Stoll, 2013-05-14 Between 1975 and 2007 the American incarceration rate increased nearly fivefold a historic increase that puts the United States in a league of its own among advanced economies We incarcerate more people today than we ever have and we stand out as the nation that most frequently uses incarceration to punish those who break the law What factors explain the dramatic rise in incarceration rates in such a short period of time In Why Are So Many Americans in Prison Steven Raphael and Michael A Stoll analyze the shocking expansion of America's prison system and illustrate the pressing need to rethink mass incarceration in this country Raphael and Stoll carefully evaluate changes in crime patterns enforcement practices and sentencing laws to reach a sobering conclusion So many Americans are in prison today because we have chosen through our public policies to put them there They dispel the notion that a rise in crime rates fueled the incarceration surge in fact crime rates have steadily declined to all time lows There is also little evidence for other factors commonly offered to explain the prison boom such as the deinstitutionalization of the mentally ill since the 1950s changing demographics or the crack cocaine epidemic By contrast Raphael and Stoll demonstrate that legislative changes to a relatively small set of sentencing policies explain nearly all prison growth since the 1980s So called tough on crime laws including mandatory minimum penalties and repeat offender statutes have increased the propensity to punish more offenders with lengthier prison sentences Raphael and Stoll argue that the high incarceration regime has inflicted broad social costs particularly among minority communities who form a disproportionate share of the incarcerated population Why Are So Many Americans in Prison ends with a powerful plea to consider alternative crime control strategies such as expanded policing drug court programs and sentencing law reform which together can end our addiction to incarceration and still preserve public safety As states confront the budgetary and social costs of the incarceration boom Why Are So Many Americans in Prison provides a revealing and accessible guide to the policies that created the era of mass incarceration and what we can do now to end it

Special Studies of Our Nation's Students George W. Mayeske, Albert E. Beaton, 1975 School Resegregation John Charles Boger, Gary Orfield, 2009-11-13 Confronting a reality that many policy makers would prefer to ignore contributors to this volume offer the latest information on the trend toward the racial and socioeconomic resegregation of southern schools In the region that has achieved more widespread public school integration than any other since 1970 resegregation combined with resource inequities and the current accountability movement is now bringing public education in the South to a critical crossroads In thirteen essays leading thinkers in the field of race and public education present not only the latest data and statistics on the trend toward resegregation but also legal and policy analysis of why these trends are accelerating how they are harmful and what can be done to counter them What is at stake is the quality of education available to both white and nonwhite students they argue This volume will help educators policy makers and concerned citizens begin a much needed dialogue about how America can best educate its increasingly multiethnic student population in the twenty first century Contributors Karen E Banks Wake County Public School System Raleigh N C John Charles Boger University of North Carolina School of Law Erwin Chemerinsky Duke Law School Charles T Clotfelter Duke University Susan Leigh Flinspach University of California Santa Cruz Erica Frankenberg Harvard Graduate School of Education Catherine E Freeman U S Department of Education Jay P Heubert Teachers College Columbia University Jennifer Jellison Holme University of California Los Angeles Michal Kurlaender Harvard Graduate School of Education Helen F Ladd Duke University Luis M Laosa Kingston N J Jacinta S Ma U S Equal Employment Opportunity Commission Roslyn Arlin Mickelson University of North Carolina at Charlotte Gary Orfield Harvard Graduate School of Education Gregory J Palardy University of Georgia John A Powell Ohio State University
