scientific religious and moral controversies Thus we can speak of a mediumistic trial that is a process in which a medium is put to the test concerning its potentials and trustworthiness Around 1800 experts were asked if a modern secular institution would be capable of inspiring domesticating or excluding trance mediumship This question has stayed with us ever since and the answers have remained inconclusive That is why the past and present of mediumship may be asked to elucidate each other

The Anthropologist as Writer Helena Wulff, 2016-03-01 Writing is crucial to anthropology but which genres are anthropologists expected to master in the 21st century This book explores how anthropological writing shapes the intellectual content of the discipline and academic careers First chapters identify the different writing genres and contexts anthropologists actually engage with Second this book argues for the usefulness and necessity of taking seriously the idea of writing as a craft and of writing across and within genres in new ways Although academic writing is an anthropologist's primary genre they also write in many others from drafting administrative texts and filing reports to composing ethnographically inspired journalism and fiction

The Muses on Their Lunch Hour Marjorie Garber, 2016-12-01 Witty shrewd and imaginative essays on interdisciplinary topics from Shakespeare to psychoanalysis and the practice of higher education today Publishers Weekly As a break from their ordained labors what might the Muses do on their lunch hour today This collection of essays uses these figures of ancient legend to explore such modern day topics as the curious return of myth and ritual in the theories of evolutionary psychologists and much more Two themes emerge consistently The first is that to predict the next big thing in literary studies we should look back at ideas and practices set aside by a previous generation of critics In the past several decades we have seen the reemergence of for example textual editing biography character criticism aesthetics and philology as hot new areas for critical intervention The second theme expands on this observation making the case for cultural forgetting as the way the arts and humanities renew themselves both within fields and across them Although she is never represented in traditional paintings or poetry a missing Muse we can call her Amnesia turns out to be a key figure for the creation of theory and criticism in the arts

Turning Points in

Qualitative Research Yvonna S. Lincoln, Norman K. Denzin, 2004-09-08 This is a book of signposts of key turning points of Gregory Bateson's knots tied in a handkerchief. Each article reproduced in this volume edited by leading qualitative methodologists Lincoln and Denzin represents one of these turning points in qualitative research: a revolution in the way research is conceptualized and practiced. Authority, representation, legitimation, ethics, methods, presentation, even the purpose of qualitative research have all been transformed by these articles and the authors who penned them. Bringing together the work of scholars from Haraway to Geertz, Mead to Mishler, Clifford to Conquergood, Laurel Richardson to Miles, Richardson the editors are able to trace the changes in the discipline over the past five decades. A necessary addition to the shelf of all researchers, it will also be a key textbook for training the next generation of scholars in the history and trajectory of qualitative research.

Anthropology and Autobiography Judith Okely, Helen Callaway, 1992-07-02 Anthropological writings by anthropologists in the field have long been a valuable tool to the profession. But until now the theoretical implications of its use have not been fully explored. Anthropology and Autobiography provides unique insights into the fieldwork autobiographical materials and/or textual critiques of anthropologists, many of whose ethnographies are already familiar. It considers the role of the anthropologist as fieldworker and writer, examining the ways in which nationality, age, gender, and personal history influence the anthropologist's behavior towards the individuals he is observing. This volume also contributes to debates about reflexivity and the political responsibility of the anthropologist who, as a participant, has traditionally made only stylized appearances in the academic text. The contributors examine their work among peoples in Africa, Japan, the Caribbean, Greece, Shetland, England, indigenous Australia, Indonesia, and Sri Lanka. Autobiography is developed alongside political, intellectual, and historical changes. The anthropologists confront and examine issues of racism, reciprocity, and friendships. Anthropology and Autobiography will appeal to anthropologists and social scientists interested in ethnographic approaches, the self, reflexivity, qualitative methodology, and the production of texts.

The Predicament of Culture James Clifford, 1988-05-18 The Predicament of Culture is a critical ethnography of the West in its changing relations with other societies. Analyzing cultural practices such as anthropology, travel, writing, collecting, and museum displays of tribal art, James Clifford shows authoritative accounts of other ways of life to be contingent fictions now actively contested in post-colonial contexts. His critique raises questions of global significance: Who has the authority to speak for any group's identity and authenticity? What are the essential elements and boundaries of a culture? How do self and the other clash in the encounters of ethnography, travel, and modern interethnic relations? In chapters devoted to the history of anthropology, Clifford discusses the work of Malinowski, Mead, Griaule, Lévi-Strauss, Turner, Geertz, and other influential scholars. He also explores the affinity of ethnography with avant-garde art and writing, recovering a subversive self-reflexive cultural criticism. The surrealists' encounters with Paris or New York, the work of Georges Bataille and Michel Leiris in the Collège de Sociologie, and the hybrid constructions of recent tribal artists offer provocative ethnographic examples that challenge familiar notions of difference.

and identity In an emerging global modernity the exotic is unexpectedly nearby the familiar strangely distanced The Good, the Bad, and the Beautiful B. Hallen, 2000 Hallen asks the Yoruba onisegun the wisest and most accomplished herbalists or traditional healers what it means to be good and beautiful The onisegun explain the subtleties and intricacies of Yoruba language use and philosophy behind particular word choices Their instructions reveal the depth of Yoruba aesthetics and ethics
