

The Labor Force Participation Rate Formula

LABOR FORCE PARTICIPATION RATE = $\frac{\text{Employed} + \text{Unemployed}}{\text{Civilian Non-Institutionalized Population}}$

The diagram illustrates the formula for the Labor Force Participation Rate. On the left, the text "LABOR FORCE PARTICIPATION RATE" is written in large, bold, white letters with a black outline, set against a dark green silhouette of the United States. To the right of this text is an equals sign. Following the equals sign is the numerator, which consists of two parts: "Employed" (with a handwritten-style label above it) represented by an illustration of a woman with glasses talking on a mobile phone, and "Unemployed" (with a handwritten-style label above it) represented by an illustration of a man holding a resume. These two parts are separated by a large plus sign. Below the numerator is a horizontal line, and underneath that line is the denominator, represented by a row of 15 small, stylized human icons. Below the icons is the handwritten-style text "Civilian Non-Institutionalized Population".

depth study of labour market theories Labor Force Participation and Monetary Policy in the Wake of the Great Recession Christopher J. Erceg, Mr. Andrew Levin, 2013-12-16 In this paper we provide compelling evidence that cyclical factors account for the bulk of the post 2007 decline in the U S labor force participation rate We then proceed to formulate a stylized New Keynesian model in which labor force participation is essentially acyclical during normal times that is in response to small or transitory shocks but drops markedly in the wake of a large and persistent aggregate demand shock Finally we show that these considerations can have potentially crucial implications for the design of monetary policy especially under circumstances in which adjustments to the short term interest rate are constrained by the zero lower bound

Permanently Displaced? Increasingly Disconnected? Labor Force Participation in U.S. States and Metropolitan Areas Benjamin Hilgenstock, Zsoka Koczan, 2018-05-21 The United States stands out among advanced economies with marked declines in labor force participation National averages furthermore conceal considerable within country heterogeneity This paper explores regional differences to shed light on drivers of participation rates at the state and metropolitan area levels It documents a broad based decline especially pronounced outside metropolitan areas Using novel measures of local vulnerability to trade and technology it finds that metropolitan areas with higher exposures to routinization and offshoring experienced larger drops in participation in 2000 2016 Thus areas with different occupational mixes can experience divergent labor market trajectories as a result of trade and technology
