The Archaeology of York: The past environment of York York Archaeological Trust, 1976 The Archaeology of York: fasc. 1. The environmental evidence from the Church Street Roman Sewer System York Archaeological Trust, 1995 The Archaeology of York ,1976 The Archaeology of York ,1998 Archaeology of Food: An Encyclopedia Karen Bescherer Metheny, Mary C. Beaudry, 2015-08-07 What are the origins of agriculture In what ways have technological advances related to food affected human development How have food and foodways been used to create identity communicate meaning and organize society In this highly readable illustrated volume archaeologists and other scholars from across the globe explore these questions and more The Archaeology of Food offers more than 250 entries spanning geographic and temporal contexts and features recent discoveries alongside the results of decades of research The contributors provide overviews of current knowledge and theoretical perspectives raise key questions and delve into myriad scientific archaeological and material analyses to add depth to our understanding of food The encyclopedia serves as a reference for scholars and students in archaeology food studies and related disciplines as well as fascinating reading for culinary historians food writers and food and archaeology enthusiasts Trees in Anglo-Saxon England Della Hooke, 2010 Trees played a particularly important part in the rural economy of Anglo Saxon England both for wood and timber and as a wood pasture resource with hunting gaining a growing cultural role But they are also powerful icons in many pre Christian religions with a degree of tree symbolism found in Christian scripture too This wide ranging book explores both the real historical and archaeological evidence of trees and woodland and as they are depicted in Anglo Saxon literature and legend Place name and charter references cast light upon the distribution of particular tree species mapped here in detail for the first time and also reflect upon regional character in a period that was fundamental for the evolution of the present landscape Della Hooke is Honorary Fellow of the Institute for Advanced Research in Arts and Social Sciences at the University of Birmingham The Archaeology of York Allan Richard Hall, Harry Kenneth Kenward, 1990 Advances in Archaeological Method and Theory Michael B Schiffer, 2014-06-30 Advances in Archaeological Method and Theory Volume 11 is a collection of papers that discusses world systems theory modeling interregional interaction in prehistory and the archaeological analysis of ceramics Some papers review dating and weathering of inorganic materials strategies for paleo environmental reconstruction as well as deposits and depositional events One paper reviews the Old World state formation that occurred in West Asia during the fourth and third millennia B C Another paper examines the role of interactions among societies in the process of local social change and the need for archaeologists to develop a framework in which to analyze intersocietal interaction processes The presence of items such as ceramics is associated directly to factors of availability functions economic values or ethnic affiliation As an example one paper cites the use and misuse of English and American ceramics in archaeological analysis in identifying cultural patterns and human behavior Another paper notes that each biological or mechanical agent of transport and deposition has its own respective attributes on a deposit where the attributes of sedimentary particles on the deposit can be defined From such definitions the archaeologists can make observations and inferences Sociologists anthropologist ethnographers museum curators professional or amateur archaeologists and academicians studying historical antiquities will find the collection very useful Environmental Evidence from the Colonia Allan Richard Hall, Harry K. Kenward, 1990 The British Library General Catalogue of Printed Books 1976 to 1982 British Library, 1983 Star Carr Volume 2 Nicky Milner, Chantal Conneller, Barry Taylor, 2018-04-12 This second volume of Star Carr provides detail on specific areas of research around the Star Carr site one of the most important Mesolithic sites in Europe Discovered in the late 1940s by John Moore and then excavated by Grahame Clark from 1949 1951 the site is famous in the archaeological world for its wealth of rare organic remains including significant wooden artefacts The 2003 2015 excavations directed by Conneller Milner and Taylor explored how the site was used In use for around 800 years the Star Carr site is much larger and more complex than ever imagined This volume looks in detail at focused areas of research including wooden artefacts antler headaddresses structures environmental and climate change data plant and animal remains found at the site and sediment data Archaeology in British Towns Patrick Ottaway, 2005-08-12 Ottaway examines the crucial work of urban archaeologists over the past twenty five years Their work has revolutionized our knowledge of the early history of towns in Britain and the lives of their inhabitants Medieval Scandinavia Phillip Pulsiano, 1993 With full page maps and supplementary photos this encyclopedia covers every aspect of Scandinavia during the Middle Ages including rulers and saints overviews of the countries religion education politics and law culture and material life history literature and art Environment and Living Conditions at Two Anglo-Scandinavian Sites Allan Richard Hall, York Archaeological Trust, 1983 Archaeological Excavations Great Britain. Bailey, Jan Harff, Dimitris Sakellariou, 2017-05-16 This book focuses on issues of method and interpretation in studies of submerged landscapes concentrating on illustrations and case studies from around Europe with additional examples from other parts of the world Such landscapes were once exposed as dry land during the low sea levels that prevailed during the glacial periods that occupied most of the past million years and provided extensive new territories for human exploitation Their study today involves underwater investigation using techniques and strategies which are clearly set out in these chapters The underwater landscape provides a rich source of information about the archaeology of human settlement and long term changes in environment climate and sea level This book highlights how such information can be revealed and interpreted The examples presented here and the focus on techniques make this book of worldwide relevance Chapters describe examples of underwater archaeological investigation as well as collaboration with offshore industries and legal management and training issues relating to underwater cultural heritage Such studies point to the significance of this drowned landscape and readers are invited to consider its human impact in terms of past settlement and population dispersal through palaeolandscape reconstruction and interpretation in relation to broader themes in human prehistory This volume is based on work from COST Action SPLASHCOS a four year multi disciplinary and multi national research program supported by COST European Cooperation in Science and Technology and has something to benefit all those with an interest in the sea floor of the continental shelf and the archaeological and social impact of sea level change including archaeologists marine scientists geographers cultural heritage managers commercial and governmental organisations policy makers and interested members of the public
