The Rhetoric of Heroic Expectations Justin S. Vaughn, Jennifer Mercieca, 2014-02-15 Campaign rhetoric helps candidates to get elected but its effects last well beyond the counting of the ballots this was perhaps never truer than in Barack Obama's 2008 campaign Did Obama create such high expectations that they actually hindered his ability to enact his agenda Should we judge his performance by the scale of the expectations his rhetoric generated or against some other standard The Rhetoric of Heroic Expectations Establishing the Obama Presidency grapples with these and other important questions Barack Obama's election seemed to many to fulfill Martin Luther King Jr's vision of the long arc of the moral universe bending toward justice And after the terrorism war and economic downturn of the previous decade candidate Obama's rhetoric cast broad visions of a change in the direction of American life In these and other ways the election of 2008 presented an especially strong example of creating expectations that would shape the public's views of the incoming administration The public's high expectations in turn become a part of any president's burden upon assuming office The interdisciplinary scholars who have contributed to this volume focus their analysis upon three kinds of presidential burdens institutional burdens specific to the office of the presidency contextual burdens specific to the historical moment within which the president assumes office and personal burdens specific to the individual who becomes president

Kriner, 2025-02-25 A thorough reassessment of how domestic factors do and do not constrain the use of American military force abroad in the early twenty first century More than two decades have passed since the September 11th terrorist attacks resuscitated debates about the imperial presidency within the United States During that same time the United States has fought costly and inconclusive wars in Iraq and Afghanistan pivoted to the Pacific to counter China and pulled its gaze back to Europe and the Middle East in response to wars in Ukraine and Gaza Moreover new technologies and ways of funding and staffing wars have made the costs of war less visible to the public while polarization has increased and a new legal doctrine of presidential power has gained force Against this backdrop Checking the Costs of War reassesses how domestic factors have both constrained and failed to constrain the use of military power across different contexts and over time Richly empirical chapters explore the varying effects of different kinds of potential checks legislative public opinion and bureaucratic Collectively chapters offer new insight into the prospects for war and peace today

Presidentialism, Parliamentarism, and Democracy

Jose Antonio Cheibub, 2007 This book questions the reasons why presidential democracies more likely to break down than parliamentary ones

The Chain of

Representation Brian F. Crisp, Santiago Olivella, Guillermo Rosas, 2020-03-19 How do formal institutions affect the extent to which democracies adopt policies that reflect the preferences of their citizens Based on a chain of representation model in which electoral rules and policy making powers link citizens politicians and policies this book reveals the conditions under which citizen preferences and implemented policies diverge Comparative quantitative analyses encompassing eighteen Latin American countries show that presidential democracies vary greatly in the degree to which they demonstrate responsiveness to their electorates Often individual presidents with strong legislative powers have prompted policy changes that are unrepresentative of voter preferences Other times their interactions with legislatures result in more representative policies

Grounded in clear theory and thorough empirics this study shows how rules can introduce dissonance between voters and politicians but also how they can potentially reduce it This is an excellent resource for scholars and graduate students interested in comparative politics institutional design economic policy and Latin American studies

Coalition Governance in Central Eastern Europe Torbjörn Bergman, Gabriella Ilonszki, Wolfgang C. Müller, 2019-12-12 Coalition government among different political parties is the way most European democracies are governed Traditionally the study of coalition politics has been focused on Western Europe Coalition governance in Central Eastern Europe brings the study of the full coalition life cycle to a region that has undergone tremendous political transformation but which has not been studied from this perspective The volume covers Bulgaria Estonia the Czech Republic Latvia Lithuania Hungary Poland Romania Slovakia and Slovenia It provides information and analyses of the coalition life cycle from pre electoral alliances to coalition formation and portfolio distribution governing in coalitions the stages that eventually lead to government termination and the electoral performance of coalition parties In Central Eastern Europe few single party cabinets form and there have been only a few early elections The evidence provided shows that coalition partners in the region write formal agreements coalition agreements to an extent that is similar to the patterns that we find in Western Europe but also that they adhere less closely to these contracts While the research on Western Europe tends to stress that coalition partners emphasize coalition compromise and mutual supervision there is more evidence of ministerial government by individual ministers and their parties There are also some systems where coalition governance is heavily dominated by the prime minister No previous study has covered the full coalition life cycle in all of the ten countries with as much detail Systematic information is presented in 10 figures and in more than one hundred tables Comparative Politics is a series for researchers teachers and students of political science that deals with contemporary government and politics Global in scope books in the series are characterised by a stress on comparative analysis and strong methodological rigour The series is published in association with the European Consortium for Political Research For more information visit www.ecprnet.eu The series is edited by Emilie van Haute Professor of Political Science Universit libre de Bruxelles Ferdinand M ller Rommel Director of the Center for the Study of Democracy Leuphana University and Susan Scarrow John and Rebecca Moores Professor of Political Science University of Houston
