Ransel,Bozena Shallcross,2005-06-15 At a time when Poland is emphasizing its distance from Russia Polish Encounters Russian Identity points to the historical ties and mutual influences of these two great Slavic peoples Whether Poland adopted a hostile or a friendly stance toward Russia the intense responses of Russian thinkers writers and political leaders to Poland and to Polish culture shaped Russians idea of themselves and their place in the world Countering the recent trend to deny the rich interactions between Russia and Poland this collection reminds readers that these longstanding if often difficult contacts constitute an important and enduring element in the consciousness of the peoples of both countries The contributors are Manon de Courten Megan Dixon Halina Goldberg Leonid Efremovich Gorizontov Irina Grudzinska Beth Holmgren Judith Deutsch Kornblatt Matthew Pauly Nina Perlina Robert Przygrodzki David L Ransel Bozena Shallcross Barbara Skinner and Andrzej Walicki The Jewish Persona in the European Imagination Leonid Livak,2010-09-10 This book proposes that the idea of the Jews in European cultures has little to do with actual Jews but rather is derived from the conception of Jews as Christianity's paradigmatic Other eternally reenacting their morally ambiguous New Testament role as the Christ bearing and killing chosen people of God Through new readings of canonical Russian literary texts by Gogol Turgenev Chekhov Babel and others the author argues that these European writers Christian secular and Jewish based their representation of Jews on the Christian exegetical tradition of anti Judaism Indeed Livak disputes the classification of some Jewish writers as belonging to Jewish literature arguing that such an approach obscures these writers debt to European literary traditions and their ambivalence about their Jewishness This work seeks to move the study of Russian literature and Russian Jewish literature in particular down a new path It will stir up controversy around Christian Jewish cultural interaction the representation of otherness in European arts and folklore modern Jewish experience and Russian literature and culture Reference Guide to Russian Literature Neil Cornwell,2013-12-02 First Published in 1998 This volume will surely be regarded as the standard guide to Russian literature for some considerable time to come It is therefore confidently recommended for addition to reference libraries be they academic or public The Art of Survival Peter Stine,2011-06-01 Essays on the works of Isaac Babel Ernest Hemingway Franz Kafka and Joseph Conrad in the context of revolution and war In the Shadow of King Saul Jerome Charyn,2018-08-28 Jerome Charyn is one of the most important writers in American literature Michael Chabon Whatever milieu Charyn chooses to inhabit his sentences are pure vernacular

Richard Freeborn, 1985-02-28 Professor Freeborn's book is an attempt to identify and define the evolution of a particular kind of novel in Russian and Soviet literature: the revolutionary novel. This genre is a uniquely Russian phenomenon and one that is of central importance in Russian literature. The study begins with a consideration of Turgenev's masterpiece Fathers and Children and traces the evolution of the revolutionary novel through to its most important development a century later in Pasternak's Doctor Zhivago and the emergence of a dissident literature in the Soviet Union. Professor Freeborn examines the particular phases of the genre's development and in particular the development after 1917: the early fiction which explored the relationship between revolution and instinct such as Pilnyak's The Naked Year; the first attempts at mythmaking in Leonov's The Badgers and Furmanov's Chapayev; the next phase in which novelists turned to the investigation of ideas exemplified most notably by Zamyatin's We; the resumption of the classical approach in such works as Olesha's Envy which explore the interaction between the individual and society; and finally the appearance of the revolutionary epic in Gorky's The Life of Klim Samgin, Sholokhov's Quiet Flows the Don and Alexey Tolstoy's The Road to Calvary. Professor Freeborn also examines the way this kind of novel has undergone change in response to revolutionary change and he shows how an important feature of this process has been the implicit assumption that the revolutionary novel is distinguished by its right to pass an objective independent judgement on revolution and the revolutionary image of man. This is a comprehensive and challenging study of a uniquely Russian tradition of writing which draws on a great range of novels, many of them little known in the West. As with other titles in this series, all quotations have been translated.
