Romanticism Gendered Andrea Fischerová, 2020-11-09 This study focuses on the six writing men who have been throughout decades regarded as the alpha and omega of British Romanticism Byron Coleridge Keats Scott Shelley and Wordsworth It sees these men as a representative cohort of their time and examines their letters as results of a reading process Although letters are usually seen as additional sources of reference in literary studies in this book they are treated as the dominant information material correspondence enables to reconsider British Romanticism on the basis of the epistolary communication of the first half of the nineteenth century The target information from the letters are references to women writers and to their writings A detailed analysis of the correspondence manages to answer the question whether male Romantics regarded writing women as provoking from time to time as Duncan Wu assumes and whether the gender identity of the woman author influenced the way male readers read her literary works The examination of the correspondence thus takes a gendered perspective on British Romanticism This approach to the target research data discloses a long list of almost 120 names of women writers from different periods and of different literary genres Whereas the male readers in question have acquired a well established stable long term position within literary history the women were often marginalized even forgotten The study presents plentiful examples proving the discrepancies between what the twenty first century reader regards as the core of women s Romantic literary tradition and what the Romantic reader did The following women writers are discussed in the study in detail Susannah Centlivre Anne Finch Lady Winchelsea Ann Radcliffe Mary Robinson Felicia Hemans Mary Shelley Joanna Baillie Maria Edgeworth Maria Jane Jewsbury Catherine Grace Godwin and Emmeline Fisher

Reconceiving Nature PATRICIA MURPHY, 2019-03-28

Surprisingly glimmerings of ecofeminist theory that would emerge a century later can be detected in women's poetry of the late Victorian period. In Reconceiving Nature Patricia Murphy examines the work of six ecofeminist poets: Augusta Webster, Mathilde Blind, Michael Field, Alice Meynell, Constance Naden, and L. S. Bevington, who contested the exploitation of the natural world. Challenging prevalent assumptions that nature is inferior, rightly subordinated, and deservedly manipulated, these poets instead reconstructed nature.

Japanese Women Poets: An Anthology Hiroaki Sato, 2014-12-18 Throughout history Japanese women have excelled in poetry from the folk songs of the Kojiki Record of Ancient Matters compiled in 712 and the court poetry of the 9th to the 14th centuries on through the age of haikai and kanshi to the 19th century into the contemporary period when books of women's poems have created a sensation. This anthology presents examples of the work of more than 100 Japanese women poets arranged chronologically and of all the major verse forms: choka, tanka, haikai, haiku, kanshi, verse written in Chinese, and free verse. The poems describe not just seasonal changes and the vagaries of love, which form the thematic core of traditional Japanese poetry, but also the devastations of war, childbirth, conflicts between child-rearing and work experiences, as refugees, experiences as non-Japanese residents in Japan, and more. Sections of poetry open with headnotes, and the editor has provided explanations of terms and references for those unfamiliar with the Japanese language. Other useful tools include a glossary of poetic terms, a chronology, and a bibliography that points the reader toward other works by and about these poets. There is no comparable collection available in English. Students and anyone who appreciates poetry and Japanese culture will treasure this magnificent anthology. Editor and translator Hiroaki Sato is a past winner of the PEN America translator prize and the Japan United States Friendship Commission's 1999 literary translation award.

Elizabeth Jennings Dana Greene, 2018-06-12 Elizabeth Jennings was one of the most popular, prolific, and widely anthologized lyric poets in the second half of the twentieth century. This first biography, based on extensive archival research and interviews with Jennings's contemporaries, integrates her life and work and explores the inward war the poet experienced as a result of her gender, religion, and mental fragility. Originally associated with the Movement, Jennings was sui generis, believing poetry was communication and communion. She wrote of nature, friendship, childhood, religion, love, and art, endearing her to a wide audience. Yet lifelong depression, unbearable loneliness, unrelenting fears, poverty, and physical illness plagued her. These were exacerbated by her gender in a male-dominated literary world and an inherited Catholic worldview which initially inculcated guilt and shame. However, a tenacious drive to be a poet made her the most unconditionally loved writer of her generation. Although her claim was that the poem is not the poet, her life is tracked in her voluminous published and unpublished poetry and prose. The themes of mental illness, the importance of place, the problems associated with being an unmarried woman artist, her relationship with literary mentors and younger poets, her non-feminist feminism, and her marginality and sympathy for the outcast are all explored. It was poetry which saved her; it helped her push back darkness and discover order in the midst of chaos. Poetry was her raison d'être. It was her life.

Poetry Off the Page Laura

Severin,2017-03-02 This study examines the performed poetry of Charlotte Mew Anna Wickham Edith Sitwell Stevie Smith Liz Lochhead and Jackie Kay as an alternative radical tradition of British poetry developed to convey women s experience Through a historical treatment in which the poets are discussed in pairs the chapters trace how these six women used a performative poetry to deal with difficulties regarding women s representation from simply presenting difference in the case of Mew and Wickham to deconstructing difference in the case of Sitwell and Smith to avoiding the recapture of cultural imagery in the case of Lochhead and Kay Laura Severin claims that twentieth century British women poets have been neglected by both feminist and more traditional literary critics because they cannot be read within available literary frameworks Feminist criticism in particular has overlooked the value of other poetic ancestries by locating the only radical tradition of modern poetry in fractured form At least one alternative radical tradition can be found in a narrative and performed poetry that maximizes its transgressive potential with multiple framing devices Though a female poet always experiences difficulty in controlling both cultural imagery and her own public presentation these framing devices work together both to deconstruct the essentialized category of woman and to recover the multiplicity of women s experience
