REUNION BAND

"The Paris Reunion Band," said the press release that accompanied the sale of the inaugural millennium tour of the European jazz festival, "is one of the nicest things that has happened to jazz in ten decades."

An artist, this was not for extravagant acclaim, as witness the highly and successful reception accorded to the PRS in the Hague, Montreal, Antwerp, Brno, and other major jazz locations — not least Paris itself.

It is said that a good idea has many parents, while a good idea is always an orphan. What a vision was potentially of the PRS project. But I later discovered it could be so complex. It is one thing to dream a band — that's the easy part. The real involvement is in: 1. Recruiting the musicians from their respective cities, and 2. Getting them to agree to play together. I was not a musician, and I was not a manager, and I was not a promoter. I dreamt and recruited, but I had no money and no contacts. I was not a musician, and I was not a manager, and I was not a promoter. I dreamt and recruited, but I had no money and no contacts.

It was not possible to bring the musicians together. There were musicians ready to head the band, and there were not too many classes of musicians. As to musical compatibility — the performances on this of them equal to themselves.

The Paris Reunion Band came together in an endeavor to capture the spirit and soul of Paris in the studio — a endeavor that the jazz world had never considered. It was not possible to bring the musicians together. There were musicians ready to head the band, and there were not too many classes of musicians. As to musical compatibility — the performances on this of them equal to themselves.

STANLEY CLARKE, who had lived in Paris without since 1954, was only in the city for a few days in 1982. He was not a musician, and I was not a manager, and I was not a promoter. I dreamt and recruited, but I had no money and no contacts.

Sam McPeak Davis, "Klook was really the central inspiration of the Paris Jazz scene and was a great influence on me as a person, as well as in a number of ways."

Davis, who plays tenor saxophone, soprano and flute, always refers to the band as "my professional dream." Born in Durham, N.C., he attended Duke, 1951. Davis had been a professional musician since 1948 and had worked in the band of Joe McPhee, while studying at the University of Kansas. He had just been hired by the University of Kansas in 1954 and was in the U.S. Army in 1955 and his discharge in 1957 occurred in Europe. He lived in Paris from 1957 to 1962.

Nathan Davis is assistant professor of music and director of jazz studies at Pennsylvania State University, a 10-instrumentalist. In December 1962 he joined the band of the Blue Note with Woody Shaw and Woody Shaw. He joined the band of the Blue Note with Woody Shaw and Woody Shaw. and the Jazzland club on the Left Bank. Griffin is one of the supreme masters of the tenor saxophone.

Trumpeter WOODY SHAW, who hails from Laurinburg, North Carolina, came to Paris in the latter part of 1964 and teamed up with Nathan Davis, Larry Young, Jacky Kerezo and Billy Brooks to become resident band of the Club de Paris.

After playing extensively in Europe he returned to the States in 1965 and joined the legendary Blue Note. Since then he has worked with Herb Mann, Donald Byrd, Jackie McLean and Gil Evans, but mostly as leader of his own group. He is certainly one of the most gifted and versatile musicians in jazz. He was born in 1928 in Laurinburg, North Carolina, and moved to Paris in 1964. He was a member of the band of the Blue Note with Woody Shaw and Woody Shaw. He was a member of the band of the Blue Note with Woody Shaw and Woody Shaw.

Clayton Kopp, who had lived in Paris without since 1954, was only in the city for a few days in 1982. He was not a musician, and I was not a manager, and I was not a promoter. I dreamt and recruited, but I had no money and no contacts.

and Larry Young of the Club de Paris. He also played at the Blue Note, the Caribbean and the Club de Paris. In 1967 he moved to Spain and, after a period in Germany, settled in Berlin in 1972 and became a teacher at the Berlin Jazz School.

Brooks, in my opinion, is one of the four "revolutionaries" on this record. Griffin, Shaw, Davis and Hampton have been so widely recorded that their superlative musicianship comes as no surprise. But the cracking, high-energy involvement of Woody Shaw, the hugely muscular drumming of Billy Brooks, and the sophisticated saxophone and flute playing of Nathan Davis will be unsurpassed delights to those less familiar with their work than I. And as for James Brown Brooks: "I don't think I had ever heard him play with any group and combination. But then, he showed the PRS a band about the best band around currently."

All of which leaves little space to talk about the music. That's no great problem because the music doesn't really need a commercial from me. However, just a few background notes.

Klook's Theme, written and arranged by Nathan Davis, is a tribute to Woody Shaw, which was first played in 1965. David Live is a Woody Shaw composition and the first of many from the era of Woody Shaw. It is a composition and arrangement by Woody Shaw. It is a composition and arrangement by Woody Shaw.
