D. Kaplan, 2020-07-09 In his best selling travel memoir The Innocents Abroad Mark Twain punningly refers to the black man who introduces him to Venetian Renaissance painting as a contraband guide a term coined to describe fugitive slaves who assisted Union armies during the Civil War By means of this and similar case studies Paul H D Kaplan documents the ways in which American cultural encounters with Europe and its venerable artistic traditions influenced nineteenth century concepts of race in the United States Americans of the Civil War era were struck by the presence of people of color in European art and society and American artists and authors both black and white adapted and transformed European visual material to respond to the particular struggles over the identity of African Americans Taking up the work of both well and lesser known artists and writers such as the travel writings of Mark Twain and William Dean Howells the paintings of German American Emanuel Leutze the epistolary exchange between John Ruskin and Charles Eliot Norton newspaper essays written by Frederick Douglass and William J Wilson and the sculpture of freed slave Eugene Warburg Kaplan lays bare how racial attitudes expressed in mid nineteenth century American art were deeply inflected by European traditions By highlighting the contributions people of black African descent made to the fine arts in the United States during this period along with the ways in which they were represented Contraband Guides provides a fresh perspective on the theme of race in Civil War era American art It will appeal to art historians to specialists in African American studies and American studies and to general readers interested in American art and African American history

The Antonio II Badile Album of Drawings: The Origins of Collecting Drawings in Early Modern Northern Italy Evelyn Karet, 2017-07-05 Evelyn Karet's in depth study of the Antonio II Badile Album the earliest known example of an art collection pasted onto the pages of a book is both focused and broad in its appeal to those interested in the early modern era The provenance of the album is traced from its assemblage to the seventeenth century collection of Conte Lodovico Moscardo to its dismantling by the dealer Francis Matthiesen in the 1950s establishing that the volume conserved in the Frits Lugt Collection is not an original but a replica produced by Matthiesen Although Antonio II must be celebrated as the collector of the drawings new paleographic analysis has identified the actual compiler of the album after Antonio's death providing a terminus post quem in the late 1530s or early 1540s Karet enlarges the focus from the album itself to the historic tradition of collecting drawings in northern Italy in the early modern era before Vasari for which the album provides a new point of reference Throughout the book Karet discusses the Badile family examines the individual drawings in the book investigates the contacts between artists and humanists their rich diverse collections and the humanist mind set that fostered the appreciation of drawings She explores notable early drawing collections in northern Italy and the role of northern Italy as a center of collection in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries The book concludes with two appendices a reconstruction of the original album including a discussion of the reconstruction process suggestions about what the album originally looked like and a page by page guide to its contents and a detailed analysis of Francis Matthiesen's career This book opens up new areas of inquiry into an overlooked subject movements of the twentieth century and he was eventually forgotten This book now pays Breton the tribute that he deserves It traces the development of his career and the forces that influenced him from his childhood through his early training in Belgium and Paris to his years in Brittany The book presents and discusses a number of important paintings by Breton some of which have been almost unknown until now and it shows how they reflect the artist s social and humanitarian concerns as well as his painterly abilities
