The Architectural History Of Venice:

The Architectural History of Venice Deborah Howard, Sarah Quill, Laura Moretti, 2002-01-01 Overzicht van de Venetiaanse architectuur vanaf de stichting in de Romeinse tijd tot nu Artistic Practices and Cultural Transfer in Early Modern Italy Allison Sherman, 2017-07-05 For too long the centre of the Renaissance has been considered to be Rome and the art produced in or inspired by it This collection of essays dedicated to Deborah Howard brings together an impressive group of internationally recognised scholars of art and architecture to showcase both the diversity within and the porosity between the centre and periphery in Renaissance art Without abandoning Rome but together with other centres of art production the essays both shift their focus away from conventional categories and bring together recent trends in Renaissance studies notably a focus on cultural contact material culture and historiography They explore the material mechanisms for the transmission and evolution of ideas artistic training and networks as well as the dynamics of collaboration and exchange between artists theorists and patrons The chapters each with a wealth of groundbreaking research and previously unpublished documentary evidence as well as innovative methodologies reinterpret Italian art relating to canonical sites and artists such as Michelangelo Titian Tintoretto Veronese and Sebastiano del Piombo in addition to showcasing the work of several hitherto neglected architects painters and an inimitable engineer inventor The Music Room in Early Modern France and Italy Deborah Howard, Laura Moretti, 2012-06-14 This interdisciplinary book investigates spaces for music making in Early Modern France and Italy Spaces specifically designed for music began to appear in private dwellings While elite music making became more specialised through the employment of paid musicians music printing allowed new compositions to be diffused down the social scale A History of Venetian Architecture Ennio Concina, 1998 The history of Venetian architecture is no less remarkable than the history of that city itself and Ennio Concina's comprehensive survey draws on extensive original research on the city's cultural history to offer fresh insights and an energetic approach to the architecture Beginning with the traces of classical activity found in the territory which became ducal Venice to its establishment as an urba magna in the Byzantine age and the architectural glories of the Renaissance and Baroque city Concina discusses the influence of Venice's extraordinary position in history and geography on the architectural styles to be found there He overturns many long established theories on the development of the lagoon city and discusses the work of many of history's most famous architects Sansovino Sanmicheli Palladio Longhena bringing the story up to date with his examination of the twentieth century's attempts to expand the economy and preserve the city's heritage This lavishly produced title is a co edition with Electa Books Italy Paolo Veronese Richard Cocke, 2017-10-05 This title was first published in 2001 Paolo Veronese Piety and Display in an Age of Religious Reform examines the large body of religious paintings with which Veronese 1528 1588 played a crucial role in shaping Venetian piety With 117 illustrations 26 in colour Richard Cocke sets Veronese's work into context arguing his mastery of narrative has long been neglected largely as a result of Sir Joshua Reynolds's criticism in his Discourses The new expressiveness of Veronese's work in his final decade is linked with the decrees of the Council of Trent which resulted in an enhanced display of paintings in Venetian palaces during the 1570s matched by the renewed decorative schemes in the city's churches

Seapower States Andrew Lambert, 2018-11-27 A fascinating geopolitical chronicle A superb survey of the perennial opportunities and risks in what Herman Melville called the watery part of the world The Wall Street Journal In this volume one of the most eminent historians of our age investigates the extraordinary success of five small maritime states Andrew Lambert author of The Challenge Britain Against America in the Naval War of 1812 winner of the prestigious Anderson Medal turns his attention to Athens Carthage Venice the Dutch Republic and Britain examining how their identities as seapowers informed their actions and enabled them to achieve success disproportionate to their size Lambert demonstrates how creating maritime identities made these states more dynamic open and inclusive than their lumbering continental rivals Only when they forgot this aspect of their identity did these nations begin to decline Recognizing that the United States and China are modern naval powers rather than seapowers is essential to understanding current affairs as well as the long term trends in world history This volume is a highly original big think analysis of five states whose success and eventual failure is a subject of enduring interest by a scholar at the top of his game An intriguing series of stories of communities thinking seriously about how to stand their own ground when outpowered how to do so in ways that are consistent with their values and sometimes how to negotiate the descent from being a great power when the cards just aren't in their favor any more These are timely questions Times Higher Education Supplement Lambert is without a doubt the most insightful naval historian writing today The Times

