Journal of Health, Physical Education, Recreation ,1963 Research in Education ,1973 Evaluating Student Learning Outcomes in Counselor Education Casey A. Barrio Minton,Donna M. Gibson,Carrie A. Wachter Morris,2016-04-14 This timely text describes the role of program evaluation in counselor education and provides step by step guidance for faculty seeking to develop comprehensive Student Learning Outcome SLO evaluation plans to meet accountability expectations It serves as a blueprint for demystifying the SLO process and making the switch from an input based measure of productivity that focuses on what counseling programs do to an outcome based approach that concentrates on the quality of learning through evidence based assessment of students knowledge and skills The first and second parts of the book lay the foundation for the SLO process and provide practical guidance for identifying and developing direct and indirect measures of student learning Part III offers strategies for creating measures collecting managing and reporting student data and using data to ensure competence In Part IV counselor educators across the country offer hands on application through a wide variety of SLO activities and rubrics linked to each of the curricular and specialty areas of the 2016 CACREP Standards Requests for digital versions from ACA can be found on www.wiley.com To purchase print copies please visit the ACA website Reproduction requests for material from books published by ACA should be directed to publications counseling.org Student Counseling Richard Henry Edwards,Ernest Ropiequet Hilgard,1928

Counseling the College Student Helen Dalton Bragdon,1929 Personality Assessment in Treatment Planning James Butcher,Julia N. Perry,2008-03-20 The establishment of frank and honest communication is one of the most important early goals of psychotherapy Indeed the most prominent challenge in the early stages of treatment is to develop a comfortable relationship that allows disclosure In this volume the authors show that objectively interpreted personality measures can be applied in psychotherapeutic assessments to facilitate an understanding of the patient and a thriving treatment program Successful psychotherapy depends upon an early understanding of the patient's problems and personality and the establishment of attainable treatment goals The extensive accumulated base of knowledge about personality and its maladjustment has become crucial when making treatment decisions about individuals in psychotherapy and the field of personality assessment provides both methods and substantive information to support treatment oriented evaluation The MMPI has a long tradition of providing personality information about clients in mental health settings since the 1940s James Butcher participated in the creation of the Minnesota Multiphasic Personality Inventory MMPI 2 in 1989 which has continued to be one of the most commonly used personality tests in clinical evaluation Over a thousand studies have been conducted on the effectiveness of the MMPI in treatment related assessments Here Butcher and co author Julia Perry explore the MMPI 2 as well as a new assessment tool the Butcher Treatment Planning Inventory BTPI In using psychological evaluation techniques for treatment planning many clinicians incorporate information from a broad base of instruments clinical interview projective testing behavioral data and personal history and do not rely on data from a single source Therefore while this volume focuses on the use of the MMPI 2 and the BTPI in treatment planning it will provide a context not to the exclusion of other measures
