The Anthropological Imagination:

The Anthropological Imagination in Latin American Literature Amy Fass Emery, 1996 Emery develops the concept of an anthropological imagination that is the conjunction of anthropology and fiction in twentieth century Latin American literature Emery also gives consideration to documentary and testimonial writings The Anthropological Imagination Muriel Dimen, 1977 Europe in the Anthropological Imagination Susan Parman, 1998 Europe in the Anthropological Imagination is a provocative reflective book about how American anthropologists study Europe The book is composed of fourteen essays by twelve anthropologists who have worked in Europe for at least twenty years These anthropologists were asked to address how when where and why they began to study Europe and to consider what this implied for the development of anthropology in general since anthropology is traditionally identified as a field that studies the non western exotic Other Back cover

Writing the Other Amy F. Emery, 1994 Disgust and the Anthropological Imagination Deborah Durham, 2011

Humanity's Last Stand Mark Schuller, 2021-01-15 Foreword by Cynthia McKinney Introduction Careening toward extinction We're all in this together Dismantling white supremacy Climate justice versus the anthropocene Humanity on the move justice and migration Dismantling the ivory tower The Anthropological Field on the Margins of Europe, 1945-1991 Aleksandar Boskovic, Chris Hann, 2013 The social lives of the peoples of the Balkans have long stimulated the imaginations of their northern European neighbors These peoples and places have anthropological traditions of their own shaped initially by nationalist movements and later by socialism and other political constraints From an anthropological perspective this book explores the region between Greece and Slovenia when political pressures were strongest in the era of the Cold War Yet the environments were by no means uniformly repressive The study provides indispensable insights for new generations pursuing innovative research agendas in this region in the new century It raises deeper issues about the boundaries and substance of the anthropological endeavor Series Halle Studies in the Anthropology of Eurasia Vol 29 A Passage to Anthropology Kirsten Hastrup, 2013-04-15 The postmodernist critique of Objectivism Realism and Essentialism has somewhat shattered the foundations of anthropology seriously questioning the legitimacy of studying others By confronting the critique and turning it into a vital part of the anthropological debate A Passage to Anthropology provides a rigorous discussion of central theoretical problems in anthropology that will find a readership in the social sciences and the humanities It makes the case for a renewed and invigorated scholarly anthropology with extensive reference to recent anthropological debates in Europe and the US as well as to new developments in linguistic theory and especially newer American philosophy Although the style of the work is mainly theoretical the author illustrates the points by referring to her own fieldwork conducted in Iceland A Passage to Anthropology will be of interest to students in anthropology sociology and cultural studies The Cambridge Handbook for the Anthropology of Gender and Sexuality Cecilia McCallum, Silvia Posocco, Martin Fotta, 2023-10-19 The tense but enduring engagement between anthropology and gender and sexuality studies has had profound effects upon anthropological theory and practice Bringing together contributions from an international team of authors this Handbook shows that anthropological work has taken inspiration from feminist and LGBTQI movements to create a transformative body of research It provides an accessible state of the art overview of the anthropology of gender and sexuality whilst also documenting its historical emergence highlighting the varied impact gender and sexuality studies have had on anthropological theory It is split into five parts with each chapter introducing a contemporary anthropological theory through in depth ethnographical discussion It features intersectional black and indigenous authors providing a forum for established and emerging voices to gesture towards futures of anthropology of gender and sexuality Authoritative and cutting edge it is essential reading for researchers and students in anthropology and will set the agenda for future research in the field

The Routledge Handbook of the Anthropology of Labor Sharryn Kasmir, Lesley Gill, 2022-06-01 The Routledge Handbook of the Anthropology of Labor offers a cross cultural examination of labor around the world and presents the breadth of a growing and vital subfield of anthropology As we enter a new crisis ridden age some laboring people are protected while others face impoverishment and death as they work in unsafe conditions migrate to gain livelihoods languish in the unwaged sector and become targets of law enforcement The contributions to this volume address questions surrounding the categorization and visibility of work the relationship of labor to the state and how divisions of labor map onto racial gendered sexual and national inequalities In addition to the emotional dimensions and subjectivities of labor the book also examines how laborers can articulate common experiences and identities build organizational forms and claim power together Bringing together the work of an impressive group of international scholars this Handbook is essential for anthropologists with an interest in labor and political economy as well as useful for scholars and students in related fields such as sociology and geography

Reimagining Rapport Zane Goebel, 2021 To do ethnography a researcher must have rapport with research subjects But what is rapport Ethnography and ethnographic methods have increasingly become a feature of social inquiry in general and sociolinguistics in particular and rapport is generally considered a prerequisite for fieldwork And yet unlike related terms such as communication and phatic communion this concept has remained largely unexamined Reimagining Rapport turns a critical eye to the use of the term rapport across disciplines The collection analyzes the very idea of rapport both exploring how it has been shaped by historical forces and actors within sociocultural anthropology and questioning its usefulness. Rather than viewing the term as simply denoting a type of positive social relationship that needs to be formed between researcher and consultant before research can begin, this book invites us to reimagine rapport theoretically, methodologically, and meta-methodologically. Zane Goebel and other leading sociolinguists challenge readers to think about how rapport has been constructed within these disciplines and ultimately to see rapport as an emergent, co-constructed social relationship that is actively built during situated, multimodal encounters. The contributors collectively examine the role of ideology and mediation in the construction of rapport and argue that reconceptualizing research subject relationships is essential for establishing more sophisticated ways of understanding, interpreting, and representing research context. A valuable resource for scholars and students of sociolinguistics and linguistic anthropology, as well as for others engaged in ethnographic fieldwork, Reimagining Rapport is the first collection to provide an in-depth investigation of this critically important but previously unexamined concept.

Berlin, Alexanderplatz Gisa Weszkalnys, 2010. Presents multiple perspectives with a clear focus, enabling the reader to apprehend a complex, consequential, and always transforming site as the nexus of multiple views, values, experiences, and hopes. Smart, deeply researched, interpretively sophisticated, without being overburdened by theory, this is a real contribution to an anthropology of urban sites and life. Don Brenneis, University of California Santa Cruz.

A Companion to the Anthropology of Religion Janice Boddy, Michael Lambek, 2015-12-14. A Companion to the Anthropology of Religion presents a collection of original, ethnographically informed essays that explore the variety of beliefs, practices, and religious experiences in the contemporary world and asks how to think about religion as a subject of anthropological inquiry. Presents a collection of original, ethnographically informed essays exploring the wide variety of beliefs, practices, and religious experiences in the contemporary world. Explores a broad range of topics including the perspectivism debate, the rise of religious nationalism, reflections on religion and new media, religion and politics, and ideas of self and gender in relation to religious belief. Includes examples drawn from different religious traditions and from several regions of the world. Features newly commissioned articles reflecting the most up-to-date research and critical thinking in the field, written by an international team of leading scholars. Adds immeasurably to our understanding of the complex relationships between religion, culture, society, and the individual in today's world.

The SAGE Handbook of Social Anthropology Richard Fardon, Oliva Harris, Trevor H. J. Marchand, Cris Shore, Veronica Strang, Richard Wilson, Mark Nuttall, 2012-07-25. In two volumes, the SAGE Handbook of Social Anthropology provides the definitive overview of contemporary research in the discipline.
