The Archaeology of the Sapsuk River, Alaska Herbert D. G. Maschner, 2010 Bioarchaeology of Frontiers and Borderlands Cristina I. Tica, Debra L. Martin, 2019-08-21 Bioarchaeology of Frontiers and Borderlands presents a series of cases addressing how living on or interacting with the frontier can affect health and socioeconomic status The goal is to explore how people in the past might have maintained created or manipulated their identity while living in a place of liminality stuck in between worlds The zone of in betweenness of demarcation between two or more spheres of influence is a very dynamic and potentially violent place This book aims to explore how different groups stuck in these zones were affected how they interacted with the different worlds and how they lived their lives on the edge Mediterranean Families in Antiquity Sabine R. Huebner, Geoffrey Nathan, 2016-08-23 This comprehensive study of families in the Mediterranean world spans the Bronze Age through Late Antiquity and looks at families and households in various ancient societies inhabiting the regions around the Mediterranean Sea in an attempt to break down artificial boundaries between academic disciplines

The Ionian Islands in the Bronze Age and Early Iron Age Christina Souyoudzoglou-Haywood, 2025-08-05 The central Ionian Islands occupy a special geographical position in the eastern Mediterranean On the one hand they face and are in close proximity to the western Greek mainland and on the other they are connected with the western Balkans and the central Mediterranean through the Ionian and Adriatic seas Although with the exception of Corfu they were integrated in the Aegean cultural sphere of influence throughout the Bronze Age and Early Iron Age their marginal position and insularity also contributed to the formation of particular sociocultural identities individually and as a group On occasions these conditions also made them highly desirable as spaces for wide ranging maritime based interactions and inter cultural exchanges Culturally the islands remained above all a part of the western periphery of the Aegean world pulsing to its major changes and upheavals In the twenty years since the first edition of The Ionian Islands in the Bronze Age and Early Iron Age came out there has been a significant surge of interest in peripheries and their role in the construction of cultural and historical narratives about Greece over the centuries Yet the Ionian Islands have by and large been left behind in these discussions This fully revised second edition of the book incorporates all the recent discoveries and studies as well as updating a large part of the earlier evidence and aims to bring the islands back to the centre of debates and showcase their relevance The Archaeology of Market Capitalism Gaye Nayton, 2011-04-13 The area claimed by the British Empire as Western Australia was primarily colonized through two major thrusts the development of the Swan River Colony to the southwest in 1829 and the 1863 movement of Australian born settlers to colonize the northwest region The Western Australian story is overwhelmingly the story of the spread of market capitalism a narrative which is at the foundation of modern western world economy and culture Due to the timing of settlement in Western Australia there was a lack of older infrastructure patterns based on industrial capitalism to evoke geographical inertia to modify and deform the newer system in many ways making the systemic patterns which grew out of market capitalist forces clearer and easier to delineate than in older settlement areas However the struggle between the forces of market capitalism settlers and indigenous Australians over space labor physical and economic resources and power relationships are both unique to place and time and universal in allowing an understanding of how such complicated regional interregional and global forces shape a settler society Through an examination of historical records town layout and architecture landscape analysis excavation data and material culture analysis the author created a nuanced understanding of the social economic and cultural developments that took place during this dynamic period in Australian history In examining this complex settlement history the author employed several different research methodologies in parallel to create a comprehensive understanding of the area Her research techniques will be invaluable to researchers struggling to understand similarly complex sociocultural evolutions throughout the globe Migration and Mobility in the Ancient Near East and Egypt - the Crossroads IV Ludovica Bertolini, Jana Mynarova, Federico Zangani, 2024-06-15 Movement and mobility represent intertwined concepts that have persisted throughout human history The act of moving from one place to another is however intricately tied to the challenges that hinder it These obstacles can either be natural in origin or the product of human design aimed at constraining the movement of individuals or groups Furthermore movement and mobility can also manifest themselves within society encompassing the fluid shifts of people within the social hierarchy and the transitions between various social groups The transfer of words technologies and religious ideologies often accompanies these human movements The region of ancient Western Asia and northeast Africa serves as a rich repository of evidence for these forms of movement and mobility extensively documented through written sources and material culture The essays collected in this volume variously examine the political dimensions of movement and mobility how ideas concepts and languages move across boundaries and the material evidence for cultural interactions Handbook of Archaeological Theories R. Alexander Bentley, Herbert D. G. Maschner, Christopher Chippindale, 2009-09-16 This handbook a companion to the authoritative Handbook of Archaeological Methods gathers original authoritative articles from leading archaeologists on all aspects of the latest thinking about archaeological theory It is the definitive resource for understanding how to think about archaeology Resources, Power, and Interregional Interaction Edward M.

