David L. Weisbrod, University of North Carolina

James J. Heckman, University of Michigan

Abstract: This paper reviews the literature on the estimation of the value of a statistical life (VSL). The literature is divided into two main categories: (1) the estimation of the VSL from the willingness to pay for risk reduction, and (2) the estimation of the VSL from the willingness to accept compensation for risk. The paper discusses the strengths and weaknesses of each approach and provides a summary of the current state of the literature.
