Breathing Paris Erin Headley,2006-10 Shy artistic Margaret Braither inhabits a world of color created by her synesthesia Experiencing sounds and smells as colors is inspiring for an artist but it doesn't help her lead the normal existence her mother desires for her. Desperate to get away from her parents and become her own person, she seizes her opportunity to study art at the prestigious cole des Beaux Arts in Paris. While there, she struggles to adjust to a new culture but eventually finds a place for herself first through friendship and then through love. Just when she's learned to live fearlessly, everything crashes in on her and she must choose between mending her relationship and turning to the man who's loved her from afar. Facing her dilemma forces her to face herself as well as her troubled relationship with her mother, showing her that life like art requires perspective and grace.

Born and raised in California, Erin Headley fell in love with the French language and culture while in high school. She went on to major in French at Mills College, spending part of her junior year in Paris. She was fortunate enough to live with a French family as well as study Art History straight out of the museums, French Drama, and French Civilization. She kept a copious journal while there, which provided much of the background detail for her novel.

Letting Go of Self-Destructive Behaviors Lisa Ferentz, 2014-08-27

Letting Go of Self-Destructive Behaviors offers inspiring, hopeful creative resources for the millions of male and female adolescents and adults who struggle with eating disorders, addictions, any form of self-mutilation. It is also a workbook for the clinicians who treat them. Using journaling exercises, drawing, and collaging prompts, guided imagery, visualizations, and other behavioral techniques, readers will learn how to understand, compassionately work with, and heal from their behaviors rather than distracting from or fighting against them, which can dramatically reduce internal conflict and instill genuine hope. Techniques are provided in easy-to-follow exercises that focus on calming the body, containing overwhelming emotions, managing negative and distorted thoughts, re-grounding from flashbacks, addressing tension and anxiety, decreasing a sense of vulnerability, strengthening assertiveness and communication skills, and accessing inner wisdom. This workbook can be used in conjunction with Treating Self-Destructive Behaviors in Trauma Survivors 2nd ed. also by Lisa Ferentz to allow therapists and their clients to approach the behaviors from the same strengths-based perspective. Workbook exercises can be completed as homework assignments or as part of a therapy session. In either case, the client is given the opportunity to process their work and share their insights with a compassionate witness and trained professional, making the healing journey even safer and more rewarding.

The Breaths of a Soul Simone Malacrida, 2022-12-28

The central theme of Choice pervades a series of discourses that are timeless and not connected to precise spatial boundaries, constituting a journey through the human soul that oscillates from its beginning to its end in similar comparisons and dialogic antitheses. A single breath in which the existences of each of us are contained and which determines the very essence of life, an allegorical inner journey to discover what we have always been.