Schortman, Patricia A. Urban, 2013-03-09 Archaeological research on interregional interaction processes has recently reasserted itself after a long hiatus following the eclipse of diffusion studies This rebirth was marked not only by a sudden increase in publications that were focused on interaction questions but also by a diversity of perspectives on past contacts To perdurable interests in warfare were added trade studies by the late 1960s These viewpoints in turn were rapidly joined in the late 1970s by a wide range of intellectual schemes stimulated by developments in French Marxism referred to in various ways termed political ideology here and sociology Immanuel Wallerstein's world systems model Researchers ascribing to the aforementioned intellectual frameworks were united in their dissatisfaction with attempts to explain sociopolitical change that treated individual cultures or societies as isolated entities Only by reconstructing the complex intersocietal networks in which polities were integrated the natures of these ties who mediated the connections and the political economic and ideological significance of the goods and ideas that moved along them could adequate explanations of sociopolitical shifts be formulated Archaeologists seemed to be rediscovering in the late twentieth century the importance of interregional contacts in processes of sociopolitical change The diversity of perspectives that resulted seemed to be symptomatic of both an uncertainty of how best to approach this topic and the importance archaeologists attributed to it

Boundaries, Borders and Frontiers in Archaeology Bryan Feuer, 2016-02-17 Until fairly recently archaeological research has been directed primarily toward the centers of societies rather than their perimeters Yet frontiers and borders precisely because they are peripheral promote interaction between people of different polities and cultures with a wide range of potential outcomes Much work has begun to redress this disparity of focus Drawing on contemporary and ethnographic accounts historical data and archaeological evidence this book covers more than 30 years of research on boundaries borders and frontiers beginning with The Northern Mycenaean Border in Thessaly in 1983 The author discusses various theoretical and methodological issues concerning peripheries as they apply to the archaeological record Political economic social and cultural processes in border and frontier zones are described in detail Three case study societies are examined China Rome and Mycenaean Greece

Centuries of Decline during the Hohokam Classic Period at Pueblo Grande David R. Abbott, 2016-12-01 In the prehispanic Southwest Pueblo Grande was the site of the largest platform mound in the Phoenix basin and the most politically prominent village in the region It has long been held to represent the apex of Hohokam culture that designates the Classic period New data from major excavations in Phoenix however suggest that little was classic about the Classic period at Pueblo Grande These findings challenge views of Hohokam society that prevailed for most of the twentieth century suggesting that for Pueblo Grande it was a time of decline rather than prosperity a time marked by overpopulation environmental degradation resource shortage poor health and social disintegration During this period the

Hohokam in the lower Salt River Valley began a precipitous slide toward the eventual abandonment of a homeland that they had occupied for more than one thousand years This volume is a long awaited summary of one of the most important data recovery projects in Southwest archaeology synthesizing thousands of pages of data and text published in seven volumes of contract reports The authors all leading authorities in Hohokam archaeology who played primary roles in this revolution of understanding here craft a compelling argument for the eventual collapse of Hohokam society in the late fourteenth century as seen from one of the largest and seemingly most influential irrigation communities along the lower Salt River Drawing on extremely large and well preserved collections the book reveals startling evidence of a society in decline as reflected in catchment analysis archaeofaunal assemblage composition skeletal studies burial assemblages artifact exchange and ceramic production The volume also includes a valuable new summary of the archival reconstruction of the architectural sequence for the Pueblo Grande platform mound With its wealth of data interpretation and synthesis Centuries of Decline represents a milestone in our understanding of Hohokam culture It is a key reference for Southwest archaeologists who seek to understand the Hohokam collapse and a benchmark for anyone interested in the prehistory of Arizona

