The Archaeology of London Ralph Merrifield, 1974 Describes archaeological finds in the London area and their importance in reconstructing the history of the area from the first appearance of man to the seventh century A D The London Region Philippa Dolphin, Eric G. Grant, Edward Lewis, 1981 Major findings 1 Contaminants in water from one of every three drinking water wells sampled are a potential human health concern 2 Arsenic and uranium derived from geologic sources are potential drinking water concerns 3 Dissolved solids concentrations in groundwater are increasing in some areas 4 Artificial recharge and groundwater withdrawals are moving contaminants to deeper parts of basin fill aquifers The Archaeology of Greater London Trevor Brigham, 2000 It is nearly 25 years since the last major survey of the archaeology of the London region was written In that quarter century some of the most extraordinary evidence of our past has come to light a 9 000 year old hunting camp in Uxbridge a 2 mile long prehistoric bank and ditch cursus monument at Stanwell the spectacular Roman heart of the City the Saxon trading emporium on the Strand the largest medieval cemetery excavated in Europe at Spitalfields and Shakespeare s Rose Theatre at Bankside This book completed with the substantial support of English Heritage and the City of London Archaeological Trust represents the latest and most comprehensive attempt to place these treasures in their context It also draws together the knowledge of specialists and experts to provide a framework within which future archaeological discoveries and research may be considered The result is an accessible and fascinating insight into the rich diversity of human experience that has combined over the last half million years into the metropolis of Greater London today The Archaeology of Greater London is presented in 10 period based chapters with 13 accompanying full colour maps and an extensive bibliography and gazetteer of sites end finds The London Archaeologist, 1999

J. Fowler, 1983-07-07 Emphasizing past gains in knowledge from experimental aerial and field archaeology Dr Fowler demonstrates how the application of archaeological approaches to agrarian history has made the subject central to our understanding of the prehistoric period Emphasizing past gains in knowledge from experimental aerial and field archaeology Dr Fowler demonstrates how the application of archaeological approaches to agrarian history has made the subject central to our understanding of the prehistoric period British and Irish Archaeology, 1994 Comparative Archaeologies Ludomir R Lozny, 2011-04-06 Archaeology as with all of the social sciences has always been characterized by competing theoretical propositions based on diverse bodies of locally acquired data In order to fulfill local regional expectations different goals have been assigned to the practitioners of Archaeology in different regions These goals might be entrenched in local politics or social expectations behind cultural heritage research This comprehensive book explores regional archaeologies from a sociological perspective to identify and explain regional differences in archaeological practice as well as their existing similarities This work covers not only the currently dominant Anglo American archaeological paradigm but also Latin America Western and Eastern Europe Asia and Africa all of which have developed their own unique archaeological traditions The contributions in this work cover these alternative archaeologies in the context of their own geographical political and socio economic settings as well as the context of the currently accepted mainstream approaches A Crannog of the First Millennium, AD Anne Crone, Ewan Campbell, 2005 The early medieval crannog in Loch Glashan was excavated in 1960 by Jack Scott in advance of dam construction The crannog produced a rich organic assemblage of wood and leather objects as well as exotic items such as continental imported pottery and a brooch studded with amber This title examines all the evidence from the crannog Rock Art and Regional Identity Jamie Hampson, 2016-06-16 Why did the ancient artists create paintings and engravings What did the images mean This careful study of rock art motifs in the Trans Pecos area of Texas and a small area in South Africa demonstrates that there are archaeological and anthropological ways of accessing the past in order to investigate and explain the significance of rock art motifs Using two disparate regions shows the possibility of comparative rock art studies and highlights the importance of regional studies and regional variations This is an ideal resource for students and researchers The Archaeologist's Manual for Conservation Bradley A. Rodgers, 2007-05-08 This is a Foreword by an archaeologist not a conservator but as Brad Rodgers says Conservation has been steadily pulled from archaeology by the forces of specialization p 3 and he wants to remedy that situation through this manual He sees this work as a call to action for the non professional conservator permitting curators conservators and archaeologists to identify artifacts that need professional attention and allow these professionals to stabilize most artifacts in their own laboratories with minimal intervention using simple non toxic procedures p 5 It is the mission of Brad's manual to bring conservation back into archaeology p 6 The degree of success of that goal depends on the degree to which archaeologists pay attention to and put to use what Brad has to say because as he says The conservationist archaeologist is responsible to make preparation for an artifact's care even before it is excavated and after its storage into the foreseeable future a tremendous responsibility p 10 The manual is a combination of highly technical as well as common sense methods of conserving wood iron and other metals ceramics glass and stone organics and composites a far better guide to artifact conservation than was available to me when I first faced that archaeological challenge at colonial Brunswick Town North Carolina in 1958 a challenge still being faced by archaeologists today The stage of conservation in 1958 is in dramatic contrast to the procedures Brad describes in this manual conservation has indeed made great progress For instance a common procedure then was to heat the artifacts red hot in a furnace a method that made me cringe