Materiality and Architecture Sandra Loschke, 2016-03-17 Once regarded a secondary consideration in recent years materiality has emerged as a powerful concept in architectural discourse and practice Prompted in part by developments in digital fabrication and digital science the impact of materiality on design and practice is being widely reassessed and reimagined Materiality and Architecture extends architectural thinking beyond the confines of current design literatures to explore conceptions of materiality across the field of architecture Fourteen international contributors use elucidate the problems and possibilities of materiality based approaches in architecture from interdisciplinary perspectives The book includes contributions from the professions of architecture art architectural history theory and philosophy including essays from Gernot Böhme Jonathan Hill and Philip Ursprung Important immaterial aspects such as presentation agency ecology and concept are examined deepening our understanding of materiality's role in architectural processes the production of cultural identities the pursuit of political agendas and the staging of everyday environments and atmospheres In depth illustrated case studies examine works by Herzog de Meuron Zaha Hadid and Lacaton Vassal interspersed with visual essays and interviews with architects such as MVRDV providing a direct connection to practice Materiality and Architecture is an important read for researchers and students with an interest in architectural theory and related fields such as art art history or visual and cultural studies

Building Stone Decay European Geosciences Union. General Assembly, Geological Society of London, 2007 Stone buildings and monuments form the cultural centres of many of the world's urban areas. Frequently these areas are prone to high levels of atmospheric pollution that promote a variety of aggressive stone decay processes. Because of this, stone decay is now widely recognised as a severe threat to much of our cultural heritage. An interdisciplinary approach between geologists, environmental scientists, chemists, material scientists, civil engineers, restorers and architects aims to strengthen the knowledge base dealing with the causes, consequences, prevention and solution of stone decay problems. Culture and Society Nuala C. Johnson, 2018-01-18 Human geographers have been at the forefront of research that examines the relationships between space, culture and society. This volume contains twenty-one essays published over the past thirty years that are iconic instances of this investigative field. With a focus on four broad themes: landscape, identity, colonialism, nature, these essays represent some of the best and most innovative interventions that geographers have made on these topics. From the visual to the corporeal, from rural Ceylon to urban America and from the sixteenth century to the twenty-first, this volume brings together a set of theoretically sophisticated and empirically grounded works. John Ruskin and the Fabric of Architecture Anuradha Chatterjee, 2017-10-02 Through the theoretical lenses of dress studies, gender science and visual studies, this volume analyses the impact John Ruskin has had on architecture throughout the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. It explores Ruskin's different ideologies, such as the adorned wall, the veil, which were instrumental in bringing focus to structures that were previously unconsidered. John Ruskin and the Fabric of Architecture examines the ways in which Ruskin perceives the evolution of architecture through the idea that architecture is surface. The creative act in architecture, analogous to the divine act of creation, was viewed as a form of dressing. By adding highly aesthetic features to designs, taking inspiration from the veil of women's clothing, Ruskin believed that buildings could be transformed into meaningful architecture. This volume discusses the importance of Ruskin's surface theory and the myth of feminine architecture and additionally presents a competing theory of textile analogy in architecture based on morality and gender to counter Gottfried Semper's historicist perspective. This book would be beneficial to students and academics of architectural history and theory, gender studies and visual studies who wish to delve into Ruskin's theories and to further understand his capacity for thinking beyond the historical methods. The book will also be of interest to architectural practitioners, particularly Ruskin's theory of surface architecture. The Palladian Landscape: Geographical Change and Its Cultural Representations in Sixteenth-Century Italy, While the themes, sources and materials of The Palladian Landscape span a range of disciplinary interests from art and architectural studies, economic, social and environmental history to philosophy and Renaissance humanism, Denis Cosgrove seeks to provide a geographical interpretation of a region of northern Italy in the specific period of the late Renaissance. However, he goes much further, using the thoughts, designs and commissions of the architect Palladio as the central thread to weave a picture of a place, Venice, that is in a period of crisis as it seeks to survive a transition from a maritime power hinterland to a new land based terraferma As a cultural geographer he seeks to understand how groups come to terms with and transform their material environments and he therefore pays special attention to the intellectual forces and spiritual sensibilities that empower those groups as well as to the economic social and environmental constraints with which they have to contend Although these two broad realms of human experience are often studied separately Cosgrove brings them together in this study He uses the leitmotif of architecture and specifically the work of Andrea Palladio to describe a localized transformation of the natural world into a landscape of expression of cultural meaning Beyond this leitmotif the work adopts an essay structure in which each chapter stands somewhat separately as a spatial narrative It moves from the imperial city of Venice into its Italian territories and thence from city to rural landscape to specific country estates Having described localized transformations of urban and rural landscapes Cosgrove then expands the scale again to consider hydrological engineering in the Venetian territories and some of the techniques involved in surveying and mapping the landscape These return the reader to the more global view of a Venetian mentalit coming to terms with a changing geographical and historical world map      The Grove Encyclopedia of Medieval Art and Architecture Colum Hourihane, 2012 This volume offers unparalleled coverage of all aspects of art and architecture from medieval Western Europe from the 6th century to the early 16th century Drawing upon the expansive scholarship in the celebrated Grove Dictionary of Art and adding hundreds of new entries it offers students researchers and the general public a reliable up to date and convenient resource covering this field of major importance in the development of Western history and international art and architecture