Archaeological Paleography Joshua D. Englehardt, 2016-01-22 This volume explores the development of the Maya writing system in Middle Late Formative and Early Classic period 700 BC AD 450 Mesoamerica

The Maya and Their Central American Neighbors Geoffrey E Braswell, 2014-04-16 The ancient Maya created one of the most studied and best known civilizations of the Americas Nevertheless Maya civilization is often considered either within a vacuum by sub region and according to modern political borders or with reference to the most important urban civilizations of central Mexico Seldom if ever are the Maya and their Central American neighbors of El Salvador and Honduras considered together despite the fact that they engaged in mutually beneficial trade intermarried and sometimes made war on each other The Maya and Their Central American Neighbors seeks to fill this lacuna by presenting original research on the archaeology of the whole of the Maya area from Yucatan to the Maya highlands of Guatemala western Honduras and El Salvador With a focus on settlement pattern analyses architectural studies and ceramic analyses this ground breaking book provides a broad view of this important relationship allowing readers to understand ancient perceptions about the natural and built environment the role of power the construction of historical narrative trade and exchange multiethnic interaction in pluralistic frontier zones the origins of settled agricultural life and the nature of systemic collapse

Carolina's Historical Landscapes Linda France Stine, 1997 Featuring contributions by leading scholars this book goes beyond conventional archaeological studies by placing the description and interpretation of specific sites in the wider context of the landscape that connects them to one another

Household Archaeology in Ancient Israel and Beyond Assaf Yasur-Landau, Jennie R. Ebeling, Laura B. Mazow, 2011-05-10 In this volume the theoretical and methodological approaches of household archaeology are applied to the rich data set of Bronze and Iron Age Israel providing an innovative construct for interpreting material culture and inciting

new avenues for future research Frontiers of the Roman Empire: The African Frontiers David J. Breeze, Sonja Jilek, David Mattingly, Alan Rushworth, Martin Sterry, Victoria Leitch, 2013-12-23 The Roman military remains in North Africa are remarkable in their variety and preservation They include towers and forts stretches of defensive lines of stone and earth with ditches broken by gates and roads sitting amidst amazing scenery Readers of this book will enjoy learning more about North Africa's remarkable Roman inheritance Cultural Encounters on Byzantium's Northern Frontier, c. AD 500–700 Andrei Gandila, 2018-10-25 Reinterpretation of the Danube frontier in Late Antiquity drawing on literary archaeological and numismatic sources Anthropology, 1986 The Construction of Value in the Ancient World John K. Papadopoulos, Gary Urton, 2012-12-31 Recipient of the Jo Anne Stolaroff Cotsen Prize Scholars from Aristotle to Marx and beyond have been fascinated by the question of what constitutes value The Construction of Value in the Ancient World makes a significant contribution to this ongoing inquiry bringing together in one comprehensive volume the perspectives of leading anthropologists archaeologists historians linguists philologists and sociologists on how value was created defined and expressed in a number of ancient societies around the world Based on the basic premise that value is a social construct defined by the cultural context in which it is situated the volume explores four overarching but closely interrelated themes place value body value object value and number value The questions raised and addressed are of central importance to archaeologists studying ancient civilizations How can we understand the value that might have been accorded to materials objects people places and patterns of action by those who produced or used the things that compose the human material record Taken as a whole the contributions to this volume demonstrate how the concept of value lies at the intersection of individual and collective tastes desires sentiments and attitudes that inform the ways people select or give priority to one thing over another