The Lives of Paintings Elsje van Kessel, 2017-04-24 In sixteenth century Venice paintings were often treated as living beings As this book shows paintings attended dinner parties healed the sick made money and became involved in love affairs Presenting a range of case studies Elsje van Kessel offers a detailed examination of the agency paintings and other two dimensional images could exert This lifelike agency is not only connected to the seemingly naturalistic style of these images works by Titian Giorgione and their contemporaries illustrated here in over 150 plates It is also brought in relation to their social historical contexts meticulously unravelled through archival research Grounded in the theoretical literature on the agency of material things The Lives of Paintings contributes to Venetian studies as well as engaging with wider debates on the attribution of life and presence to images and objects      Architecture of Scotland, 1660-1750 Humm Louisa Humm, 2020-06-18 This architectural survey covers one of Scotland s most important periods of political and architectural change when mainstream European classicism became embedded as the cultural norm Interposed between the decline of the Scottish castle and its revival as Scotch Baronial architecture the contributors consider both private and public civic architecture They showcase the architectural reflections of a Scotland finding its new elites by providing new research analysing paradigms such as Holyrood and Hamilton Palace as well as external reference points such as Paris tenements Roman precedents and English parallels Typologically the book is broad in scope covering the architecture and design of country estate and also the urban scene in the era before Edinburgh New Town Steps decisively away from the Scottish castle genre of architecture Contextualises the work of Scotland's first well documented grouping of major architects including Sir William Bruce Mr James Smith James Gibbs and the Adam dynasty Documents the architectural developments of a transformational period in Scottish history Beautifully illustrated throughout with 300 colour illustrations a

The Development of Cities in Northern and Central Italy Paul N. Balchin, 2022-02-19 Originally published in 2019 this book provides a comprehensive account of a formative historical period uniquely describing Renaissance architecture as the physical manifestation of political and economic change The book illustrates how shifts in architectural style and design were paralleled with Northern and Central Italy's external and internal conflicts the evolution of urban and regional government and economic and demographic growth Covering the full extent of the Renaissance period Balchin charts the era's medieval roots and its transformation into Mannerist and Baroque tendencies He demonstrates how developments in architecture and planning were inextricably linked to political and economic power and how these relationships shifted from city to city over time

The Early Baroque Era Curtis Price, 1993-11-09 Dalmatia and the Mediterranean Alina Payne, 2014-01-23 Using the Braudelian concept of the Mediterranean this volume focuses on the condition of coastal exchanges involving the Dalmatian littoral and its Adriatic and more distant maritime network Spalato and Ragusa intersect with Constantinople Cairo and Spanish Naples just as Sinan Palladio and Robert Adam cross paths in this liquid expanse Concentrating on materiality and on the arts architecture in particular the authors identify portability and hybridity as characteristic of these exchanges and tease out expected and unexpected serendipitous moments when they occurred Focusing on translation and its instruments these essays expand the traditional concept of influence by thrusting mobility and the hardware of cultural transmission its mechanisms rather than its effects into the foreground Contributors include Doris Behrens Abouseif SOAS University of London Jo ko Belamari Institute of Art History Split Marzia Faietti Uffizi Florence Jasenka Gudelj University of Zagreb Cemal Kafadar Harvard University Ioli Kalavrezou Harvard University Suzanne Marchand State University of Louisiana Erika Naginski Harvard University G lru Necipo lu Harvard University Goran Nik i City of Split Split Alina Payne Harvard University Avinoam Shalem Columbia University and David Young Kim University of Pennsylvania
